4-CENT LOAVES SOLD TO WAR DEPARTMENT

Corporation Chairman Gives Testimony on Costs at Senate Hearing.

Frederic H. Frazier, chairman of the board of the General Baking Corporation, was told yesterday by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, that his company should reduce immediately the price of bread to Washington consumers "at least 1 cent a pound."

Senator Capper's admonition was given at the close of the day's hearing by the special Senate food price investigating committee, of which the Kansan is chairman.

Mr. Frazier laughed pleasantly and passed off the admonition, and, leaving the witness chair, thanked the committee for its investigation, declaring that when it had been concluded the people of the country would know that the big baking companies were not charging too much for bread, although wheat and flour prices had declined sharply and bread prices had not.

Another Probe Threatened.

Asked after the formal session had ended what he would do if his admonition were not followed, Senator Capper said that "Well, then we will have another investigation to find out why."

The high prices charged for bread in Washington were held up throughout the day as examples in the course of questions addressed by committee members to representatives of the bakers.

Mr. Frazier protested that there were many other things entering into the cost of bread than the price of wheat and flour.

Senator Capper took him to task about Washington prices charged by his company. Why, Senator Capper asked, if the cost of production were the determining factor in retail price, did the General Baking Co., the subsidiary of the General Baking Corporation, sell its bread for 8 cents a loaf to the grocers and on the same day sell bread to the War Department in Washington for 4 cents a loaf?

Surplus Bread Described.

Mr. Frazier replied that the bread sold to the War Department might be described as surplus bread.

Did that mean that it was bread which had been taken back from the grocers as unsalable and sold to the War Department? he was asked. No, he replied, the bread sold the War Department was just as good bread as was sold the general public through the grocers, but explanation was not explicit.

His company did not take bread back from grocers, Mr. Frazier said. The grocers bought bread and took their losses, but it was figured that it would be cheaper to make the extra bread to sell to the War Department at 4 cents a loaf than not to make it, although he again insisted that it was necessary to charge grocers 8 cents a loaf.

The company sold at least 400 loaves of bread a day to the War Department at 4 cents, it was said.

Retailers' profit on bread was between 1 and 2 cents a loaf, Mr. Frazier said.

10 Per Cent Profit.

He figured, Mr. Frazier told Senator John G. Townsend, jr., (Republican), Delaware, a committee member, that the baker was entitled to a 10 per cent profit on each batch of dough. That figured out to eight-tenths of a cent a loaf profit for the baker. Thereupon Senator Townsend did some arithmetic and questioned the net result, quoting off-hand figuring to show how large would be such daily profits.

The figuring was similar to that which had occurred the day before when a representative of the milling

Breuning, M'Donald Defeat Oppositions

Reich's Chancellor Wins Over 3 Motions of "No Confidence."

Berlin, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—With the Communist party as the only active opposition group left in the Reichstag tonight, the government of Chancellor Heinrich Breuning easily defeated three motions of no confidence.

These were offered against Dr. Julius Curtius, foreign minister, by the Nationalist, Communist and Farmers parties, but they were overwhelmed by a vote of 255 to 87 in favor of the government, there being 29 abstentions.

The victory by so wide a margin was possible because the Fascists and Nationalists walked out of the house yesterday, and thus the session was somewhat listless.

At the same time the session was enlivened a bit when the old question of war "guilt" returned to the floor of the Reichstag. Late adjournment was taken without the issue having been put to a vote.

The opposition benches were empty in the afternoon when the Reichstag

British Premier Is Saved From Censure by Liberals in 310-235 Vote.

London, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The government of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald plunged safely through a Conservative attack tonight by a margin of 75 votes.

Thus it is safe for the moment, since defeat would have meant immediate resignation, but predictions were made after a speech by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, that a split in Labor's own ranks now might bring the administration's downfall.

The vote, 310 against 235, was taken late on a Conservative motion of censure reading, in part, as follows:

"This house censures the government for its policy of continuous addition to public expenditures at a time when avoidance of all new charges and strict economy in existing services are necessary to restore the public confidence and promote employment."

Victory was assured when Sir Donald MacLean announced, on behalf of the Liberals, they would

NICARAGUAN REBELS GET MODERN ARMS

SOURCE IS NOT KNOWN

(Associated Press.)

Already concerned over the resumption of insurgent activities in Nicaragua, officials here and in the Latin-American republic have been presented with another disturbing element by an increase in the outlaws' supplies of arms and ammunition.

Officially described as "one of the most disturbing aspects of the present situation" in Nicaragua, the appearance of modern automatic weapons and an apparent good supply of ammunition in the hands of the insurgents. This development is declared to be a complete mystery to American authorities.

The source of the increase, they said, was "not definitely known."

The supplies include machine guns, as indicated by recent encounters with United States Marines stationed in the republic. This was declared by officials to be in distinct contrast with their previous situation when they were understood to be short of weapons and ammunition.

Secretary Stimson appeared last night to be the single high Government official to whom the others looked for any comments on the Nicaraguan situation.

The Secretary has indicated he expected to make a statement on American military policy with regard to Nicaragua if called upon for testimony by the Senate foreign relations committee.

He said yesterday, however, he had not been asked to appear. In the event he is not summoned, Stimson said he would forward to the Senate the State Department documents on the relation of the United States with Nicaragua asked for in a resolution by Senator Johnson (Republican), California.

A new element in relations between the two nations, in the form of the survey—now being made—for the proposed Atlantic-to-Pacific canal across Nicaragua, has resulted in considerable speculation in unofficial circles as to the nature of the statement on military policy which the Secretary contemplated before the Senate committee.

The general belief was that it would include some plan for the final extermination of the insurgent forces. Secretary Hurley, whose War Department Engineering Corps is making

DEMOCRATS PUZZLE OVER RASKOB'S CALL

EXPECT WET CANDIDATE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Regardless of what Chairman Raskob had in mind in calling a meeting here March 5 of the Democratic national committee, it became very apparent yesterday that it would be surcharged with tenseness.

Already speculation and press comment on the purpose of the meeting have relegated to the background what would seem to be the primary purpose, finances, and placed prohibition paramount.

Democrats on Capitol Hill pricked up their ears at the report that what Mr. Raskob really had in mind was to demand a showdown on prohibition. According to this report, he intends in his bold and unusual way of doing things to go before the committee and say bluntly that he is tired of pussy-footing on the matter and demand that the committee adopt then and there a prohibition policy.

If this report is true there is no question that the committee meeting would go down as one of the political sensations of the decade, and Mr. Raskob would take his place in history as one of the strangest chairmen a party ever had.

That the gentleman is unusual, though; that he is bold, is evidenced by the very fact that he is not afraid to call a meeting of the committee together. Full committee meetings in the interim of elections is something both Republican and Democratic chairman avoid.

The Democrats on Capitol Hill for the most part believed it to be inconceivable that Mr. Raskob has anything like a wet demand in mind. And most certainly none of them has been taken into his confidence. Indeed, aside from the fact that he had apprised some of those with whom he is on close terms that he expected to call a meeting after a financial survey had been made of the party, none of the senators or members of the House had any inkling that the meeting was to be called.

In expressing their disbelief that he intended to demand a showdown on prohibition, they argued that nothing was to be gained in such a move, even if he is assured of enough votes in the committee to put it across. The national committee does not shape the party's policies. This

BROWN, IRATE AT LEASE QUIZ, REFUSES DATA

Incompatible With Public Interest to Give Information, He Says.

BLAINE DUBS CABINET OFFICER IMPERTINENT

Postmaster General Retorts Senator Is Lecturing Him, and Won't Yield.

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster General Brown flatly refused yesterday to furnish the Senate committee investigating postoffice leases with data collected last summer for a report to President Hoover.

His appearance before the committee was marked by frequent and sharp clashes with Chairman Blaine, as the Wisconsin senator attacked Mr. Brown's contention that it would be "incompatible with public interest to provide the information"

Senator Blaine characterized the Postmaster General as "arrogant and impertinent." The witness accused the committee chairman of lecturing him and said he would answer the questions in his own way.

The hearing, held in the room used by the Senate lobby committee last year, resembled in many ways some of the stormy sessions of that committee. Senator Blaine, a member of the lobby committee, was the only postal committee member present to question Mr. Brown.

Refuses Information.

The information Mr. Blaine requested of the Postmaster General was collected by postal inspectors and formed the basis of Mr. Brown's recommendation to President Hoover that the Government own its postal quarters instead of renting them, as far as possible.

Mr. Blaine said the committee had obtained an appropriation of $10,000 for collecting data on the buildings leased by the Government and said it would save the committee time and money if Mr. Brown would turn over the information the department had amassed.

Mr. Brown replied:

"We want to be helpful in any way we can, but we regard it as incompatible with the public interest."

"Have you stated all the reasons?" Senator Blaine asked. "Is incompatibility your only reason?"

"Yes."

"Why would it be incompatible?"

The Postmaster General said many of the leases would expire soon and it would handicap the Government in renewing the leases, or in purchasing the buildings.

"Confidential?"—"Yes."

"It would embarrass our negotiations," he said, "if we disclosed what we believed the property was worth we would not be in as good position as if we did not."

Mr. Blaine then began to read from questionnaires the inspectors filled out in connection with every building. As he read each question he asked Mr. Brown if the answer to it was confidential.

In each case the Postmaster General said it was, and refused to give the information. Mr. Blaine protested that Mr. Brown's answers were not responsive.

"Ask me questions you want," Mr. Brown said, "but I'll make the answer."

"I don't know whether you will or not," Mr. Blaine said. "There is no need for you to make a defense. There are no charges against you in connection with collecting the information."

"There is no occasion for you to make a lecture either."

CANNON HEARS BANKERS TELL OF FUND DEALS

CRIPPLED BISHOP GETS RIGHT TO FILE ANSWER

Bishop James Cannon, jr., crippled with arthritis, slumped in a big leather chair for more than three hours yesterday, while the Senate campaign funds committee questioned half a dozen bank officials regarding deposits and expenditures by the Southern churchman during his anti-Smith drive in 1928.

The committee met under authority of a resolution by Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, the Methodist bishop's home State, and on specific complaints filed by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, that Cannon violated the corrupt practices act by failing to report expenditures of funds intrusted to him, in his campaign to defeat the Democratic presidential candidate.

Mr. Tinkham also attended the hearing. He charged in his complaint that Cannon received $65,300 from E. C. Jameson, a New York financier, for use in the campaign, but had accounted for only $17,000 in a report to the clerk of the House.

Bishop's Request Granted.

William Tyler Page, veteran House clerk, testified that the report was filed February 15, 1929, but that the law stipulates that complete reports by campaign committees should be filed by January 1 of each year.

He said it was a "physical impossibility" for a committee to file a "cumulative report" for an entire calendar year on January 1, as it was a legal holiday.

Chairman Nye wanted to know if some leeway had not been granted in this respect, but Mr. Page said no one had a right to grant this under the law.

Senator Nye read a letter from Bishop Cannon at the outset of the hearing saying if he deemed it necessary he would like to have permission to file a sworn statement later "to prove indubitably that no criminal or dishonorable act has been committed." Nye gave him that permission.

Check Use of Fund.

The committee appeared most interested in a check for $8,000 which Cannon received, deposited in one bank, withdrew it and placed it in another, and later transferred it from one account to another.

The check was identified by Nye as bearing the same number as that drawn in favor of Cannon on the Lawyers Trust Co. of New York, which last year's lobby committee records showed came from Mr. Jameson.

S. L. Barrow, president of the First National Bank, of Blackstone, Va., testified that Bishop Cannon chiefly was a "borrower" at his bank, but had deposited an $8,000 New York draft on October 23, 1928. He said this was withdrawn February 8, 1929.

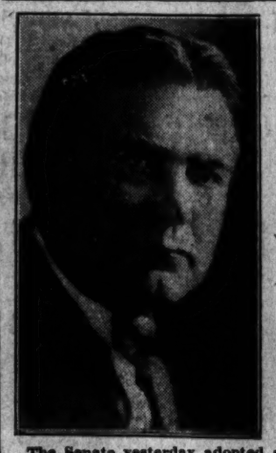

Frank W. Sheffield, cashier of the Bank of Crewe, at Crewe, Va., testified that the bishop deposited the $8,000 check in his bank as "executor" on February 13, 1929, and on October 3, 1929, closed his "executor account" and transferred the balance of $5,924 to his personal account, which had been opened May 20, 1929.

Bishop Cannon frequently withdrew his legs from a chair to interrupt the witnesses.

SENATE ASKS HYDE IF $20,000,000 RELIEF COVERS NECESSITIES

The Senate yesterday adopted a resolution by Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho (left), which calls on Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, to give his opinion whether the $20,000,000 drought loan fund might be used for medicine, clothing and food.

Hoover's Stand on Use of Loans for Food and Clothes Sought.

BORAH LEADS FIGHT TO CLARIFY MEASURE

(Associated Press.)

The Senate last night called upon Secretary Hyde to say whether the pending drought relief measure would permit use of the $20,000,000 loan fund for purchase of food, clothing and medicine by the farmer borrowers.

The resolution calling for an interpretation by the administration was offered by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, and unanimously adopted at the end of a day of fierce debate over the proposal.

Senators Robinson and Caraway, of Arkansas, who defended the loan agreement against an uprising of Democrats and Republican Independents agreed to the resolution as an answer to their insistence that the farmers could buy food and clothing with their loans.

Resolution Closes Day.

Adoption of the resolution concluded a day's session in which leaders had intended to stay until the drought relief measure had been voted upon.

Administration leaders hurried into confrences last night with President Hoover to seek a prompt answer from the Secretary of Agriculture to the Borah resolution.

President Hoove amd the Republican House have stood against any Federal appropriation for food purchases.

For more than an hour before the adoption of the resolution, Senator Caraway was the center of a circle of determined interrogators on the Senate floor with the examiners demanding to know if the farmers could use the money to buy food and clothing.

Called "Abject Surrender."

Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, earlier had termed the compromise an "abject surrender" from the Senate coalition's original proposal for a $25,000,000 Red Cross relief appropriation.

Senator Caraway insisted there was nothing to prevent the farmers from using their loans to buy necessities. He was drawn into the debate when Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, proposed a lobby committee inquiry of the activities of Harvey C. Couch, Arkansas relief director, in bringing about the agreement between President Hoover and the Arkansas senators.

Senator Caraway said Mr. Couch had interceded, and related the conversations in which he said it was stated that the President was willing to make "some concession."

Consents to Investigation.

He finally told Senator Blaine to go ahead and make the investigation as a member of the lobby committee. Senator Caraway was chairman of that committee.

Senator Blaine replied that the committee had deserted him when Bishop Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was "left on my doorstep" and he didn't propose to examine Mr. Couch.

Meanwhile Congress drew a day nearer the March 4 adjournment and none of the additional appropriation bills which have to be passed had progressed nearer enactment. A night session had been planned for tonight but the Borah resolution upset that.

Text of Resolution.

The text of the Borah resolution follows:

"Resolved, That the Secretary of Agriculture be requested to advise the Senate as soon as practicable:

PROTOCOL ON COURT SHELVED IN SENATE

PARTY LINES ARE DRAWN

(Associated Press.)

The protocol for American adherence to the World Court was left on the shelf in the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday after a futile attempt to dislodge it.

A motion by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, to reconsider the previous decision of the committee to defer the court issue until the regular session next December was rejected, 10 to 8.

This vote disposed of the controversial question unless an extra session is held before December. In that event it was agreed the protocol would be taken up again by the committee.

As on the previous vote postponing consideration, the committee divided yesterday virtually on party lines and without reference to the position of the members toward American adherence.

All but two Republicans voted to postpone action, fearing to get the court issue involved in the legislative jam this session. Democrats voted solidly against postponment and for the Walsh motion to reconsider.

Chairman Borah, of the committee, a court foe, and Senator Gillett, of Massachusetts, a friend of the court, both Republicans, voted with six Democrats for the Walsh motion.

While two Democrats were absent, it was conceded their presence would not have affected the outcome. They would have voted for the Walsh motion, but it still would have lost by a tie, 10 to 10.

Senator Walsh was absent when the committee voted previously, 10 to 9, to defer consideration.

Copyright Bill Backers To Urge Senate Passage

Authors, composers and publishers of New York and Washington, who have been active in support of the Vestal copyright bill, will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the League of American Pen Women's hall in Stoneleigh Court.

The bill already has passed the House, and those meeting here tomorrow will concentrate their efforts with a view to Senate passage at the present session. The Authors League of America will send Louise Willcox, book publishers, Cass Canfield, of Harper Bros., and Frederic Melcher; the American Library Association, Dr. George F. Bowerman, and the moving picture interests, Louis Swartz, of Paramount-Publix Corporation. Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy will preside.

HOUSE IS CLEARED FOR BONUS ACTION

Aid for Veterans Narrowed Down to Two Proposals by Committee.

$850,000,000 SUM CITED

(Associated Press.)

The way was cleared yesterday for final House action next Monday on legislation to give war veterans more cash on their service certificates.

The ways and means committee narrowed consideration yesterday to two proposals, one of which it is expected to approve today.

The choice lies between increasing loans by approximately $500,000,000, as advocated by Representative Bacharach (Republican), New Jersey, and the proposal by Representative Fish (Republican), New York, to pay off one-fourth of the face value of the certificates at a cost of about $850,000,000.

House leaders were ready last night to bring up either plan under suspension of rules on Monday, shutting off extended debate and amendments. At the same time the leaders expect action on a $12,500,000 hospital bill to increase facilities for caring for ill veterans. The possibility also was seen of action on a pension bill to provide allowances for widows and orphans at an estimated cost of $18,000,000 the first year.

Swift Senate action also was forecast on the veterans' paymnet bill. Representative Bacharach consulted yesterday with Senator Morrow (Republican), New Jersey. Mr. Bacharach announced last week his loan proposal would meet approval of both parties in the Senate.

By successive votes the ways and means committee eliminated the Brookhart-Patnam proposal to pay off the adjusted compensation certificates in full, at a cost of about $3,400,000,000; the Garner bill to pay the base compensation with an additional 25 per cent, plus 4 per cent interest, at a total estimated at $2,106,000,250; and a modification of the Garner plan, to pay the present value of the certificates at a total of about $1,723,779,000.

The pension bill, introduced yesterday by Chairman Johnson, of the veteran's committee, would provide $20 a month to widows and $6 a month for each dependent orphan, without regard to whether death was caused by service connection.

American Legion officials said it was estimated the $18,000,000 outlay would double for the second year.

The committee is scheduled to take final action today.

About twenty new hospitals or additions to existing units would be

'Adonis of Police Force' Seeks Rich Widow Fiancee

Most Handsome Patrolman of New York Fears Bride-to-Be Is Kidnaped.

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Handsome George Wandling, famous as the most comely policeman on the sidewalks of New York, wept today as he announced that a young and wealthy widow, strangely missing, was to have been his bride this spring.

The patrolman, who tramps a beat on Columbus avenue, notified his superiors yesterday that Mrs. Imogene Stella, 36, had vanished. He said he believed racketeers had kidnaped her, seeking a large ransom from her estimated million-dollar fortune.

The jaunty bluecoat, wearing a $1,400 ring with a pigeon blood stone, which he said was a Christmas gift from the widow, told detectives he was the chief beneficiary in her will. Others seeking a share in her fortune sought to have hre change it, he said, because he was "only a cop."

"The last I saw of her," he said, "was at her home last Tuesday after we had driven around in her automobile to a number of her properties where she had collected about $900 rent money."

Patrolman Wandling, called the "Adonis of the police force," figured in the headlines two years ago when the court of appeals upheld an annulment of his marriage to Claire Sugg, daughter of Nichols Sugg, of Buffalo. A lower court said he went through a ceremony with Miss Sugg before he had been divorced legally from his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Frances McVitty, of Chicago.

Calvin Coolidge

Says: Nearly a century and a quarter has passed since Abraham Lincoln was born. No other man in our history has so touched the heart of the people. In him they saw a reflection of themselves. They knew he sympathized with their sorrows and understood their aspirations. He surpassed all others in those attributes which men feel are common to them all. In him they find the pure and unmixed basic elements.

It is necessary to look beyond his intellect, profound as that became, for the true source of his greatness. He was endowed above most mortals with conscience. A compelling sense of obligation held him. An all-embracing intellectual honesty saved him from deceiving himself. From that source he derived the unsurpassed power to express his thought in clear and simple terms. In him also was a faith that moved mountains. He declared that right makes its own might and he dared to act accordingly.

Not only because he was the leader of those who saved the Union, but because of the man himself, his humanity, his sincerity, his devotion, the whole Nation joins in observing his birthday and the whole world looks on him as a friend.

World Figures Finish Plans For First Papal Broadcast

Vatican City, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Two noted world figures today put the polishing touches on the work in which they will combine tomorrow, to add another line to history in the opening of the Vatican City radio station.

While Pope Pius prepared hte two speeches which he will send around the world from the station and from the pontifical academy tomorrow afternoon, Signor Marconi, pioneer developer of wireless, made final tests at the station, which will send the Pope's voice to millions of persons for the first time in history.

Pope Pius' opening talk, which will officially inaugurate the station on the ninth anniversary of his coronation, is scheduled at 10:45 a. m., Eastern standard time. The second talk at the academy will be at 11:15 a. m. Translations of the two addresses, the first from Latin and the second a short one in Italian, will be broadcast at 3 p. m.

In addition to working on his the second anniversary of the signing speeches, the Pope today celebrated of the Lateran treaties, which restored accord between hte papacy and hte Kingdom of Italy. He received his sister and members of the Roman aristocracy, who presented him with a painting of St. Theresa.

A last minute change has been made in the radio program, in order that the Pope might broadcast his main speech, about fifteen minutes long, from the radio station instead of from the pontifical academy. The latter speech of only a few minutes will consist mostly of conferring membership in the academy on Mar-

"Second, whether he understands that a fair and sympathetic interpretation of said amendment would cover food, clothes and medicines;

"Third, is there any prohibition therein which precludes the use of money secured by loans thereunder being used for the purchase of food, clothes and medicines."

McKellar Backs Demand.

Senator Borah's demand that Secretary Hyde be called upon to state whether he would permit loans under the measure if they were to be used for food also was advocated by Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee.

Senator Ashurst (Democrat), Arizona, announced he would support the compromise, but said under a strict legal interpretation there was "no need fooling ourselves and the country—food could not be purchased." However, he conceded that under a liberal interpretation of the act food could be bought by the borrowing farmers.

"If food isn't included as one of the items necessary to make a crop the President of the United States has misled me," Senator Caraway asserted.

Leaders Are Confident.

Leaders continued confident they would obtain a substantial majority for the proposal which Senators Caraway and Robinson insisted permit the banishment of starvation and want in the drought area.

Senator Glass said he was "utterly opposed" to an extra session of Congress to which the Democrats pledged themselves unless their original relief plans were met. However, he objected vigorously to the agricultural rehabilitation loan fund provided by the compromise.

"The President," he said, "would have the country believe the Senate's proposition was unprecedented. Why, I would fill a page of the Congressional Record with precedents, beginning as far back as 1812, when this was a struggling and poor nation.

Italian Aid Cited.

"In the Taft administration in 1909 Congress appropriated money for the afflicted people of European nations and the very terms of that appropriation were almost identical with the measure passed by the Senate and so unseemingly characterized by the President.

"Although Italy had not asked for it, this act provided that in executing it the President should request the approval of the Italian government.

"Was that a socialistic dole? It was the worthy response of a great nation to the cry of suffering humanity in a foreign nation."

Senators Connally, of Texas, and Heflin, of Alabama, both Democrats, and Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, joined in the attack on the compromise, which they condemned as a surrender by the Senate coalition in the controversy with President Hoover to extend Federal money for sufferers.

Taking the floor late in the day, Senator Caraway thanked the Republican independents for their support of the Democrats in the relief fight. He contended that, "but for the dramatic address of Senator Borah" he was "convinced we would not have been able to get what we now have before us."

the canal survey, has made known that the engineers have not been troubled by them.

The insurgent menace is considered by officials here to be an important factor for consideration in the event work on a canal should eventually begin. It was believed any plan advanced for their extermination would contemplate a campaign by the Nicaraguan National Guard and not by Marines, who assist in training and officering the local forces.

As a former Secretary of War, Stimson has been able to consider the Nicaraguan situation from more of a military viewpoint than have his recent predecessors.

Although considered an authority on Nicaraguan and colonial matters himself, the Secretary recently summoned to Washington the two Government officers more intimately acquainted with the situation than any others, American Minister Matthew E. Hanna at Managua and Brig. Gen. Douglas McDougal, who has been in charge of the Marine contingent in the republic.

The Secretary sought extensive information from these officers on all phases of conditions in the republic with a view to meeting any situation which might arise.

ANDREWS TO SEEK GOBI "PLAINSMEN"

Ancient Race Is Believed to Date Back More Than 2,000,000 Years.

WILL SAIL ON APRIL 1

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Bones of "the first of the plainsmen," who had to beat his enemies to the nearest tree instead of beating them to the draw, will be hunted this year in Mongolia.

The hunter will be Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews. He will sail about April 1 for China to organize the sixth expedition of the American Museum of Natural History to explore the interior of central Asia.

If the expedition finds traces of the prairie-rover believed to have lived on the Mongolian plains two or three million years ago, they will be the oldest human relics ever discovered.

Origin of Race.

Many archeologists believe the human race originated on the high, level plateau of central Asia, and spread from there throughout the world. The man whose remains Dr. Andrews hopes to find was the ancestor of the cave-dwelling Peking man, whose million-year-old skull was found two years ago in China.

The early plainsman, unlike Buffalo Bill, roamed the Mongolian prairie on foot. Cow ponies were unknown, although an ancestor of the modern horse lived there.

Today the Mongolian plain is a desert, but 2,000,000 years ago it was a grassy country, with clumps of trees scattered over it and a temperate, invigorating climate, Dr. Andrews says:

Life Not Easy.

Life was not easy for "the first of the plainsmen." He ate roots, nuts and grubs when he could find them, or rabbits and other small animals when he could kill them with a tree branch used as a club.

There were no buffalo hunts or big-game round-ups for this remote ancestor of Buffalo Bill. When any sizable beast approached he took to the nearest trees. Wolves, rhinoceri and huge mastodons roamed the country, as well as antelope and deer.

Living the strenuous life on these plains greatly stimulated man's development, says Dr. Andrews.

Formerly man had lived in the woods, where existence was too easy to compel him to develop his brain or his body. But when changes in the climate thinned the woods to prairie land, life became much more difficult.

FIRE TRAILS EXPLOSION

Peiping, China, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Chinese reports from Manchuria here today said that 3,000 miners were entombed Sundy noon in the Fushun Mines by an underground explosion. A considerable loss of life was feared.

Rescue work was started immediately, but only a few persons could be taken from the shaft. Relatives of the entombed men gathered at the pit head, in their grief maying a pitiful scene.

The Fushun Mines, one of the most important assets of the South Manchuria Railways, are 50 miles east of Mukden. They produce about 7,000,000 tons of coal yearly.

Details of the disaster were not immediately ascertained. A large number were believed killed by the blast and the fire which followed.

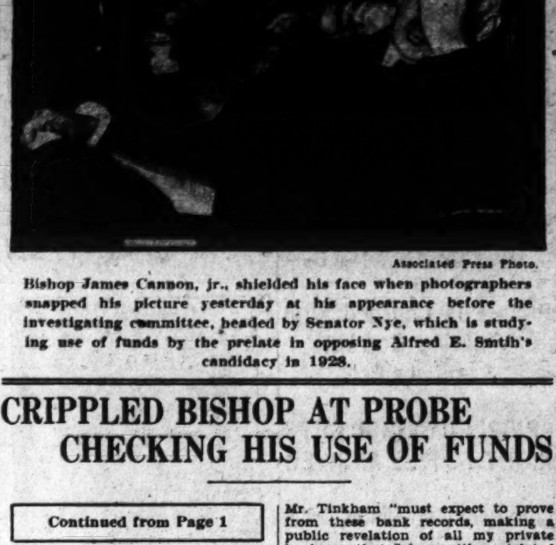

Capital Youths Held On Auto Theft Charge

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 11.—Two Washington youths, giving their names a Alfred Demma, 15 years old, of First street southwest, near 8, and Mike Germanakos, 14, of D street southwest, near Eleventh, led five Fredericksburg officers a merry chase through the city streets today before they were apprehended near the southern corporate limits in a car which they are alleged to have confessed stealing in Washington. A companion, picked up on the road, was released.

Mike, the driver, disregarded a policeman's whistel to stop and even as the police department's pursuit car pulled alongside him and he was threatened with a gun, he continued toward Richmond stopping only when a second police car drove ahead and blocked the way.

BISHOP DODGES PHOTOGRAPHERS

giving the committee the information regarding the closing of the "executor" account because it was outside the dates prescribed in the subpena, Bishop Cannon told the committee he had no objection, and forestalled the serving of another subpena on the witness, which Senator Nye was preparing.

Mr. Sheffield said Bishop Cannon opened a $5,300 account with his bank on November 2, 1928, as "James Cannon, jr., executor," the check being drawn on the Continental Trust Co. of Washington.

He did not know what estate Bishop Cannon was acting for, but Senator Nye produced correspondence saying the bishop was acting as executor for the estate of Mrs. Mary C. Moore.

Will Copy Letters.

Senator Nye also read a letter written to Mr. Sheffield by Bishop Cannon on January 12, 1929, on the stationery of the "law office of C. Bascom Slemp," former secretary to President Coolidge, inclosing the $5,300 certificate of deposit, and asking that it be placed to Bishop Cannon's credit "to be checked on as the need requires."

Senator Nye said the correspondence was "of such a nature that the committee must retain it until photostat copies are made."

Perry Seay, vice president of the American Bank & Trust Co., of Richmond, testified that the anti-Smith committee which Bishop Cannon headed opened a $58,708 account with his bank on July 24, 1928.

Senator Nye developed that on February 11, 1929, three checks drawn on Virginian banks and amounting to $18,605 were deposited to the credit of the committee account, one of which was for $17,364.

Fund Transfer Shown.

On the same day, Senator Nye said the records showed, $17,364 was withdrawn and deposited in Cannon's personal account. Other personal deposits by Cannon that day brought the total to $18,193, it was said.

"Did Mr. Cannon have a safety deposit box in your institution?" Senator Nye asked.

"I can not say," Mr. Seay replied.

Bishop Cannon, in his letter, said Mr. Tinkham "must expect to prove from these bank records, making a public revelation of all my private business, that I have either violated the Federal corrupt practices act by a false statement of campaign expenditures, or by fraudulent conversion to private uses of funds contributed for use in the 1928 campaign."

To Avoid Publicity.

Senator Nye promised the bishop that no private correspondence or bank dealings would be flaunted publicly, but would be guarded "most zealously."

Senator Nye was not certain whether any further hearings would be held.

The letter from Bishop Cannon to Senator Nye said:

"While I have not been summoned by the committee as a witness, yet as the party most concerned in these proceedings, I ask the privilege of making a brief statement for insertion in the record at this point.

"The party who has requested the committee to investigate his complaints against me has requested that the records of all the banks with which I did business for approximately twelve months be read before the committee and filed in the record, thus making public all the private business transactions of a private citizen of the United States.

Plans Later Statement.

"The complainant must expect to prove from these bank records making a public revelation of all my private business that I have either violated the Federal corrupt practices act by a false statement of campaign expenditures, or by fradulent conversion to private uses of funds contributed for use in the 1928 campaign.

"While it is manifestly impossible for me at this time to take up and explain the items in these bank reports, yet I must insist that after I have had sufficient time for necessary medical treatment, for necessary rest and time for necessarily thorough examination of these bank statements and of my own files, should I deem any statement from me necessary in order to prove indubitably that no criminal or dishonorable act has been committed, that I wish to be guaranteed the opportunity to make such sworn statement, to be included in the report of the committee to the Senate of the United States."

business was before the committee and estimated that flour mills had been and would run 55 per cent of their capacity this year. Ethelbert Stewart, chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, prompted a committee member to ask "55 per cent of what," and the witness said daily capacity. On an eight-hour work day basis, the witness was askd. Oh, no, on the basis of 24 hours to the day, he replied.

The millers were the witnesses first before the committee and they showed that the prices of their flour had rapidly followed the reduction in the price of wheat. Representatives of the bakers yesterday were taken to task to explain why there had been no reflection in the retail price of the decline in wheat and flour prices.

Hint Plaster of Paris.

Washington bread consumers are eating plaster of paris and sodium sulphate, put into bakery baked bread to add weight, it was inferred in the course of testimony. That was when Henry Stude, of the American Bakers Association, was in the witness chair. Foreign substances were used by some bakers, Mr. Stude admitted, but he couldn't be specific. Neither could he give definite answer to questions from committee members as to the amount of water in various breads.

Mr. Stude told the committee that a partial explanation of bread prices lay in the quality of bakery bread. Mr. Stewart, incidentally, returned to the stand, to say that the committee should recognize that bakeries generally were making better and more palatable bread. Mr. Stude quoted figures to show that bread prices had declined. He challenged figures presented by Mr. Stewart, saying he had taken into account only prices of good quality bread. Other bread, Mr. Stude said, had decreased in price from 5.6 cents a loaf in 1929 to 5.4 cents in 1930. He didn't describe what kind of bread this was.

Senator Capper, however, didn't seem to be deeply impressed with the figures, declaring, "You are going to have a hard time explaining why bread is the only commodity which has not reflected the world-wide depression in prices."

Price Fixing Denied.

Both Mr. Stude and Mr. Frazier denied that there was any effort on the part of bakers to fix the price at which retailers should sell their bread. The uniformity of prices charged by retailers, they said, was due to the fact that the retailers knew what they had to add to the wholesale price to make a reasonable profit.

Hitting at the contention that retail prices do not so quickly reflect commodity price changes as do wholesale prices, Senator Capper declared that retail bread prices had almost instantly reflected increase in wheat and flour prices in 1925, but that the bakers were the only ones in the country who had not heard of the subsequent drop in the prices of their raw materials.

The Capital structure of the General Baking Corporation was discussed at length and in the course of the questioning Mr. Frazier admitted that the extraordinary increase in outstanding stock had been due to past management and the final enlargement represented almost pure water, adding that he had had nothing to do with that and intimating that the new management was working to put the financial structure on a different basis.

Five-Cent Loaves.

H. J. Corson, of Chicago, of the National Food Bureau, protested to the committee against the widespread propaganda against the eating of white bread.

John Bessicky, of Kansas City, representing the Southwest Wheat Growers Cooperative Association, protested against existing conditions. In Kansas City, he said, storage eggs were being sold in 5 and 10 cent stores for 10 cents a dozen and the owners of hens were paid only 7 and 8 cents a dozen for eggs. He said that bread was being sold for 5 cents a loaf in Kansas City and he charged that the millers of the country were being throttled by the big baking combines, which fixed the prices they would pay for flour and thus constricted purchases by the millers.

BROADCAST BY POPE TO BE MADE TODAY

coni. Following the first address translators will give a three-minute resume.

Workmen today erected a marble plaque in the entrance to the station. The Latin on it reads:

"Pius eleventh pope, in Vatican City founded by the Lateran treaty, in order that the voice of the supreme pastor might be heard over arial waves to the ends of the earth for the glory of Christ the king and the help of souls, here presented and dedicated this seat and building, the work being directed by Marconi himself, the center of so many arts."

Two hundred workmen swarmed around the station today, planting and arranging the gardens which are virtually an overnight creation. Two days ago the station stood in a bare stretch of earth, but tomorrow the pope will see an elaborate garden with intricate designs worked in evergreens.

Gundaker and Huxley Rotary Club Guests

Honor guests at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday at the Willard Hotel were Guy Gundaker, past president of Rotary International, and Michael Huxley, of the British Embassy, grandson of the great scientist. Seventeen Rotarians from other cities were also present.

Mr. Gundaker described the origin of the Rotary doctrine of service and showed how it is improving business ethics and standards in international relations by bridging over differences due to geographic and racial segregation. He was introduced by James Sharp, who was in charge of the day's program.

$1,000 GIVEN MAJOR FOR FLYING DEVICE

First Cash Award Ever Made to U. S. Officer Sent to Texas Field.

"BLIND" PILOTS HELPED

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—An Army major's invention of a device to teach pilots to "fly blind" through fog and darkness has brought him a check for $1,000, said to be the first cash award ever made an officer by the Government.

Maj. William Ocker, Kelly Field, San Antonio, designed the apparatus, which consists of a small box containing bank and turn indicators and other flying instruments. The student sits in a revolving chair, his vision shut off from all save the instruments, upon which he is forced to depend for guidance in his hypothetical plane maneuvers.

Because of the increased safety afforded by the major's work officials made "blind flying" a part of the course at the Kelly Field advanced air school.

Payment for the invention was made by the patents and designs board, under authority of an act of Congress. Maj. Ocker, in developing the device, incurred personal expenses in excess of the check he received.

He gives credit for the invention to Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, whom he frequently speaks of as the "co-inventor"; F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War; Dr. George W. Lewis, in charge of research for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics; Brig. Gen. Charles H. Danforth, in command of the Air Corps training center here; Brig. Gen. Frank P. Lahm, and Maj. Frederick L. Martin, commandant of the advanced flying school at Kelly Field.

RASKOB'S CALL PROVES PUZZLE TO DEMOCRATS

is strictly a matter for the national convention.

It might very well be, it was agreed, that he hopes that a general gathering of Democrats might be conducive to the formulation of a definite legislative program. In this connection, it was pointed out that the meeting is called for the day after Congress adjourns when a large number of senators and members of the House will be in town.

Prohibition, however, does not figure in any legislative program. It is a matter for the elections of 1932.

The only thing to be gained from having the committee go on record as wet at this time, it was argued, would be to release the publicity bureau here from its restraint on the subject. The bureau in the past has hammered the administration on every conceivable omission and commission, but on prohibition it has been significantly silent. This is because, of course, that while the party has shown a decided wet trend it has not yet become officially wet.

Had the publicity bureau been free to speak its mind on prohibition, undoubtedly it could have had a fine time on the Wickersham report.

But as against this one gain from the committee going wet would be the outbreak of the wet and dry fight in the party 15 months ahead of the convention. And it would give the drys just that long to organize for a fight.

Wet Candidate Expected.

As the matter seems to be rocking along, there is general resignation among Democrats on Capitol Hill that the party will have a wet candidate in 1932, if not a wet platform. And, except from occasional whimpers here and there, there is no tendency to challenge the inevitable.

The report that Mr. Raskob wants a showdown now, however, has it that he feels so strongly on this subject that he wants the political realignments, if there are to be any, to get under way right now, so everybody will know just where he stands.

Again the Democrats on Capitol Hill say it is inconceivable, and, above all, unnecessary.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the executive committee and in charge of the headquarters here, returned yesterday from a visit with Mr. Raskob in Florida and left shortly afterward to try to get rid of the grip. He would throw no enlightenment on the meeting, however, beyond that contained in the statement Tuesday night.

Looking at Finances.

In speculating on the meeting, it would seem most logical to go back to its genesis. Mr. Raskob holds a mortgage of $600,000, so to speak, on the party. The Republicans called it his party in the last congressional campaigns. He engaged a fund-raising agency to make a survey to determine the feasibility of raising funds to pay off this debt and to provide money for the future.

Before it became known that he had done this, criticism of his hold on the party arose in the party ranks. He announced then he had in mind a way in which to get the money back. The critics laughed.

A meeting now to hear a report of the survey and to determine upon a financial policy would seem to be the next logical step to prove Mr. Raskob's sincerity. He will be saying to his critics, in effect, "Now put up, or shut up."

Inviting Test.

In calling the meeting he is, of course, putting his party management to a test, and if he is still chairman when the meeting is over he will have received what will be tantamount to a vote of confidence.

Everything under the sun will be discussed, formally and informally, at the meeting, too, even prohibition. There is no question of that.

But if the report is true that he intends to walk in and call for a wet stand by the committee, and it may be, the consensus among Capitol Hill Democrats is that he is politically crazy. Much hammered as he has been, he has not been accused of that.

ALFONSO DECLARED TO DOMINATE SPAIN

Belief Is, However, That More Trouble Will Come to Monarchy.

KING'S BRAVERY LAUDED

Madrid, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—More than any other individual King Alfonso dominates his troubled, restless country.

He met the last revolutionary attempt with the coolness that has characterized all his career, and conquered the most menacing situation that has threatened his reign.

But no person in Spain can predict with certainty how long the situation will remain tranquil.

The consensus here is that there will be more trouble. How serious it may be in actual disorders and political consequences is a matter of opinion. And almost all Spain's opinions these days are swayed by partisan desires.

King's Bravery Praised.

Regardless of party views and predictions, there is public admiration for Don Alfonso's bravery—and it was sustained by the sangfroid with which he faced the crisis. That admiration, however, does not mean political support.

Spaniards are practically unanimous in considering Don Alfonso a fine, brave fellow and, if they must have a king, an excellent man for the job. But there are many Spaniards who do not want a king any longer.

That is why this striking figure can continue to be so popular personally, and yet confront increasing movements to end his rule.

He has often been called "the best politician in Spain." There are few who do not think that he needs now all the acumen with which he is credited.

Would Head Troops.

When Ramon Franco and his companion rebels were flying over Madrid dropping revolutionary leaflets, the king coolly supervised the installation of machine guns on the roof of the royal palace and wanted to march out himself at the head of his loyal troops against the rebels at the army airfield.

That, it developed, was not necessary, but it was precisely what everybody expected Don Alfonso to try to do—and it is what everybody expects him actually to do if circumstances ever require.

Sponsors of Ships Hear Naval Chiefs

Secretary Adams Is Heard at Annual Luncheon of Society.

More than 50 women who have acted as sponsors at the christening of battleships, cruisers, airplane carriers and other naval craft, yesterday were addressed by Secretary of the Navy Adams, Admiral George H. Rock, chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, and Admiral F. B. Upham, chief of the Bureau of Navigation.

The occasion was the annual luncheon of the Society of Sponsors of the United States Navy, at the Willard Hotel. The society, founded in 1908, seeks to further intelligent interests in the Navy and assist in the philanthropic work of the Navy Relief Society.

It was announced that the annual patriotic service of the society would be held at the Washington Cathedral Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Bishop Freeman will deliver the sermon, which will be broadcast by Station WMAL. Special music will be rendered by the Cathedral Choir of men and boys, under direction of Edgar Priest.

provided by the other measure. This has been approved by the veterans' committee.

Mills Foresees Events He Calls "Unfavorable"

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Ogden L. Mills told the Bond Club of New York today the next 48 hours would bring developments in the soldiers' bonus fight which might be less favorable than the club members anticipated.

The Undersecretary of the Treasury told his listeners they had heard much in recent days concerning amendment of the World War veterans' adjusted compensation act.

"I am sorry to say," he said, "that I am not entirely sure the news is going to be as favorable as you might have anticipated from statements that have appeared in the press, and which, indicated that perhaps Congress was going to consider this in a more temperate and sensible way than we had expected in the first instance."

He was opposed, he said, to any veterans' legislation which would require issuance of bonds in considerable amounts.

convened to resume debate on foreign affairs.

Apparently the National Socialists and the Nationalists were carrying out the threat they made yesterday, just before Foreign Minister Curtius began an outline of his policies, that they would stay out of the chamber until an important vote demanded their presence.

The National Socialists, or Nazi, members under the leadership of Adolf Hitler, have been ordered on a stump-speaking campaign with meetings every night accompanied by brass bands and all the other trappings of political fanfare. Hitler has told them to make use of their free railroad passes, retained because none of the men has relinquished his place in the chamber, although all the party has resigned from all parliamentary offices.

Reichstag Called "Rump."

There was considerable skepticism that the Nationals and National Socialists would carry out their reported intention of calling a rump Parliament at Weimar. The Nationalist newspapers already are referring to the Reichstag itself as a rump Parliament, since it now consists only of a "majority which no longer represents the people."

The Nationalists were expected to boycott the Reichstag sessions for the rest of the week, but some of their committee members have been permitted to participate in committee work, which gets under way tomorrow.

Such meetings as the Hitler party plans always have given the police trouble in Hamburg and Breslau, and state governments, particularly of Prussia and Bavaria, are understood to have issued definite instructions to prevent any unlawful demonstrations.

But despite the importance of the occasion, the actual division took secondary place for the interest of the members, for Snowden's speech was one of the most sensational heard in the Commons for a long time and set political soothsayers to prophesying a grave split in Labor's own ranks.

Leaning against the dispatch box before which members of the cabinet stand when speaking, the frail little chancellor painted a gloomy picture of Britain's financial condition, declaring that though the country was fundamentally sound temporary sacrifices were needed from all if the present crises were to be weathered.

The speech greatly alarmed many Labor members, who saw in it a threat to discontinue the present expenditure on the dole and other measures for the relief of the unemployed.

Liberal Amendment Carries.

Hitherto the Liberal party, holding the balance of power, has saved the Labor government in many a crisis, but the small number of Liberals would mean little against a serious defection in Labor's own ranks. The Left Wing Laborites have been discontented for a long time.

Shortly after the important division, the House divided again on a Liberal amendment to the vote of censure, calling for establishment of a small committee to consider the question of expenditures and to propose economies.

This was carried by 468 against 21 votes, a majority of the small group of dissenters being Labor Left Wingers, but Snowden had made it clear earlier in the debate that the government accepted the Liberal proposal.

79 STUDENTS TAKEN IN CAMPUS DRY RAID

Five Fraternity Houses at University of Michigan Visited by Police.

51 QUARTS ARE SEIZED

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The members of five leading Greek letter fraternities at the University of Michigan tonight awaited word from university authorities and the police regarding what action would be taken as a result of a series of early morning liquor raids on their houses.

The raids were made by local police at 4:30 a. m. and resulted in the appearance in justice court today of 79 students found in the houses. The raiders reported that whisky, gin and beer were found in the fraternity houses.

The fraternities raided were Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi and Kappa Sigma. The officers said they found a total of 51 quarts of whisky, wine and gin and a half barrel of beer, distributed among the five fraternity houses.

The 79 students, many of whom were leaders in campus affairs, were released on their own recognizance after appearing in justice court today. They were ordered to return Friday, after Prosecutor Albert Rapp said he wanted time to consider the situation further. The liquor seized in the raids was held at the police station.

University authorities headed by President Alexander G. Ruthven, went into conference today to determine what action should be taken. President Ruthven issued a statement commending the police and stating that the fraternities, while in a sense regarded as private dwellings, apart from the university, would have to face disciplinary action by both university and civil authorities.

The raids were the most extensive ever made on the university campus. Coming two days before the annual J hop, they caused much speculation regarding their effect on the university's leading social function.

POSTMASTER GENERAL BROWN REFUSES POSTAL LEASE DATA

"I understand your arrogance and impertinence."

"And I yours."

"I know you would enjoy a cat-and-dog fight," the chairman said, "but I don't want a personal controversy."

Senator Blaine continued to read the questions, many of them pertaining to dimensions of the buildings, the purpose for which the buildings were constructed, descriptions of them and their locations.

"The same answer," Mr. Brown repeated over and over again.

Finally, when Mr. Blaine insisted much of the information was not confidential, the Postmaster General said:

"I don't care for your lectures."

"I'm not going to get into any personal controversy," Senator Blaine repeated.

More About "Impertinence."

"I'm not sure we're not," the Postmaster General said.

"I can't stop your impertinence," the committee chairman replied.

"I know you can't," Mr. Brown returned: "I know your limitations."

Mr. Blaine contended most of the information was either a matter of public record or had come from the lessors themselves.

Mr. Brown insisted that, nevertheless, it would be "incompatible with the public interest" to provide the committee with it. He agreed some of it had come from the lessors, but said they did not know the department's plans and that to comply with Mr. Blaine's request would give them inside information.

The chairman agreed that some of the information, such as personal estimates of value by the inspectors, might be confidential, but when he came to one question which asked whether the property was on a corner or in the middle of a block, he asked:

"That is very confidential, of course."

When Mr. Brown failed to reply Mr. Blaine said his question had been "put in ridicule."

"Yes, it was very brilliant," Mr. Brown observed.

Brown Says He's Patient.

"Your declining to furnish this information is going to materially hamper and delay the committee's work," Senator Blaine remarked. "But I want to assure you the committee is going to bring out every fact in connection with the desirability of condemning these properties and is going to divulge them to Congress, which is entitled to the information.

"Do you still refuse?"

"I have answered your questions very patiently," Mr. Brown replied.

"My patience is now exhausted," the chairman returned. "The committee's life has been extended for two years, but it is going to take a lot of work to get this information.

"I was hoping to submit our report during your term of office, but you don't seem to entertain such hopes."

The chairman recessed the hearings until Wednesday, when Harry S. New, Postmaster General under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, will tell of his connection with the lease for the St. Paul commercial station postoffice.

POTOMAC COMPANY ASSENTS TO PARLEY

ATTITUDE NOT REVEALED

The Potomac Electric Power Co. will participate in the electric rate conference called by the Public Utilities Commission, S. Russell Bowen, general counsel, informed Corporation Counsel William W. Bride late yesterday. The decision was reached at a meeting of executives of the power company during the afternoon.

Upon receiving word of the acceptance, Mr. Bride set the conference for 10:30 o'clock Monday morning, at which time Mr. Bowen and William P. Ham, president of the power company, will be present. Others who will take part in the closed conference are the members of the utilities body, William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech.

No information was given by Mr. Bowen yesterday as to what will be the attitude of the utility at the conference, but his statements on previous occasions have indicated that the power company is opposed to any modification of the consent decree.

Rate Reduction Plea Expected.

No definite program has been prepared for presentation by either party, it is said, but the commission is expected to ask the power company to agree to a reduction in its earnings such as outlined in its recent instructions to Mr. Bride when it appeared that the matter would be carried immediately into court.

Briefly, this scheme provides for the lowering of the maximum rate of return, before the excess earnings are divided, from 7½ per cent to 6¾ per cent, and for a scaling of the divisions of the remaining profits in proportion to the increase in percentage of earnings.

Such a reduction would bring about lower electric rate for Washington consumers while retaining the sliding scale as a reward for efficient operation by the power company.

Two Other Courses Open.

Should this conference fail to bring about a compromise between the two parties, the commission will probably adopt one of two courses: File the already prepared petition for modification of the consent decree in the equity side of the District Supreme Court, or else adopt Mr. Bride's proposal, which it previously rejected, and abrogate the decree, as well as announce a new schedule of rates without going into court.

Much will depend, it is believed, upon the willingness of the power officials to come to terms. If their attitude is defiant, as it was at the recent public hearing on the 1931 rates, the commission will be more likely to adopt the second course and thus place the burden of proof and court action on the utility.

Corn Is Dominant Again in Markets

Rumors of Russian Revolt Send Wheat Ahead for Brief Period.

Chicago, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Corn climbed back to ruling position on the Board of Trade today after a few hours' abdication caused by rumors of a Russian revolution.

The revolution reports yesterday sent wheat back to its old position as head cereal, more wheat being sold than corn for the first time in a month. But official denials of the rumors caused wheat to slump meekly back today behind corn. Trading resumed the mild tenor it has held since Federal agencies entered the market.

Wheat sales yesterday totaled 25,589,000 bushels, almost twice the 14,881,000 sold on Tuesday of last week, but considerably less than the 37,317,000 on the corrseponding day in 1930. Wheat sales Monday were 18,252,000 bushels. Sales of corn fell off as the stream of wheat broadened, sales yesterday totaling 22,847,000 bushels compared with 25,367,000 on the day before and 26,517,000 on the preceding Tuesday.

Buenos Aires Will Ship $2,900,000 Gold to U.S.

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Arrangements have been made for the shipment of $2,900,000 in gold from Buenos Aires Friday by the Banco de la Nacion. The metal will be consigned to the Irving Trust Co., of New York.

The gold report of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the week ended February 10, issued today, showed imports of $380,000 from Cuba and $90,000 chiefly from Latin-American countries. There were no exports and there was no net change in gold earmarked for foreign account.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The bulls and bears declared an armistice tonight as the financial community closed up shop for the Lincoln's Birthday holiday tomorrow. The New York Stock and Curb Exchanges, the banks and all the commodity exchanges will be closed tomorrow.

The 1931 construction program of the operating companies of Commonwealth & Southern Corporation calls for expenditures in excess of $45,000,000, B. C. Cobb, chairman of the board, said that approximately $36,000,000 will be expended in the electric department, $4,000,000 in the gas department and the balance devoted to other departments. The greater portion of the electric expenditures will be for additional transmission and distributing facilities to improve service and take care of new business.

Thomas B. Doe, president of Eastern Air Transport, a subsidiary of North American Aviation, Inc., said that North American will report net profit of about $2,000,000 for 1930. This would be equal to around $1 a share and would compare with $1,908,819, or 95 cents a share, for 1929.

The steel trade reviews reported an increase of 2 per cent in operations during the past week, but agreed that demand was still spotty. The rise puts activity at 50 per cent of rated capacity, the best since late in October.

Trico Products Corporation for 1930 reported net profit of $1,908,415, equal to $5.09 a share, against $2,249,948, or $6.66 a share in 1929.

Alpha Portland Cement Co. for 1930 had net profit of $1,248,353, against $1,815,018 in the previous year.

Mohawk Carpet Mills reported for 1930 net loss of $599,779, against net income of $1,812,140, equal to $3.02 a share in 1929.

Richman Bros., of Cleveland, for 1930 had net profit of $3,085,218, equal $5.12 a share, against $4,208,037, or $7.07 a share, in 1929.

The first railroad to report complete figures on earnings for January, the Chicago & Alton, showed a net operating deficit of $211,687, compared with net operating income of $61,599 for the corresponding month of 1930.

Production of electricity by the electric light and power industry of the United States for the week ended February 7 continued the decline in previous recent weeks. The total, 1,678,794,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,686,749,000 for the previous week and was 5.9 per cent below figures for the like week of 1930, the National Electric Light Association reports. The figure also showed a decrease of 2.3 per cent from the corresponding week of 1929.

Atlantic Pipe Line Co., a subsidiary of Atlantic Refining Co., has assumed the five-year contract recently made by Saxet Oil Co. with Gulf Coast Pipe Line Co., for the sale of production of Saxet Oil Co., in the Refugio field, up to 5,000 barrels of oil a day, at posted prices prevailing in that field.

Shipmen of trackwork for rail track of 60 pounds per yard or heavier increased in January to 5,626 net tons, compared with 5,174 tons for December, the American Iron & Steel Institute reports. Shipments for January of 1930 totaled 11,830 tons.

C. S. Davis, president of the Borg Warner Corporation, said that new orders from agricultural and automotive firms which will increase February business notieably above January and December, have just been received by the Ingersoll Steel & Disc Co., of Galesburg, Ill., a division of Borg Warner. January business of the Ingersoll Co. was 25 per cent above that of December.

January sales of the G. R. Kinney Co. totaled $797,449, a decrease of 24.37 per cent from $1,054,387 reported for the corresponding month of 1930. E. H. Kron, president, said the decline was caused largely by slack rubber sales by reason of the unusually dry and open weather during the month.

The Southern Railway showed preliminary net income of $9,126,512 equal to $4.72 a share on the common, against $13,128,787, or $11.65 a share, in 1929.

For the second successive day bar silver continued its recovery from the slump which in recent weeks has carried it to its lowest price in history. Advances of ¾ of a cent, to 27⅝ cents an ounce in New York, and 7-16 of a penny to 12¾ pence in London, were registered. While bouillon dealers said the cause for the rise from the shilling price was obscure, the day's developments included announcement of recommendations for a subcommittee of the Senate foreign relations committee for improving trade with China and restoring price of the metal.

The price of copper advanced in both domestic and export markets today coincident with publication of favorable trade statistics showing decreases both in production and stocks on hand as of February 1, despite a slowing up of buying during January. Advances of one-quarter of a cent a pound carried the domestic price to 10 cents a pound, delivered, and the export level to 10.30 cents a pound, c. i. f. European base ports.

Following completion of negotiations last week, the properties of the McClintic-Marshall Construction Co. of Pittsburgh, have been taken over by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the new owners. The properties will be operated by a subsidiary of Bethlehem, the name for which has not been announced. The McClintic-Marshall Corporation was regarded as the second largest unit in the steel fabricating business.

Ancients Held Wives By Chains in Death

Vienna, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—In the Bronze Age in Austria, 2000 B. C., wives were tied to their dead husbands' legs and buried with them.

Discovery of 21 ancient graves in Achleinbach shows the method. The woman was bound from hip to ankle to her lord's leg, and laid in the grave with him.

From the posture of one of the female skeletons, with a shielding arm over her face, it was believed the woman was stoned to death or unconscious before the grave was filled.

Westinghouse Electric Cuts Off Working Day

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. announced today effective March 1 all its plants and offices temporarily would omit Saturday operations.

P. A. Merrice, president, said that inasmuch as this reduction in working time approximated 10 per cent, the same cut would apply to all salaried employes. The new schedule, the announcement said, is "solely an emergency measure to spread the work through this period of severe business depression. Normal arrangements will be reinstated with the advent of normal times."

$7,000,000 to Be Spent By Firm on Advertising

Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Frigidaire Corporation officials, meeting here today, announced they will launch immediately a $7,000,000 advertising and sales promotion program.

It also was announced that the Frigidaire plant here was now working at full capacity, 6,500 employes reporting for duty.

MARKET WILL OPEN WITH GALA FESTIVAL

Seventy Dealers Are to Act as Public Hosts at Twelfth and Water Streets.

BARBECUE TO BE GIVEN

A gala festival, with music, dancing, fireworks and speeches, tonight, will attend the official opening of the Water Street Produce Association's new wholesale market district, at 7 o'clock at Twelfth and Water streets southwest.

Some 70 dealers, forced by the Government's triangle building program to vacate their stands in the vicinity of the old Center Market, will act as hosts to the public.

Streets in the market district will be closed to all automobile traffic from 6 to 11, including Water street from Eleventh to Fourteenth, Twelfth street from Maryland avenue to Water street, E street from Eleventh to Twelfth, and F street from Eleventh to Twelfth.

The program will open at 7 o'clock with music by a five-piece orchestra at 1223 Water street, by the Pennsylvania Band at Twelfth and Water streets and a twelve-piece band at Twelfth and Maryland avenue. Another twelve-piece orchestra will play for free dancing at Produce Terminal, in the rear of the Cudahy Packing Co., from 8 to 11. Still another will give a three-hour concert at 1223 Water street.

The dealers have arranged an old-fashioned barbecue for their guests, starting at 8 o'clock at the foot of E street near the end of the Produce Terminal, and from 8 to 9 a program of official addresses will be broadcast over the radio.

From 7 to 10 the Keystone Quartet will sing from a stage at 1293 Water street and at 9:30 the fireworks display will start.

Washington Monument Ceremonial Is Planned

Plans were being prepared yesterday in the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks for the supervision of a ceremonial at the base of Washington Monument in memory of Washington's Birthday. Wreaths will be placed at the Monument by President Hoover and by a representative of Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of the office.

Flags of the 48 States will be placed about the obelisk, and a man will be on hand to receive all floral tributes.

Permits Are Asked For Two Buildings

Private Construction Plans Filed for Apartment and Printing Plant.

More major private construction for the city was assured yesterday in the filing of an application with the Office of District Building Inspector Oehmann by Goldsmith & Keller, builders, for a permit to construct a seven-story apartment building and announcement by National Capital Press, Inc., of plans to erect a new printing plant.

The Goldsmith & Keller project will be a handsome brick, concrete and stone apartment structure facing Randolph street northwest, near the intersection of Fourteenth. It will contain 82 apartments subdivided into 255 rooms. George T. Santmyers is the architect and the estimated cost of the building is $300,000.

National Capital Press, Inc., which will be compelled to move from its present location at 1210 D street northwest, owing to the Federal building program in that section, will build a new home at the intersection of Third street and Florida avenue northeast. The building will be three stories high and of reinforced concrete with brick trim. Excavation is now in progress and construction will follow immediately.

Moran, Public Enemy, Free in Vagrancy Case

Chicago, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The vagrancy case against George "Bugs" Moran, public enemy and former gang leader, was dismissed today at the request of the State attorney's office.

Moran was acquitted of a similar charge by a jury at Waukegan recently and Assistant State's Attorney James Brown told the judge his office had no additional evidence to present.

Talking Motion Picture Methods to Be Told

How motion-picture films are made to talk will be described to members of the Washington Chamber of Commerce by W. W. Wheeler, general information manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., at the regular monthly meeting of the chamber next Tuesday at the Mayflower Hotel.

Lloyd B. Wilson, president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., will be the guest of honor.

Don't let SORE THROAT get the best of you...

FIVE minutes after you rub on Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore! Continue the treatment once every hour for five hours and you'll be astonished at the relief.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Universe's Secret Linked With Nebulae by Einstein

For more than an hour he discussed possibilities of the shape of the universe to replace his discarded Einsteinian Universe. The meeting, at the Mount Wilson laboratory, was attended by the astronomers of the Carnegie Institution at Washington, who discovered this red shift, Dr. Edwin C. Hubble and Dr. Walter S. Adams.

"The red shift of distant nebulae has smashed my old construction like a hammer blow," said Einstein, swinging his hand to illustrate. "The red shift is still a mystery.

"The only possibility is to start with a static universe lasting a while and then becoming unstable, and expansion starting, but no man would believe this."

The red shift has been analyzed by Dr. Hubble as the speed of distant island universes receding from the earth, some at 7,200 miles a second. Based upon this observation, Dr. Richard Chace Tolman, of Pasadena, suggested an expanding universe.

"A theory of an expanding universe," said Einstein, "at the rate figured from apparent velocities of recession of nebulae, would give too short a life to the great universe. It would be only 10,000,000,000 years old, which is altogether too short a time. By that theory it would have started from a small condensation of matter at that time."

He said the red shift may be interpreted as the light quanta getting redder by losing energy as they go long distances.

"But no man can get a picture of how this happens," he said.

Tolman suggested that if we had a periodic solution of contraction and expansion it might be satisfactory.

Einstein replied the equations do not satisfy such a thing, but indicate if such were the case the whole universe might explode.

Slayer Confesses; Given Life Term

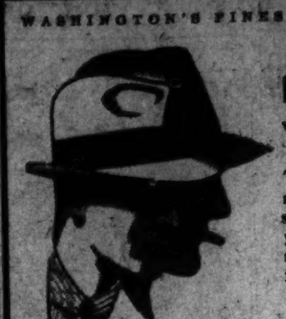

Sentence Passed Within 24 Hours After Killing of Policeman.

Pekin, Ill., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Less than 24 hours after Policeman Henry P. Kounse was killed in a gun fight near East Peoria, Gale McDaniels, notorious bank robber and jail breaker, pleaded guilty to the slaying today and was given a life sentence.

Kounse was killed last night as he and several other East Peoria policemen attempted to capture McDaniels, who had escaped from jail at Rushville. McDaniels fought a brief pistol battle with the patrolmen and escaped. Kounse was fatally wounded.

A large posse of State highway patrolmen searched all night and early today McDaniels was found hiding in a coal shed not far from the scene of the shooting. He was taken to the jail at East Peoria but when a mob began to collect he was rushed to Pekin.

CURRENT EVENTS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ALEXANDRIA RECTOR TO BE BURIED TODAY

HALF OF QUOTA IS PAID

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

The Right Rev. Frederick D. Goodwin, bishop coadjutor of Virginia, will conduct the funeral services for the late Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Protestant Episcopal Church, who died suddenly Monday night. The rites will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the church. Bishop Goodwin and his secretary, the Rev. Dr. Brydon, will arrive early this morning. The body will be taken from Wheatley's funeral home at 10 o'clock this morning and will lie in state until the funeral hour.

Ministers who will attend and assist in the services are the Rev. Dr. Berryman Green, dean of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia; the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Church; the Rev. Dr. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Church; the Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Wallis, professor emeritus of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia; the Rev. C. A. Langston, rector of Pohick Church; the Rev. George Vest, rector of Emmanuel Church, and the Rev. Dr. John C. Welford, who is passing the winter in this city.

The Alexandria Ministerial Association will meet at 2 o'clock in the First Baptist Church to attend the funeral in a body, and the Rev. Percy Foster Hill, H. B. Brenner and P. C. Duborg have been chosen to draw up suitable resolutions upon the death of the Rev. Mr. Carpenter.

Active pallbearers will be Arthur M. King, James M. Duncan, jr., and Norman Simpson, from the vestry of Grace Church; Charles C. Carlin, jr., of Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons; J. Owen Lynch, from the Elks, and H. E. Arnold, fromthe Odd Fellows.

The honorary pallbearers will be Frank T. King, Clarence Moore, Albert Schaffer, C. E. Cox, W. J. Wilkinson, Louis J. Baker, Charles J. Deahl, E. L. Brown, J. C. Winterwerp, E. T. Estes, Charles W King, Robert V. Duncan, vestrymen and members of the church; former Representative Charles H. Callahan, Judge Howard W. Smith, Judge William P. Woods, Mayor Carroll Pierce and Percy E. Clift.

Mrs. Mary W. Troth, club president, presented two new members, Miss Sarah Shotts and Mrs. Winifred Thurlow, and club members presented their guests. Mrs. Rathbone Smith had with her Mrs. Charles Hohenstein, of Atlanta; Miss Alice Gronau, Miss Lunceford; Mrs. Annie Demaine, her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Demaine, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Windsor Demaine; Miss Minnie Herndon, Miss Whetstone, of Washington; Miss Rietta Butler, Mrs. Charles J. Grant; Miss Laura Peverell, Miss Nellie Pierpoint, of Atlanta, and Miss Corinne T. Reardon, Miss Margaret Abramson. After the showing of the picture, Miss Abramson gave several vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. William H. Meeks.

Miss Alice Whitton spoke on finances of the club with regards to its pledge of $1,000 toward the entertainment of the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs by the Virginia Federation in Richmond in July. She said the Alexandria Club had maintained the precedent established at the outset of always being in the lead, and had to date paid 50 per cent of its quota. She said heretofore the club had seemed to view the convention from the standpoint of money, but she wanted the club members to get the inspirational part and to realize what it means to the women of Virginia to have the privilege of entertaining such a gathering, and also that this year delegates would be present not only from all over the United States, but from the international federation, and the Virginia Club members will be the hostess and must make this the best convention ever held for the glory of old Virginia.

The gigantic pageant the closing night of the convention will be staged in the mosque with Miss Alice Gronau as chairman, and on that occasion Alexandria will be the hostess, with local club members assisting as ushers and general workers.

Miss Catherine Johnson was named chairman for the public relations dinner to be held on Thursday, March 12, in the George Mason Hotel, such a dinner to be staged simultaneously by the 1,250 clubs of the federation. Miss Adelyn Apperson and Miss Bertha K. Allison will have charge of reservations for the dinner, which close on March 11.

Miss Ellie Fawcett is chairman for the arrangement for the club members to attend a church service March 8, the first day of the National Business Women's Week observance; Mrs. Mary Lee Bayol and Mrs. Maymie Logan will have charge of requesting the Virginia Public Service Co. to exhibit a model electric kitchen for the business woman, and Mrs. Winifred Thurlow a similar exhibit by the Alexandria Gas Co. Mrs. D. C. Book will arrange for a radio program during the week, and Mrs. Book, Mrs. Troth and Mrs. Helen V. Reed are a committee to have local merchants display suitable apparel for business women. Miss Elizabeth Ramey, as educational chairman, will arrange for a talk in the Alexandria High School on the importance of a girl who expects to enter business to have a high school and college education.

The March business meeting will be held on Tuesday, 10, without the usual supper, as the public relations dinner will be held on Thursday of that week.

Edward Francis Quirk, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Quirk, died on Tuesday evening in the Alexandria Hospital as the result of burns received at the home of his parents, at 228 North St. Asaph street. The little fellow and his brother were playing with matches and ignited some papers. Dr. T. Marshall Jones gave a certificate of accidental death.

The Kiwanis Club will be addressed today at the meeting at 12:30 in the George Mason Hotel, by Paul Garber, of the National Smithsonian Institution. Thomas M. Jones is program chairman and will present the speaker.

Corbin Hollow Residents Flee to Avoid Starvation

Basket and Ax-Handle Makers Abandon Homes, Carrying Effects and Children on Backs, to Seek Food and Water.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Feb. 11.—Carrying their household effects on their backs, residents of Corbin Hollow, Madison County, are leaving their homes to avoid starvation. Corbin Hollow is in one of the most isolated sections of the Blue Ridge, hemmed in by towering mountain spurs. At no day in the year the sun shines more than three hours in the ravine.

Making baskets and the manufacture of ax handles have always provided a meager living for the people. There is no longer a demand for these articles, due to depressed business conditions. A year ago when the Deford Tanning Co., Luray, ceased buying chestnut oak bark, Corbin Hollow received its first industrial blow.

Last summer's drought swept away the small crops raised by the residents. Then cows, pigs, chickens—and occasionally a horse—were sacrificed in order that enough money might be raised to bring the families to the present time. These small amounts of money have been used.

Broken Back River, a turbulent stream that passed through the ravine, last summer, for the first time in its history, became dry. This struck terror to the region. Stouthearted, the residents battled with the handicap by carrying water two and three miles.

Small children in the moving families are being carried by their fathers and mothers, the older ones climbing the steep mountain sides in their eagerness to find "greener pastures" for the coming summer.

MONTGOMERY ASKS BIDS ON NEW ROAD

Extension of Drive Will Start Improvement of Rock Creek Park.

SOCIAL SERVICE SOUGHT

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post,
9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Bids were asked yesterday by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission for the building of the section of the new Rock Creek Park extension drive which will connect with the Beach drive at the District Line. The new drive will extend west from the District Line to the south end of Jones Mill road.

The bids will be received at the office of the commission in the Tower Building, Washington, until 8 o'clock the night of March 12, when the contract will be awarded if the bids are satisfactory.

The construction of this section will be the beginning of work on the Montgomery County extension of Rock Creek Park. The road will be graded for a total width of 34 feet, permitting a 30-foot surface. It will be of the same type of construction as the roads in the Washington Park so that there will be no noticeable difference when the motorist passes over the District Line into Maryland.

The first link in the extension of the drive will be approximately one and a third miles long. When it is completed the motorist will be enabled to drive out Sixteenth street or Connecticut avenue and return to Washington by way of the East West highway to the Rock Creek drive and thence through the park back to Washington.

Because of the increased demands on the Social Service League of Montgomery County, due to drought and unemployment, it has become necessary to ask volunteer aid in the transportation of clients to and from hospitals and clinics. Arrangements have been made by Mrs. Edward Stacy of the home welfare committee to handle this work in Silver Spring and Takoma Park through the cooperation of parent-teacher associations of this section.

The calls upon the volunteers will be made as infrequently as possible, but any help in this line will be of great service to the league in its work.

Two young men in a light car yesterday narrowly escaped serious injury when the steering gear fo their car failed to function and the car went out of control, turning over several times, near Gaithersburg, on the Frederick pike.

Alfred Lee Everhart, of Gaithersburg, was driving hte car. Te told Headquarters Detective Roy Bodmer that the wheels started to "shimmy" and that he could not control the car. The car was badly damaged. The passenger in the car was R. L. Ashton, of Winchester, Va.

Miss Margaret P. Ansdell, Red Cross nutrition worker for Montgomery County, has been granted a six-month leave of absence to attend a special course at Columbia University, for which she has received a scholarship. Miss Ansdell will specallize in nutrition work.

Miss Grace England has been assigned to relieve Miss Ansdell during the six months. Miss Ansdell turned over the work of her office to Miss England yseterday.

Mrs. Grace E. Duvall, of Damascus, yesterday filed suit for limited divorce from Lynn Duvall, alleging desertion. The wife is represented by Attorney Kenneth Lyddane, of Rockville.

According to the petition, the couple was married November 28, 1929, at Damascus, and the husband deserted February 2, 1930, two months after the marriage. There are no children.

Decree of absolute divorce was awarded Albert B. Watkins, of Bethesda, yesterday from Mrs. Edna B. Watkins, of Washington, on the grounds of infidelity, by Judge Robert B. Peter in Circuit Court at Rockville. The husband, who was represented by Attorney Kenneth Lyddnae, of Rockville, was awarded custody of the two minor children. The couple was married March 5, 1924.

Robert W. Farmer, of Redland, was unanimously elected president of the Montgomery County Fish and Game Protective Asocaition at its annual meeting. The retiring president, W. Frank Ricketts, of Rockville, who declined to serve as president again, was elected vice president, and Mayor J. Roger Spates, of Rockville, re-elected treasurer.

The following additional directors were elected: David Clark, Laytonsville; Paul Wire, Clarksburg; Webb Hersberger, Poolesville; Loenard L. Nicholson, Rockville; Claggett Jones, Darnestown; Walter P. Johnson, Bethesda; Douglas Riggs, Olney; Walter Plummer, Gaithersburg; Eddington Bell, Potomac; Lawrence Price, Barnesville; Bradley Woodfield, Damascus; Matthew Trimble, Wheaton. The directors are to meet at an early date to select a successor for Edward P. Abbee, of Chevy Chase, secretary.

Former Postmaster General Harry S. New, Judge Robert B. Peter, of Rockville; E. Lee LeCompte, State game warden, and Dr. D'Arcy McGee, of Washington, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Council of the Izaak Walton League of America, spoke. Andrew J. "Cy" Cummings presided.

Funeral services for A. Boyd Burdette, 14 years old, who was fatally injured when he walked into the side of a moving automobile Tuesday, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the Neelsville Episcopal Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The boy died at the Frederick Hospital, where he was taken in the ambulance of Warner E. Pumphrey, Rockville undertaker, after his skull was fractured by an automobile driven by Upton F. Gladhill, of Browingsville. The driver was exonerated by police after an investigation.

Virginian Found Guilty in Killing

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 11.—After a trial lasting three days, a jury in Circuit Court tonight sentenced Wilmer Lamb to twelve years in the penitentiary for the murder of Walter Mowbray. Motion for a new trial was refused by Judge Lemuel F. Smith. Mowbray was slain on the morning of December 7, at the home of his fathr-in-law, Bose Shiflett, in the foothills of the Blue Ridge, west of White Hall, the fatal shot being fired in the presence of Mowbray's wife.

Following the shooting Lamb came to Charlottesville and surrendered to Magistrate W. B. Colthurst.

Lamb today told the court he shot Mowbray in self-defense. It had been brought out previously that Mowbray had been ordered away from the place by Shiflett after a fight in which Mowbray was severely beaten with an iron poker. The jury was out three hours.

Lynchburg Resident Dies.

ASSEMBLY IS GIVEN BILL ON BLUE LAWS

GRAFT CHARGE INFERRED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Feb. 11.—Introduction of the State-wide antiblue-law bill and launching a movement for a sweeping investigation by the legislative grand inquest of alleged excessive award of property, and methods of awarding municipal contracts in Baltimore City, divided interest in the halls of the Maryland General Assembly here today.

Francis A. Michel, Speaker of the House, sponsored the antiblue-law measure, which provides a return to home rule on all questions pertaining to Sabbath amusements and selling of merchandise Legislative bodies of all towns, and commissioners of the several counties, would be empowered to repeal for themselves any part of existing general or local laws relating to all forms of Sunday amusements, games and merchandising. These bodies would also have power to fix penalties for violations.

The measure being general in its provisions would, of course apply to Sunday moving pictures, now prohibited in every section of the State, as well as baseball and other commercialized athletic games forbidden in most cities and counties.

Graft Is Inferred.

The city administration of Baltimore, headed by Mayor William F. Broening, virtually would be put on trial under plans for the proposed investigation by the grand inquest committee of the General Assembly. Speaker Michel said he would introduce a resolution calling for a thorough probe of alleged graft in the award of contracts, based on what he termed "new and startling information from a reliable source."

Mayor Broening said all of the city's business is being conducted in an open and above-board manner.

At the same time Senator E. Milton Altfield introduced in the upper chamber a resolution asking for an investigation of awards far in excess of assessments made for property to be purchased by the municipality and to be used for the construction of the Bath Street Viaduct.

Dr. George L. Edmonds, chairman of the Montgomery County delegation in the House, introduced a bill fixing the qualifications of the mayor and councilmen of the town of Glen Echo. The measure provides that persons elected to those offices must be taxpayers of the community and fixes the age qualification of the mayor at not less than 35 and the councilmen not less than 25. The bill was referred to the delegation.

Speed Limits in Bill.

An increase in the speed limit for automobiles on State highways and a downward revision of the license taxation scale are provided in two bills offered in the House. The former makes a maximum speed of 45 miles an hour on highways where the limit is now 40 and increases by 5 miles in zones that are now limited to 35. A flat rate of $2 for each set of tags, instead of the existing charge of 32 cents per horsepower, is urged.

Farmers would be relieved of the tax on working live stock and farming machinery under the provisions of a bill introduced by Delegate Raymond Miller, of Washington County. The bill would allow an exemption of $1,000 each for machinery and live stock.

Delegate Matthews, Charles County, presented a bill to exempt owners of work motor boats from the provisions of the gasoline tax.

Membership on the Court of Appeals bench would be increased from 8 to 10, and both additional members would come from Baltimore City, if a bill offered by Delegate Alexander Goodman, of Baltimore, is enacted. Mr. Goodman pointed out that half of the State's population is centered in Baltimore, and yet the city has but one representative on that bench.

Fire Body Tables Unit's Application

Report Says Department at Tuxedo Has House and No Apparatus.

Application of the Tuxedo Volunteer Fire Department for admission to the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association was tabled at the monthly meeting of the association's advisory committee last night at Brentwood, pending reconsideration at the meeting next month.

The actoin was taken after George Finger, of the Capitol Heights department, and L. V. Moxley, of the Brentwood department, pointed out that the Tuxedo department, with a firehouse and twelve men, had no apparatus.

The $2,500 given as a semiannual appropriation by the State to the nineteen volunteer companies in the association was distributed at this meeting. Announcement was made that the association's legislative committee will go to Annapolis shortly to lay before the Maryland General Assembly a bill to provide for an annual appropriation of $16,000 for the association. Karl Young, president of the association, was presented with a cake by the Brentwood volunteer firemen.

Petersburg to Furnish County Fire Protection

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 11.—A contract between the City of Petersburg and Dinwiddie County whereby the former will furnish fire protection to the county has been executed. This completes arrangements with the three surrounding counties, under which protection will be afforded.

The fee in each is $50 where an engine is needed and $25 where only chemicals are used to extinguish flames. The fee mentioned in the contracts is only sufficient to pay the cost of such protection, and in instances where a fire of any consequence should occur would not nearly pay the cost of such protection.

SANITARY DISTRICT EXTENSION URGED

Prince Georges Delegation Asks State Legislature to Act on Plan.

3 AREAS REPRESENTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 11.—Although a number of Prince Georges County bills remain to be introduced in the State Legislature at this session, only one delegate appeared last night at the Statehouse to ask for new legislation.

This was a delegation from District Heights, Boulevard Heights and Bradbury Heights, which asked that the territory its members represented be included in the suburban sanitary commission district. After the conference with the legislators from Prince Georges, it appeared likely that the bill would pass this session if two other towns in the area would agree to the extension.

Suitland and Oakland would also be affected by the extension of the zone. The delegates were told, in effect, that if they would secure the backing of these two towns the bill would be introduced.

District Heights already has a sewer and water system which would be connected to the sanitary commission pipes. Street mains would have to be laid in the other communities. If the bill is passed the installation can be completed within a month, it is expected.

Harry R. Hall, deputy chief engineer of the commission, explained rates and installation charges of the commission to the citizens. The cost to the average home, he said, would be about $32.50 a year.

The Boulevard and Bradbury Heights delegation, led by Robert Robertson, asked that the sanitary commission district take in the territory from the Marlboro pike to Oxon Run to Southern avenue to the Suitland road to the District Line, north of Oxon Run. Joseph L. Tepper, leader of the District Heights delegation, asked an extension beyond these limits to include his subdivision.

CONOCO

"You can drive all day at 60...and your Germ-Processed won't thin out!"

HOW often have you heard, "I'll have to change oil early this time because of high speed driving"? It was quite the customary thing, until Conoco Germ-Processed Oil came along.

Now an all-day drive at a 60-mile speed brings no oil worries. You know that Germ-Processed oil won't thin out at high speeds; know, too, that it actually reduces motor operating temperatures because of the added "oiliness" produced by the Germ Process. The proof... at the Indianapolis and Altoona races at speeds up to 120 miles an hour and in numberless individual tests... is history now. Your own experience will add to the weight of the proof.

You need Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this day of high speed motors and high speed driving. You'll find it at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle...the proper grade for your car at 35¢ a quart.

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED PARAFFIN BASE MOTOR OIL

Travel with a Conoco Passport!... Send an outline of your proposed motor trip or let us help plan your trip. Get a Conoco passport, individually marked maps and other travel helps... all FREE! ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Abraham Lincoln needs no defenders, but thousands of Americans will rise today to denounce the most recent disparagement of him. America knows Lincoln too well and loves him too much to allow any challenge of his greatness to remain unanswered. To attack the fame of Lincoln today is like trying to mop up the sea.

Biographical detraction is a rage of the hour. Some writers in order to sell their wares resort to muck-raking. But they can not immolate Lincoln.

Immediately following Lincoln's death his intimate friends were besieged for information as to his private life. Some of them thought it was necessary to shield him from the truth—to make him out to be something he never was. But that futile "protection" was soon withdrawn when it became apparent that Lincoln's genuineness, his simplicity of character, his complete lack of ostentation, were contributing factors to his greatness. It is the man Lincoln, with all of his imperfections, his informality, his ruggedness and his shortcomings, that the Nation has learned to revere. No one can detract from his renown by revealing his human qualities. Any one who undertakes to make him appear to be less than the man he was may expect to be overwhelmed by the flood of truth which history has made available.

The lad who grew up in the backwoods without schooling has left a gem of literature that ranks with the finest ever produced. The country attorney who found it difficult to make a living in the practice of law nevertheless gleaned from the few books that fell into his hands the fundamentals of knowledge. The young man whose heart had been frequently crushed with sorrow taught himself sufficient courage and persistence to lead a nation through its darkest hour of distress.

The fame of Lincoln has risen above those who sought to shield him from the truth, and it can not be impugned by those who distort the truth.

DEVELOPING A RUBBER SUPPLY.

Henry Ford's denial that he contemplated abandoning his extensive rubber plantations in Brazil was received with widespread satisfaction. Rumors had come out of South America to the effect that labor opposition had made it virtually impossible for the Ford interests to continue their exploitation of the 6,000,000-acre concession and that the force of employes had been reduced to a skeleton. The formal denial was followed by dispatches indicating that activity is to be increased on the plantations. A complete reorganization is to be put through, to the end that the production of rubber in commercial quantities may be hastened.

The World War and the British attempt at monopoly taught America the dangers of depending upon foreign sources of supply for rubber. Throughout industry rubber has come to be a fundamental necessity. The Firestone plantations in Liberia are soon to come into active production and the Ford concession in Brazil promises to be a fruitful source of supply.

In another war, however, even though Americans may possess producing sources of crude rubber, there is the possibility that the channels of transportation may be closed by blockade or by inability to secure bottoms in which to bring crude rubber to this country. It is because America needs a source of crude rubber that is not subject to obstruction in war that Thomas A. Edison set himself to the task of evolving or discovering a rubber weed that will thrive in American soil. The possibility of developing rubber on a commercial scale from the guayule plant is also of interest. Guayule has grown wild for years on the plains of Mexico, and for 25 years rubber has been produced from it. Since 1919 experiments have been under way in California, and today 6,000 acres of the shrub are under cultivation, of which 1,000 acres are ready for harvest. The new plant will produce, it is said, 15,000 pounds of rubber a day.

This, of course, is not a great deal of rubber. The mere fact, however, that it can be produced commercially in such small quantities seemingly indicates that the guayule shrub has large possibilities as a source of domestic rubber when its cultivation is extended. While Harvey Firestone and Henry Ford will, no doubt, be able to produce cheaper rubber on their plantations, it will be a splendid thing if the guayule shrub can be developed to provide a domestic source of crude rubber that can be drawn upon should a national emergency result in blocking the transportation lines to Brazil and Africa.

A WAYS AND MEANS JOKER.

While the Treasury was placing an embargo on pulpwood and lumber from Soviet Russia on Tuesday, the House ways and means committee moved to open American markets to the Communist dumping program.

The embargo was laid down in accordance with a new set of regulations adopted by the Treasury several months ago. Hereafter shipments of lumber and pulpwood from Russia will not be received in American ports unless it can be proved that they were produced by free labor. The Treasury Department previously attempted to prohibit importation of these commodities from Russia, but was unable to do so because proof as to their origin was lacking. The burden of proof is now shifted to the importers.

The ways and means committee has approved amendments to the tariff bill with the apparent object of making importation of slave-labor goods from Russia more difficult. One change would place a ban on all Soviet goods handled by convict labor as well as on those goods made by convicts. Another change would advance the date of the embargo upon products of forced labor from January 1, 1932, to April 1 next. But a proviso attached would sweep away even the protection which the present law affords American industry and labor against the dumping program of the Reds.

The destructive proviso stipulates that the restrictions against convict and slave made goods shall not be applicable to those commodities which are not produced in the United States in sufficient quantity to meet the consumptive demand. The law would fail to operate in all cases where there was a market in the United States for foreign goods. Since goods are not sent here unless there is a market for them, this section would have the effect of nullifying the protection which the bill purports to give.

Obviously this provision should be stricken from the bill when it reaches the floor of the House. As it stands the bill is merely a clever pretense at extending protection against Communist dumping. It is inconceivable that Congress, which proclaimed for protection against this menace last year, should vitiate its own policy by adopting such a joker. With that contradictory proviso expurgated the bill would make the protective policy, which has already been established, more effective against the assault of communism.

COMMON SENSE IN GERMANY.

Events of the last few days furnish additional proof that the government of Germany is in strong and capable hands. The Bruening administration will make no compromise with the Fascists, on one hand, or with the Communists, on the other. The moderate parties have shown a remarkable solidarity, and the radicals are helpless.

Adolf Hitler's rabid followers in the Reichstag went on strike just before Foreign Minister Curtius delivered his address on foreign policy. The Fascist vice president of the chamber has resigned; also the Fascist heads of committees. Their official desertion will continue until the Fascist leaders consider it necessary for the delegation to return to the Reichstag for protection of their interests. This seems to indicate that the walkout was merely a gesture. No doubt the German people would rejoice if these spoiled children of politics would absent themselves for the remainder of the session, but that hope seems to be too optimistic.

Talk of a new Fascist assembly at Weimar, where the German constitution was written, is probably without foundation. The Hitlerites are trying to make a spectacular appeal to the public. Since the Reichstag adopted a new set of rules which prevents them from blocking legislation desired by the majority, they are trying to make their influence felt in some other way. But they must remain within the law, for the Reichstag has also divested its members of parliamentary immunity to arrest. Having been rendered harmless, so far as the present administration is concerned, the Fascists can only give vent to their spleen in futile verbiage outside of the chamber.

Chancellor Bruening and his cabinet, being fairly well fortified against the radicals, is giving attention to foreign and domestic problems. Finance Minister Curtius' address gave assurance that Germany will carry out the provisions of the Young plan so far as possible. Germany has not guaranteed to pay reparations according to the present schedule, he said, but she has guaranteed to try.

The courage and good sense of this German administration is an important factor in the rehabilitation of Europe.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

In announcing that 32,500 persons were killed in automobile accidents in the United States in 1930, an increase of some 1,300 deaths over the 1929 toll, the National Council of Safety observes that the increase "is really the lowest annual percentage increase since motoring became a safety problem." It is now revealed, however, that motor vehicle mileage in the United States decreased some 10 per cent in 1930 as compared with 1929. Despite this 10 per cent decrease in travel there was a 12 per cent increase in accidents, a 13 per cent increase in injuries, and a 4 per cent increase in fatalities in 1930.

A study of the figures made by insurance actuaries is most illuminating. Almost 90 per cent of all accidents in 1930 involved machines that were in good mechanical condition. Virtually 80 per cent of all accidents occurred when weather and road conditions were ideal. In accidents not involving pedestrians the driver was responsible nine times for every one time that he was not directly at fault. In accidents involving pedestrians the pedestrian was at fault three times as often as the driver. More than 25 per cent of all accidents were caused by excessive speed, and about 17 per cent by reckless driving, including cutting in and out of traffic, racing for corners, &c. Ninety per cent of those killed were the victims of drivers of more than one year's experience, and 97 per cent of all drivers involved in fatal accidents were more than 18 years of age.

These statistics reveal the fact that America's 835,250 automobile accidents of 1930, in which 994,825 persons were killed or injured, were caused primarily by carelessness or disregard of others' rights on the highway. Motorists driving at excessive speed or otherwise recklessly, and pedestrians darting from behind parked automobiles, crossing streets against traffic lights and walking with, instead of toward, oncoming traffic on country roads, were responsible for the major part of this frightful toll.

What is America to do to stop this waste of human life if individual Americans are unwilling or unable to comprehend their personal responsibility in the matter? Obviously, additional rules and regulations will have no effect so long as the individual motorist and pedestrian does not assume responsibility for highway safety.

DICTATING NOMINATIONS.

Senator Schall has carried his fight for the appointment of Ernest Michel to a Minnesota Federal judgeship beyond the bounds of reason. In a lengthy letter to President Hoover he virtually suggests that the President resign his appointive powers to the Senate and relieve himself of all responsibility for the character of the judiciary.

Specifically, he asks Mr. Hoover to send the name of Mr. Michel to the Senate judiciary committee, accompanied by a notice that there have been many protests against him and that in the opinion of the Attorney General he is not qualified to serve as a Federal judge. In other words, the President is asked to nominate a judge against his own best judgment and to leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Senate.

Senator Schall makes this request on the ground that Mr. Michel has had no opportunity to defend himself. Had the senator from Minnesota conducted the case properly his friend would need no defense. The name of Mr. Michel would never had been made public had not Senator Schall insisted upon the nomination after the Department of Justice had found him unqualified.

A Philadelphia broker makes a bet that within a year he will dine with President Hoover and play golf with Bobby Jones, the Prince of Wales and John D. Rockefeller, sr. But Bobby doesn't play golf, and John D. is afraid of brokers.

The Treasury reports that the average person's pocketbook showed a $2.30 shrinkage as compared with the previous month. There's something wrong with Mr. Mellon's figures.

It is now revealed that the major expenses of the Nye committee were incurred in the Illinois investigation. Well, the feminine always was the more expensive sex.

Bob La Follette is not as convincing as some other advocates of the dole because his brother, Phil, is already taken care of at public expense.

A 5-year-old is said by scientists to know about 1,700 words. He will lose most of them as he grows up.

BANDIT PUBLICITY

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Those metropolitan newspapers which have subtly and consistently glorified Alphonse Capone and John Diamond are directly responsible for a large per cent of the banditry engaged in recently by groups of young people, Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney declared yesterday in a speech before the members of the Women's Democratic Union.

"The tremendous publicity given these men enables them to make demands of citizens who are impressed by their reputations," Mr. Mulrooney said. "As a matter of fact, they are not so frightful as some of the newspapers make them. Capone didn't rate very high when we knew him in Brooklyn, and Diamond was just a package thief on the West Side when I knew him. The newspapers made both of these men.

"We have found that every unusual crime reported by the newspapers is immediately repeated by some one who would never have thought of it, perhaps, if he hadn't been impressed by the details given by the sensational press. This is especially true of variations of the torch murder and curious suicides."

Mr. Mulrooney said that 54 per cent of the men who appeared in the line-up at police headquarters during the last year charged with felonies were unemployed. The control of crime in New York City was not altogether a local problem, he said, pointing out that 22 per cent of the men in the line-up during the same period were from out of town.

The police commissioner praised the work of the Bureau of Crime Prevention and the work of its director, Miss Henrietta Additon. He said that last year 5,215 cases were referred to the bureau for action by the various precincts. He asked the members of the union to support a proposal calling for a transfer of the power to grant licenses to dance halls and night clubs from the department of licenses to the police department.

"As a practical policeman," he said, "I am impressed by the way we are learning to deal with young people. For the first time we are learning to look with tolerance at the healthy, natural recklessness of young people. Sometimes policemen can not help but admire the spirit of adventure in young people who run away from home, although they are frightfully aware of the consequences of such actions. The adventure of Florence Parker, the young art student who was found this morning, is a case in point. The most practical thing the police department ever did was to raise $38,000 last summer to send poor children and their mothers away on outings. We have given more than $100,000 to the needy during the unemployment crisis. You will forgive me when I say that I am very, very proud of this record."

THE 5-CENT FARE.

Return to the straight 5-cent fare on trolleys and buses from the experimental token and 10-cent cash fare has resulted in an improvement in revenue in Newark, says the Baltimore Sun.

While definite figures were not available, it was stated by John L. O'Toole, vice president in charge of public relations, that there has been some gain in revenue and a greater gain in patronage.

Public Service Coordinated Transport returned to the straight 5-cent fare November 2, after ten months of the token plan. The time since November 2 has been insufficient for definite or accurate comparison.

While the gross revenue was under that of November, 1929, the decrease was not so great as it had been in October and several preceding months, as compared with corresponding months last year.

The fact that revenue under the 5-cent fare has more than held its own, as compared with the 10-cent cash and token fare, shows there has been an even larger gain in patronage.

JUST FOLKS

MAN

I would not play it the hog's way
Or even the dog's way.
I would sit calmly and eat
My bread and my meat.
I would not sprawl on the floor
Nor splash in the trough to get all,
Seeking the last drop and more.
Nor in the dirt would I crawl,
Rooting the mud with my snout
For the crumbs I could well do without.

Two-legged, upright God made me!
And this compliment paid me:
Others by instinct are bound,
Wolf, hog and hound
Must look to themselves to the end,
But from instinct's commands you are free!
You can be neighbor and friend;
Can be what you've courage to be!
You can think and can dream and can plan,
For you have the role of a man!

And if I should play it the hog's way
Or even the dog's way,
The snarl and the grunt
Would my reason affront.
Still to scramble and struggle for more,
Still to think I had naught I could spare
If there should come a tap on my door
To the friend or the stranger out there,
Would he stop short of the plan
Which God had in mind for a man?

If You Won't Keep the Purse Another Man Loses, Why Keep the Dollar He Earns?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE average man thinks himself honest.

He is quick to resent any intimation that he isn't "square."

But honesty means something more than a disinclination to steal.

There is, for example, the matter of paying debts.

In a certain small city lives a woman who does sewing for the public. Her husband is a well-meaning ne'er-do-well who can't or won't keep a job, and she assumes the whole duty of providing for the family.

She sews early and late, without pause or rest, for her wage isn't generous and the most she can earn between daylight and darkness is scarcely enough to provide decent comforts for her household.

Among her patrons are some of the town's "best people"—the wives and daughters of the more prosperous merchants and professional men. These superior ones are friendly and pleasant when they call for fittings; but they are always a little condescending, for they are the elite of society and she is a mere seamstress.

"Best people," Alas! are not always the best pay. Sometimes they wait a month or three months or even a year to ask the woman how much they owe her, and she is afraid to "dun" them, for they might be offended and take their sewing elsewhere.

If she had all she has earned, she could pay her debts and keep the house warmer and buy enough milk for the children; and when the "swells" bring her more and more work and say nothing about paying for it, she sometimes compares her lot with theirs and hates them for their heartless indifference.

She doesn't say they are dishonest, but what is your opinion?

Is it honest to keep money that belongs to another?

Consider another case—that of the doctor—the ordinary practitioner who answers calls night and day without waiting for an assurance that he will be paid.

He saves your loved ones and you are grateful, but his bill is the last debt you pay. You must pay the grocer promptly, for you will need groceries next month; but keeping the doctor's good opinion doesn't seem so necessary, for you may never need him again.

Is it honest to keep him waiting for his money?

If he earned the dollar now in your pocket, it belongs to him, doesn't it? And if it belongs to him, it can't be yours, can it? Then by what right do you keep it?

Money doesn't belong to you merely because it is in your possession—any more than money deposited in a bank belongs to the banker.

You can't be honest while buying gasoline with money that belongs to somebody else.

PRO AND CON

No Excuse for Naval Delay.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Leaders in the House of Representatives have about decided not to bother at the present session with the Navy Department's modest construction measure but to let it lie over until Congress meets again next December. This is an extremely unfortunate situation and there is no shadow of reasonable excuse for it. Postponement would mean a mere waste of time. Nothing can happen in the ordinary course of development to make unnecessary the construction of these ships, and the Navy's position of inferiority as compared with that of Great Britain would simply be prolonged.

No Mudslinging, Please.
New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Viewed as a question of equity, the demand that representatives should be permitted the same liberties of debate exercised by the senators seems fair and logical enough. From the ethical viewpoint, however, the House rule forbidding statements from its floor "derogatory to the Senate or any of its members" is sound and necessary. No legislative cause is helped by the resort to abusive personalties that have nothing to do with its merits or demerits. Just as surely the verbal warfare on this order between Senate and House hinders instead of promotes the orderly conduct of congressional business.

Dry to the Gills.
Atlanta Constitution.

The Democratic senator from Kansas, McGill, is a dry and the wets wonder why the "gill" is in his name?

Neglecting National Defense.
New York Herald Tribune.

It is nothing short of inconceivable that the leaders of the House should even for a moment contemplate the abandonment of the administration naval building program. This program is hopelessly inadequate if the United States is to attain parity within the treaty period. Its inadequacy has been made all the more evident during the last week, due to the rumors that Great Britain would have to build beyond the treaty limit because of Franco-Italian construction. But small as it is, it is far better than nothing.

The Associated Press reports that this decision of the House leaders is made in "the interests of economy." What kind of false notion of economy is this which has suddenly overcome them? What hallucination has blinded them? Clearly a decision to neglect the national defense, based only on the most specious grounds, can only arouse condemnation throughout the country.

Senate's Bad Record.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Here is the record of the Senate in black and white—principally black—for this session to date. It is a record of obstruction, politics-playing, bickering and delay. If the result is to be an extra session, as now seems probable, the people will know exactly where to place the blame.

Gosh, How They Hate It!
Indianapolis News.

There is an intrusive suspicion that some of those Washington fellows who are making the biggest noise about wanting an extra session will be glad if they lose.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Virginia Farmer Says Short-Term 5 Per Cent Federal Loan Will Not Save Farmers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As you so kindly published my letter about the "Need of the Farmers" in your paper, I hope you will publish what I can tell about the truth of the serious situation of the farmers in the drought area at the present time.

Some very intelligent people fail do not use their intelligence sufficiently to give a very serious situation serious thought. They believe the drought is over. It is not. There are more wells dry today than at any time last year. The earth a few inches below the surface is bone dry. The face of the earth looks pitiful. Apparently, every vestage of grass is dead.

One very clever writers says, "Anyhow, the farmers sit down to three good meals a day." This is not true. I asked a very industrious farmer the other day how he fared. He said cheerfully, "When I can get a cent, I buy molasses and some salt fish. I get along." He is brave. He has a large family. It is hard for him to earn a dollar. Would that writer think molasses, salt fish and bread, three good meals a day?

Many intelligent persons have said and written that there is plenty of food for people, but that the feed for animals was scarce, or lacking. The truth is that all food in the drought areas was destroyed, both for human beings and for animals. Tons of food in Florida can not feed hungry families in Virginia or any other States unless it is gotten to those States and distributed.

At this present time the farmers are confronted with the prospect of continued drought. Can any thoughtful person say that farmers can accept a loan at 5 per cent interest, giving a lien on their 1931 crops which binds them to return the loan November 30, 1931? Farmers who borrow under such conditions, with no surety that they will make any crops, or crops good enough to clear the money loaned, are in a desperate condition—in debt, with no outlook to make enough to return the loan. Farmers had better struggle along without Federal aid on such terms.

Bankers will lend money to farmers at 6 per cent interest, and will extend the time usually. Banks make money by lending at 6 per cent interest. Does the Government seek to make 5 per cent interest on its loans to destitute farmers, who are striving to keep up their courage sufficiently to again entrust the dry earth with their future hopes for a crop?

I am a farmer who today sees my slim haystacks and burned-up fodder growing less daily, my cows chewing their cuds and little else, my fowls lacking a blade of anything green, and meager rations. All of my small farmer neighbors are in the same plight. We are brave and cheerful. We need money, but not loans that hold our uncertain crops by the throat, with a final squeeze in November. Let us keep free of borrowing on such terms. Some kind senators said, "Lend with no interest, and ten years to repay." That sounded like help.

Could the Red Cross see that artesian wells were provided in those terribly dry counties, the inhabitants could drive from far to get water. I know of families in Caroline County, Va., who had no water to drink—could not get it. My well is dry, but we have a noble spring still boiling up to save us. The crisis is not yet passed. With March winds, underfed animals will find it hard to live. Unless we have rain or snow shortly, the situation is alarming—but the Federal loan as it is brings no relief.

Lyells, Va.

Increase of Motor Car Accidents in Wet Weather Attributed to Defective Mentality.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a traffic accidents news article recently it was stated that one man was killed and several autoists and pedestrians were injured "as continued rain kept streets in a slippery condition, increasing driving perils." Similar statements are in order whenever rain, snow or sleet wet the asphalt.

Every time I read them my wonder is why motorists do not slow up when driving perils are increased by slippery conditions. And I am finally forced to the conclusion that the increase of traffic deaths and injuries in wet weather is evidence of defective mentality in a large part of the motoring public.

The minds of this class are habitually geared up to or beyond the speed limit and are too static, if that is the proper word, to be readily shifted to a safe speed limit to suit wet emergencies. Their mental faculties, instead of answering to normal self-control, are, it would seem, subject to the control of the machines they drive.

I suggest that it might be a good thing for the A. A. A. to start a campaign of education in this connection.

DAVID GOLDMAN.

Two Sides to the Proposal to Lop Off Emergency Officers' Disability Pay.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your common sense and sound judgment is again evidenced by the editorial entitled, "Veterans' Disability Pay," appearing in your issue of February 7. To hastily change a law affecting disabled veterans regardless of station or rank, without careful and thoughtful investigation and giving those concerned an opportunity to present their side of the question, is not only indefensible but incompatible with the policy of fairness and justice which the American people have established for their disabled of all wars.

Without going into either the merits or demerits of Senator Reed's amendment changing the emergency officers' retirement act, which, incidentally, was passed in 1928 by more than two-thirds of the members of both houses, it has long since been my observation and experience that there is always, at least, two sides to every question.

$200,000 PROPOSED FOR ROAD TERMINAL

Preliminary Approval Given for U. S. Purchase of Mall Property.

FAIRFAX GROUP OPPOSED

A bill providing for the payment of approximately $200,000 to R. L. May, sole owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway, by the Federal Government for tracks and a terminal in the Mall triangle area will be introduced in Congress just as soon as it is approved by the District Commissioners and the Treasury Department.

Preliminary approval was given to the measure, drafted by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, yesterday afternoon at a conference in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission. The action followed a series of meetings and negotiations with Mr. May, during which time an agreement was reached on the worth of the property to be removed to prepare for the Federal building program.

The price agreed upon was close to the estimate given by the engineering division of the Utilities Commission following a survey. Mr. May had asked more than $300,000 for the tracks and depot, it is understood.

The bill will also provide for the payment of about $50,000 to the Virginia line by the Washington Railway & Electric Co. for tracks on Fourteenth street between B and Water streets, which the Washington Railway has been using and will continue to use.

While Mr. May recently announced his intention of abandoning the entire railway, directors of the Arlington & Fairfax Railway, which uses the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington line tracks, have been seeking to block this move.

The Interstate Commerce Commission was yesterday called into the controversy after the utility commission told the directors that there was nothing it could do to prevent the closing of the railway. Le Roy H. Barnard, Lyon Park attorney, asked the Federal body to assume jurisdiction and to order a new track routing.

Among those who attended yesterday's conference, besides members of the Utilities Commission and Mr. Roberts, were Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission; Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, District coordinator, and representatives of the Treasury Department, the railway line and the City of Alexandria.

Reception to Be Given New Citizens of Capital

Foreign-born residents of Washington who recently received naturalization papers will be entertained tonight by the State Americanization committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Federated Women's Clubs of the District and the Americanization School Association, at a reception in the United States Chamber of Commerce quarters.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Associate Justice Jesse C. Adkins, of the Supreme Court of the District; Mrs. W. W. Husband, chairman of the Americanization committee of the Federated Women's Clubs; Mrs. E. C. Rittue, of the State Americanization committee, and Walter Lutz, of the Americanization committee. Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, of the Board of Education, will preside.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

IN addition to the lay public that has manifested so keen an interest in the production solely as a source of magnificent entertainment, the motion picture industry itself has been eagerly following the box-office career of "Cimarron," the picturization of the Edna Ferber novel now literally packing them in at the RKO-Keith Theater and every other theater in the country where it is on view, as a national barometer of the value of newspaper advertising.

Radio-Keith-Orpheum have now waged two Nation-wide advertising campaigns in the newspapers—the first on Amos 'n' Andy in "Check and Double Check;" the second on "Cimarron." On the first they expended a sum, total that is said to have been in excess of $175,000; on the second an amount inside $100,000. "Check and Double Check," by the very identity of its stars and the nationally popular nature of its subject matter, leaped immediately into record-breaking figures and then slumped with a suddenness that was disconcerting, to say the least, to its sponsors. "Cimarron," on the other hand, opened slowly to a national gross that was roughly $50,000 under the first week of its predecessor produced under the same auspices. The opening of the second week of release, however, showed "Cimarron" to have taken a spurt that set its gross considerably in advance of that of the Gosden and Correll picture for the same period. In other words, "Cimarron" is a consistent builder, whereas "Check and Double Check" was not.

In both instances it was the newspapers that made the Radio coffers bulge and it is highly probable that other companies will follow RKO's example and get similarly smart as to what constitutes the best medium through which to sell the public its screen fare.

As far as the run of "Cimarron" on Fifteenth street is concerned, the crowds have been so great the first week that it has been found necessary to admit the waiting throngs to the auditorium via the basement promenade lounge, two or three hundred at a time, to avoid serious congestion of traffic in front of the theater.

This, of course, makes Manager Harry Schreiber and his associates pretty mad!

This has been another week during which visiting firemen from near and far have engaged the attention of the talent no little.

For the opening of "Heat Wave" at the National Monday night, Lewis Warner, son of Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Bros., of which Stratford Productions, Inc., is a subsidiary, was on hand as a proxy for his dad.

Clocking the performance of Miss Betty Lawford, in the same production, was Monte Bell, former Washington newspaper man, stock actor and impresario, and more recently a motion picture director of note, who may have had something to do with the five-year movie contract under which Miss Lawford—remembered for a flawless performance in "Gentlemen of the Press," with Kay Francis and Walter Huston—is reported recently to have been placed.

A little later, Louis B. Mayer, vice president of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in charge of production; was an under-cover visitor, presumably combining a little politics and pleasure with his pussyfooting, he being a Republican national committeeman, or something.

And Grace Moore, costarred with Lawrence Tibbett in "New Moon," of course, concerted in our midst Tuesday afternoon, but owing to press of social engagements was unable to make even a fleeting appearance before her audience at the Palace.

Now, what has a table on the Rue de la Paix got on Washington, I ask you!

Terry Turner, one of the industry's better known exploiteers, formerly of the executive staff of M-G-M, will celebrate Washington's birthday by reopening the Strand Theater, corner of Ninth and D streets, for exclusive presentations of the foreign-made film, "Birth," once tentatively considered as a possible booking for the Little Theater during one of its periods of intermittent activity.

"Birth" is now playing to enormous business for the third consecutive week at the Hippodrome in Baltimore, where it is being advertised for adult audiences only. The picture was directed by E. Tisse in Switzerland with a wholly European cast, including the surgical and nursing staffs of the Woman's Hospital in Zurich. It is accompanied by a free embryological exhibit.

"Dracula," Universal's picturization of the novel by Bram Stoker on which the stage play also was founded, was previewed last midnight by members of the press and other invited guests at the Rialto.

In addition to Bela Lugosi, the cast of principals includes Helen Chandler and David Manners in the roles in which the romantic intereste of the eerie play centers. The last previous association of these two able young players was in "Mothers Cry," with Dorothy Peterson, at the Metropolitan.

Plans for the public inaugural of this terrifying subject are thoroughly in keeping with its power to chill the blood of even the most blase fan.

It will be publicly presented for the first time tomorrow midnight. Friday, the 13th! Br-r-r-r!

The complete roster for next week in the downtown, first-run sector, in case that is what you have been worrying about, is as follows: Earle, Bernice Claire in "Kiss Me Again," adapted from "Mlle. Modiste," by Victor Herbert, and on the stage in person to headline the vaudeville bill, Palace, Joan Crawford in "Paid," the screen version of Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law," and customary stage revue. Fox, George O'Brien and Marion Lessing in "The Seas Beneath," and Panchon and Marco's "Modes of Hollywood" revue. Rialto, Bela Lugosi in "Dracula." RKO-Keith's, Richard Dix and Irene Dunne in "Cimarron," second week Columbia, Ronald Colman in "The Devil to Pay," second week. Metropolitan, Saturday through Tuesday, Dorothy Mackaill in "Once a Sinner;" Wednesday to Saturday, Marion Davies in "The Bachelor Father."

After a brief lay off, enforced by a sudden attack of laryngitis, Kate Smith returned to her featured spot on the vaudeville bill at the Earle Theater at last night's first performance.

This laryngitis business is a persistent jinx of Kate's. It kept her out of "Flying High," the George White production in which she was featured with Bert Lahr for a year on Broadway, for a continuous period of several weeks and on a recent visit back home in Washington was bothering her to such an extent that her guest appearance with Rudy Vallee on the Fleischmann radio hour was seriously threatened.

Thomas Heighan, long time motion picture star, will leave New York on Sunday to resume acting before the cameras and microphones after an absence of almost two years. He left New Port Ritchie, Fla., for Gotham yesterday, preparatory to starting a new contract with Fox which calls for his appearance first in a screen version of "Young Sinners," the play which was supposed to have returned to the Belasco Theater recently, but didn't.

And on Tuesday, Ina Claire, the former Miss Fegan, of Washington, left New York for Hollywood, home and housband, turned her ravishing back on Broadway and the stage forever. At least "forever" is what an announcement from the Samuel Goldwyn office says. She will rejoin her husband, John Gilbert, and begin the fulfillment of a five-year picture contract.

It ought to be possible to brew something out of that about a lot of jack!

FOX

"THE SEAS BENEATH." Fox picturization of a story by Commander James Parker, jr., (retired); starring George O'Brien, supported by Marion Lessing and Warren Hymer. Staged by William Collier, sr.; directed by John Ford. Reviewed Wednesday afternoon by Bob Considine.

There is as much heroism in this play as there is water. Written by Commander James Parker (retired) the piece bristles with the peculiar brand of enthusiasm shown for the Navy by Navy men. There are pep talks under fire which smack a bit of the old ten, twent', thirt', and in the midst of the bombardment Old Glory rears her proud colors into the air, when it seemed every hand on board the burning boat should have been busy putting out the fire before the magazines were reached.

George O'Brien, as Capt. Bob Kingsley, swashes a buck or two in the progress of the opus. He was consistently brave. In fact, bravery sold for a dime a dozen. No weaklings were on board the "Q" boat, whose destination was the submarine territory and Capt. Bob's more particular destination the sinking of the U-172, the wolf of the seven seas. seas.

The picture fails to touch the cords which "Men Without Women" stroked. And mostly because the whole cast is brave. In the womenless masterpiece there were men who broke under the strain of the twin devils of hunger and suffocation, but only stalwart mastheads of virility were asked to report for "Beneath the Seas."

The only movie spy never shot is the heroine of the play, one Anna Marie, a fulsome blonde whose German lines were as fluent as her own. Marion Lessing is generally convincing as the German spy who in the end gives up the pleading Mr. O'Brien to administer to her "wounded country."

The submarine scenes are excellent, especially those within the U-172, where we have a full measure of sweating and strainned hard-shaven Teuton heads peering into a periscope, men climbing out the hatch and working the myriad gadgets and widgets which line the inner walls of every respectible sub.

The heroism spoken of earlier is, democratically enough, and perhaps with an eye to the sale of the film in Germany, not confined to the U. S. sailormen. The Germans are a courteous and interesting bunch, not an out and out villian in the lot.

The supporting bill remains the same as started the week through today.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Secession Hinted In Australian Row

Western Premier Makes Threat in Commonwealth Policy Fight.

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—A hint that western Australia may seek separation from the commonwealth was given by the state premier, Sir James Mitchell, in a public statement today.

He voiced strong opposition to the financial rehabilitation plan of the commonwealth treasurer, E. G. Theodore, which he said meant wholesale inflation, and added that if it were persisted in western Australia would be forced to reconsider her position within the commonwealth.

The Theodore plan rejects any reduction of wages and involves an operation for restoring the value of Australian currency to its 1929 mark. Another feature embraces negotiations for the reduction of interest rates on Great Britain's war loans to the commonwealth. These were begun by Prime Minister Scullin today.

Three Youths to Take Tests for West Point

Three young men who led a list of twenty recently examined for admission to West Point were named yesterday by the District Commissioners to take the test for the selection of one candidate to fill the vacancy in the District quota that will occur the end of the present academic year.

The youths, in the order of their standing, are J. S. B. Dick, 17 years old, son of Capt. W. W. Dick, War Department; J. W. Totten, 18, 1454 Rhode Island avenue, and D. G. Fries, 17, 3305 Woodley road, son of Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, retired, former chief of the Chemical Warfare Service.

Park Band Concerts For Summer Planned

Service band concerts at the Sylvan Theater and suburban parks are being planned on the same basis as last year for this summer at the office of public buildings and public parks, Lieut. F. B. Butler, assistant director, said yesterday.

Fewer concerts at the foot of the Washington Monument and an increase in number at the smaller parks was considered because of a changed trend in attendance ascribed largely to broadcasting of the Sylvan Theater concerts. "If the attendance on the Monument Grounds does not improve this summer," Lieut. Butler said, "we will probably discontinue the concerts there."

Edison, 84, Finds Trend Is Upward

Inventor Refers to Turn as Start of Three-Year Move to Old Level.

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Thomas A. Edison, 84 years old today, said business has started a three-year trend toward regaining the level of activity that prevailed before the depression. The answer was to the question: "How long will it take the country to make the ascent?"

Asked what would be the proper course for an honest, hard working man who could not obtain a job, even when his family was in need, the inventor said:

"That's a sticker. Turn him over to the Red Cross, which represents us all."

Philadelphia Firm Bids Low on Red Cross Work

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, will submit a recommendation to President Hoover that the bid of McCloskey & Co., of Philadelphia, to erect the Red Cross office building, be accepted.

The Philadelphia concern's bid of $693,460 was found to be the lowest of almost a dozen opened a few days ago at a conference yesterday of representatives of the Red Cross, the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, and Trowbridge & Livingston, architects of the building. The structure is to be five stories high, with a marble front. It will be located behind the present Red Cross headquarters.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 12, 1906.

Many institutions, churches and organizations in all parts of the city are celebrating Lincoln's birthday.

Two women leaped twenty feet from a second-story window at the home of D. Howe, 2044 E street northwest, when an oil stove exploded after accidentally overturning and setting fire to the woodwork.

Mrs. Hannah A. Washburn, widow of former Gov. William B. Washburn, died at her home in Greenfield, Mass., at the age of 82.

The eighth anniversary of the death of Frances E. Willard was observed at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

YOUTHFUL MR. PEGLER.

I WISH to take issue with Westbrook Pegler. He writes that engaging in out-of-door sports is more hazardous than drinking red liquor in a barroom. To begin with, my learned friend does not know the danger of drinking red liquor in a barroom except for what he has read in books. He is too young to know personally about barrooms and is without qualifying experience in packing red liquor. It is never safe to accept book learning on its face. In the second place, he bases his opinion solely on accidents. It is admitted that not many drinkers are fatally choked in swallowing spittoons, on the one hand, and that ski jumpers sometimes break their legs, on the other. But that is only a part of the story and one of small importance. The great benefits from outdoor winter sports are classed as indirect benefits.

Pneumonia is the great winter hazard and this disease has many relatives. The family group exact a fearful toll. Winter sports is an outstanding enemy of old man pneumonia and his family. One reason for winter-spring pneumonia is too much housing. People go into the short, dark, dry season with a moderate bank account of resistance. They draw on this account in November and December, and before January is over they are nearly bankrupt. A few hours occasionally spent in ski jumping, snowshoeing, sleighing, or skating will replenish the checking account.

In the summer season the days are longer and the light is brighter and better, yet few people try to get through a summer without some hours of golf weekly, or tennis play, or exposure of some sort. If we need fresh air and sunlight in summer—and we do—we need it ten times as much in winter.

I hope readers will see that this battle with Mr. Pegler is not real. He wrote about one kind of hazard. I write of another. Mine is a bigger hazard than his and the need of remedying matters is urgent.

PIMPLES ON THE FACE.

A. C. writes: Are pimples on the face the result of bad blood or does bad blood usually manifest itself by boils and pimples on the back? I have heard that soap can cause pimples. Is this true? I am 16 years old and have been troubled with pimples lately. I would be grateful for any treatment you could advise.

REPLY.

The condition of the blood has no relation to pimples. Soap cures but does not cause them.

Among contributing causes of pimples are lack of cleanliness of the face, insufficient exposure to cold, rain, snow and air; physical inactivity, constipation, diet, age. Keeping the face very clean and massaging and squeezing out the grease will cure some cases.

Envoy Totten To Stay Here Till March 1

U. S. Minister to Africa Has Been Ill in Alabama.

Mr. Ralph Totten, United States Minister to South Africa, who arrived in Washington a day or two ago, will remain in town until March 1, when he will sail for his post. Mr. Totten is entirely recovered from illness which kept him "a prisoner" in Birmingham, Ala., for several months, making inroads upon his plans, which had included some time allotted to a visit in Colorado as well as his home in Nashville, Tenn.

Another visiting envoy of the foreign service is Mr. Carl D. Meinhardt, Consul at Tsinan, China, who will be in Washington a few days before going to New York. He will sail for China within a short time to resume the post to which he was appointed last May.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel K. Martin are passing a few days at the St. Regis in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley P. Wilson, who are spending the winter in California, will return to Washington about March 17.

Mrs. Sidney Clopman left yesterday for Palm Beach, to join Mrs. E. Hope Slater. Mrs. Clopman's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Prichett, will occupy her house until her return from the South at the end of March.

Republican Women Coming for Party.

Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, president of the Republican Club, of Philadelphia, will come to Washington tomorrow for the Valentine luncheon to be given by the League of Republican Women. Other arrivals for the event include Mrs. M. M. Caldwell, Republican committee-woman of Virginia and Mrs. Frank H. Batchelder, vice chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State committee.

Mrs. David O. Mears Visiting Mrs. DuBois.

Mrs. Fred T. DuBois, who has taken an apartment at Kew Gardens, has as a house guest Mrs. David O. Mears, of Essex, Mass. Mrs. Mears is the honorary national vice preident of the Parent-Teacher Association and came to Washington to attend the executive meeting of the board. She will attend the breakfast given in honor of Mrs. Hoover today by the Congressional Club as the guest of Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, wife of the senator from Montana, and Mrs. DuBois.

Mrs. Mears' father was Joseph Grinnell, representative from Iowa during the Lincoln administration, and a personal friend of Lincoln. He founded the City of Grinnell, Iowa, and established Grinnell College. He also was one of the founders of the First Congregational Church in Washington.

Mrs. G. L. Finley will be hostess at luncheon at the Shoreham Hotel today.

The seventh annual ball of the Emergency Hospital Alumni Association was held last evening in the Salon de Bal Moderne of the Shoreham Hotel. About 600 guests were present.

Mrs. Wesley Clarke, president of the association, was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Victor Kaufman, Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis and other Washingtonians are on the list of guarantors for the Doris Humphrey-Charles Weidman dance recital which will take place at McKinley Auditorium, Second and T streets northeast, tonight at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Gloria Sacasa, daughter of the Minister of Nicaragua, and Mme. Sacasa, will attend the concert.

The Notre Dame Alumni Association held a dance last evening in the gold room at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Savage have arrived at the Powhatan from Honolulu.

High Nuptial Mass Feature Of Wedding

Margaret Mary Brown Becomes Bride of E. P. Sehreier.

Miss Margaret Mary Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Philip Brown, was married yesterday to Mr. Edwin Philip Schreier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Arthur Schreier, of Stafford Springs, Conn. The ceremony which was performed at the Shrine of the Most Blessed Sacrament, by the Rev. Thomas G. Smythe, pastor, at 11 o'clock, was followed by a high nuptial mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of eggshell satin made with close-fitting lines, trimmed with duchess lace, and with a circular skirt, with a train falling from the waist. Her veil was of tulle with a duchess lace cap and she carried a sheaf of calla lilies. She wore a diamond brooch that was a wedding present to her mother on the occasion of the latter's marriage.

The maid of honor was Miss Helen Schreier, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a gown of flesh-color taffeta and a nile green hat with slippers to match. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of shaded pink flowers in a lace holder.

Mr. John E. Miller, of Cleveland, Ohio, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. Raymond T. Brown, brother of the bride; Mr. Wade F. Hall, Mr. S. Albert Mickler, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Michael A. Patterson, all of Washington.

A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride immediately followed the ceremony, at which the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Brown, who wore a dress of black lace with a chiffon flounce, made very long in the skirt and with cowl neck and long sleeves. She wore a corsage of gardenias. Miss Agnes Schreier, sister of the bridegroom, also received in a gown of black chiffon.

As her going-away costume the bride wore a dress of blue crepe with vestee and cuffs of hand-cut work and a beige coat trimmed with lapin. Her hat was of blue straw braid and her shoes beige.

Their residence will be at 2854 Connecticut avenue.

Just a Whisper to the Apt-To-Be Thoughtless Male
MEN, of course, seldom take Valentine's Day seriously—but women do! . . . In your hustling business world it may seem a rather foolish, unimportant thing—but it means a great deal to her . . . she will remember, so don't you forget. If you let this of all days pass unnoticed, she's very likely to feel slighted. Send her a basket or bouquet of Gude's Flowers—sweet peas, violets, carnations, roses, orchids, gardenia or the ever welcome potted tulips, azalea, primrose and begonia.

ROMAN Catholics in every part of the globe may hear the first pronouncement ever made over the radio by a head of the Catholic Church when His Holiness Pope Pius XI is heard from the Vatican City, Rome, this morning. The occasion is the dedication of the new papal radio station, HVJ, the gift of Senatore Guglielmo Marconi.

Both networks of the NBC and the CBS will distribute the program throughout America (WRC, WMAL, 10:30 a. m.) and American short wave transmitters will rebroadcast the signals for the benefit of the countries unable to receive the Vatican station direct. All the ingenuity of the radio engineers will be used to make this world broadcast a success.

The Pope is expected to speak, in Latin, at about 10:45 a. m., Eastern Standard time, after having pressed all the switches necessary to setting the new transmitter in operation. Translators will repeat his words in the modern languages while the Pope is en route to the Vatican Academy. At the academy Pope Pius will hold a short audience, which also will be broadcast.

PRESIDENT HOOVER will pay tribute to Abraham Lincoln in an address to be carried by all the facilities of both national networks at 10 o'clock this evening. The President will speak from the Lincoln study on the second floor of the White House, the room Lincoln used as his office.

From a microphone placed in the room where Lincoln died, Lewis G. Reynolds, custodian of the Lincoln Museum, in Tenth street, will take listeners on a word tour of that national shrine (WMAL, 5 p. m.).

A CELEBRATION under the auspices of the Lincoln Memorial University this afternoon (WRC, 1:30 p. m.) will include addresses by Vice President Charles Curtis, Secretary of Labor Doak, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Gen. Frank T. Hines and Ira E. Bennett, editor of The Washington Post.

The leading barristers of the country will gather here tonight for the Federal Bar Association dinner, at which Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, K. C., minister of justice, and Attorney General William D. Mitchell will be the speakers (WRC, 9 p. m.).

The lamentable condition of drought ravaged Arkansas and her sister States in the Southwest will be briefly described by Gov. Harvey E. Parnell in a speech to be broadcast from the executive mansion in Little Rock tonight (WJZ net work, 9:30 p. m.). Judge John Barton Payne will speak from Washington.

National and World-Wide Broadcasts Today

10:30 a. m. (WRC, WMAL)—Address by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, from Rome, Italy.

1:30 p. m. (WRC)—Addresses by Vice President Charles Curtis, Secretary of Labor Doak, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Gen. Frank T. Hines and Ira Bennett—annual celebration of Lincoln's Birthday.

5:00 p. m. (WMAL)—Reynolds' Lincoln Birthday Broadcast.

9:00 p. m. (WRC)—Federal Bar Association Dinner—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Hon. Hugh Guthrie and Attorney General William D. Mitchell, speakers.

10:00 p. m. (WRC, WMAL)—"Abraham Lincoln," by President Herbert Hoover from Lincoln Study in the White House.

AGE Full Range Radio Round-Up is the way the invitations, which bear the name of Frank N. Chase, of the Ge Ranch, describe the party for General Electric dealers and salesmen from this territory, to be held at 622 D street southwest, this evening, beginning at 7 o'clock.

The Jenkins television station—call W3XK—operating on 2,065 kilocycles, is on the air five evenings each week, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

With the money-making machines of the Government Bureau of Engraving and Printing whirring in the background, Alvin W. Hall, director, will tell "How United States Paper Money Is Made" tomorrow afternoon (WMAL, 3:45 p. m.).

ST. JOHN ERVINE'S "Jane Clegg," with Margaret Wycherley and Ernest Cossort, will be the Radio Guild offering tomorrow afternoon (WRC, 4:10 p. m.).

Raymond Knight will again be master of ceremonies with the Eskimos tomorrow evening (WRC, 9 p. m.).

From the Florence Herald:

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, Feb. 11.

"THEY say every year that prints are out, and every year we keep right on selling them," said the handsome young man I was asking questions of and buying materials from—(with a superdefunct bank balance). This being at no less an important place in the fabric world than Bianchini-Ferier, I consider his observation important. Yet upon my own conclusion I must say that prints are not as all-important as they were a few seasons ago, although there's no reason why they should ever actually go out of style. For women have at last learned how to buy and wear prints, not just buying a print because it is a print, but selecting the color and design for a particular gown or a particular part of an ensemble.

• • • •

Naturally you can not put much handwork on garments made of printed fabrics. This is perhaps the reason why prints have lost a little of their overwhelming popularity. For embroidery and handwork of all sorts, oh, very discreetly done, my deah, and not just simply covered over haphazardly with handwork, has very much returned to favor.

I thought of this when I saw one summer dress stitched up and down to give the effect of stripes * * * all this handwork in the place of what would have been a few seasons ago just a plain material printed in stripes. And then there are so many of those little yokes, collars and cuffs embroidered in tiny strawberries or cherries, which at half a block away look as though they were printed but are instead very painstakingly embroidered.

• • • •

White, you know, is undoubtedly the coming summer's leading color, but also it must be touched with color to be smart. You can decide now whether you will have lots of white dresses with colored accessories, or white accessories with colored dresses, and also whether your summer coat had better be white or colored. I'm in favor of the colored coat with a white dress, so I designed an ensemble for you today with a sleeveless dress of white surrah, a separate bolero lined in blue which has a blue silk boutonniere that just matches the blue leather belt with its white patent leather boutonniere in place of a buckle. And the coat to go with this is blue, with a white patent leather belt and buttons for trimming, which is lined in the white surrah * * * the coat, I mean. The surrah shows in the lapels. How's that for the trip I may take to California in a few weeks when I leave my dear frigid Paris.

• • • •

Hurry up! Hurry up! Hurry up! You still have time to send your stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet telling how to make all the decorations for a Queen of Hearts Valentine Party, and all the directions for a Queen of Hearts costume. Yes, and you still have time to make both the costume and the decorations for the party!

And in case you're not valentining this year, the leaflet will do very well for novel decorations for a bridge party, because the Queen of Hearts, after all, was a year-round old lady, wasn't she?

• • • •

There's always a goodly number of helpful suggestions in Dare's weekly fashion letter—and you can find it every Sunday in the big Sunday Post.

Au revoir.

Representative's Puppy Lost.

Representative Guinn Williams, of Texas, who lives on Runnymede place northwest near Broad Branch road, told police that a white collie puppy had strayed from his home yesterday. Police said that a man in an automobile truck was seen to pick up the dog.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

The Sister Triangle.

IF you read this column as regularly as you should, you have probably been wondering about the 30-year-old teacher who wrote that she had struggled to send her kid sister through college, postponing her own marriage to do so, and now finds young sister trying her wiles successfully upon big sister's one and only man. We advised her to find better material for a life partner regardless of whether he regretted his ready response to opportunity or not. He sounded perfectly insane to our ear.

But every one disagrees with us. Meanwhile the girl herself has written again. She says that she can not stand the strain. Her lover says one thing but acts another. He begs her to marry him at once, but never takes his eyes from her sister who manages always to be around when he is. The younger sister has calmly asked her to break her engagement as "love is the only thing that makes one person belong to another." The idea being that the hero now loves only her. Well, we would not give a German mark for five or six lovers like this one. But as we have remarked before, our ideas should not be taken too seriously as we are peculiarly geared to something.

Meanwhile, these two girls from Quincy, Mass., have something to think about. Some of the advice sent them follows:

"Please tell that girl to marry her man and get him safely out of the path of that little smart Aleck sister. About 10 years ago I had a similar heartache. The girl was a cousin. She dared me to get him back again. Told me he had told her he was tiring, anyway, long before she came and had me nearly in a state of collapse. My father took a hand. My sweetheart said he had just kissed her a few times and she was his. I hated him for months after our marriage, but my Dad gave us no choice. We were forced to go on with the wedding—which was only two weeks off. All our honeymoon we never spoke. Well, in a month he had forgotten there ever was such a person. And you should see her now. A sight. We often see her and laugh over what he escaped. Tell Quincy not to give up her man. It is not being done."

And from another woman:

"What in the world were you thinking of to tell that girl to give up her fiance to her kid sister? What if they had been married? That kid can not have every man she sees and wants and she might as well learn it now as at any other time. Pack her back to wherever she came from and let her steal somebody else's man, but not the husband of the sister who has already sacrificed enough for her. She is the makings of a bad woman and she should be told a few things for her own good and then sent packing. The ingrate."

A man has some wisdom to offer:

"While this fine young woman deserves a greater devotion than her intended husband seems capable of giving to any one, it would still seem that she should marry him rather than hope to find the devotion she deserves. After all she has not attracted men in the past and is not likely to now with the sense of inferiority that the dereliction of her lover would impose. He will forget the heedless youngster who has started all this turmoil and she will unquestionably forget him even sooner. The only one hurt beyond repair will be the generous sister who has spent her youth educating this self-centered little creature who expects now a sacrifice far too great for any woman to be asked to make.

"Years ago I was unfaithful to a glorious woman. She scorned my act to such extent we were never reconciled. My life was blasted for my feeling for her was so intense that nothing even her scorn could kill it. And her reaction to my cross behavior was such that a perfect creature was transformed into a woman so heartless that she deliberately evoked my pleadings for the sheer pleasure of refusing me. This lasted fourteen years.

During all that time I could have had the one who came between us but the very thought of her was repugnant to me. In the end my dear one married again, ending my hopes forever. Had we surmounted our problem and dismissed it, we might have had a happy life—instead of the wreck of a life that has been ours. For once I differ with your judgment in advising this girl to forget the only man in her life because of one deviation from the path of strict devotion. Their marriage at once would wipe out every other thought and make the present difficulty become merely an amusing incident rather than a tragedy." D. X.

Well, what to do? Take a faltering lover to the altar? Or check him with the other woman until he stops wobbling? Our idea of nothing at all is a lover who is here today and gone tomorrow.

Can we have a vote on this?

How many women would take this trembling hero as is?

How many would make sister a present of him?

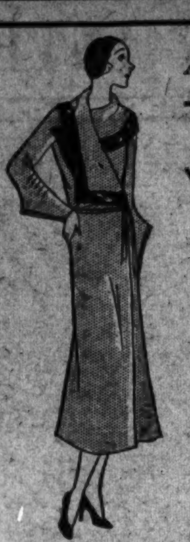

How many would do as we suggested—give him his freedom and vacate the scene until he made up his mind?

He can not possibly be the last man left in Quincy, Mass., although if he were we would be inclined to leave him there.

Will some reader wiser than this column conductor kindly dispose of this swain justly but withal humanely?

Two sisters alone in the world wait your advice.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me what season of the year hydrangeas should be pruned. Also, the name of the inclosed specimen. Is it an annual or a perennial? MRS. J. S. W.

French hybrid hydrangeas (large blue or pink-flowered varieties) bloom on wood made the previous season and should only be pruned when the plants become too large and are, therefore, cut back to reduce their size. Hardy shrub varieties bloom on wood made the same season, so should be pruned in late fall or early spring. The leaf and flower you inclosed are from a variety of stocks, likely crimson king. The plant is an annual.

Will an ice plant grow in a room where there is no sun. How often must I water this plant? MRS. W. L.

The ice plant (mesembryan) will exist in a sunless room, but will grow better in a sunny one. Water the plant whenever you see the surface soil in the pot is dry.

Please tell me how to care for an English ivy in a steam-heated apartment. It is at present about ten or twelve inches long and in a very small pot, just as it came from the florist. J. M. W.

Keep the plant in a light but not too sunny window. Water it every day and spray the foliage about twice a week to prevent it becoming attacked by mealy bug. The first indication of this pest is a shiny, sticky film which covers the leaves.

Please tell me whether it is wise to make it routine treatment to repot a fern once a year. HANNAH T. P.

No; a fern should only be moved into a larger pot when it is potbound. As a rule, ferns do not take kindly to having their roots disturbed.

Last fall when I prepared some ground for a madonna lily I found the soil infested with white grubs. Is there anything I could have used to get rid of these pests? MISS ALICE H. T.

Had you saturated the ground with liquid Bordeaux mixture and also used this material in dry form, incorporating it with the soil, you would, no doubt, have got rid of these worms.

Please tell me when a Jerusalem cherry is apt to flower. I have a plant about 2 inches high which I started from some seed. MRS. CARL C.

The Jerusalem cherry usually sets its fruit in the late summer; it ripens after the plant is indoors. After it sets fruit, keep in a cool but very sunny place, as too much dry, warm air always causes the fruit to fall off.

I am inclosing a leaf of a coleus plant of which I am very fond. Please tell me what to do to save the plant from the insect which you can see has attacked it. RACHEAL T. Y.

Your coleus has been attacked by mealy bug. Better begin to spray it regularly with cold, soapy water. With such treatment you will soon get rid of these insects. Coleus are prone to attacks of mealy bug.

Please tell me the name of the inclosed leaf and flower from a most beautiful plant. It has just been given to me. MRS. T. H. Y.

Cyclamen. Keep the plant well watered and in a light but not too sunny a place. Sun four hours a day will suit it.

AN EASY HAND THAT SOME DECLARERS MUFFED.

F-91

With the above hand at Auction Bridge South would bid one No Trump, West would double, North would pass, East would bid two Clubs and South (probably) two No Trumps.

The hand was played at a Progressive Duplicate Contract game, and at all the tables South bid three No Trumps. In one or two cases West doubled for business, and in one case North redoubled. North based his redouble upon the fact that South must have a count of 21 and that North had a count of 4 for two Queens plus the value of a five-card suit headed by a Queen. He knew that about 8 times out of 9 a combined count of 24 will make three No Trumps; but overlooked the possibility of West's having a suit which could be established with the loss of one trick, and having a Spade entry to run that suit.

However, West was not that fortunate, and at all the tables he started by leading the Trey of Spades. It should have been an easy hand for a Declarer to play. All he had to do was win the first Spade trick with the Ace (not the Jack), and then lead the Jack. If West did not cover, he could overtake with dummy's Queen and continue the suit. Of course the Queen of Clubs in the North hand was a sure entry; and played in that way the Declarer would have no difficulty in taking four Spades, one Heart and four Clubs—nine tricks.

However, at quite a number of the tables the Declarer threw away a sure game by blindly winning the first trick with the Jack of Spades. One entry was insufficient to enable dummy to establish the Spades and cash them.

What Today Means to You

"AQUARIUS."

IF February 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:15 a. m., and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Very relaxing influences will be in force on this date, and there will be a tendency to "slack" where work is concerned. Your vitality will be low and you should run no health risks. Those engrossed in love affairs will have ample proof of the fact that "True love never does run smooth."

The child born on this February 12 will have some of the traits of their birthday hero, Abraham Lincoln. They will be sincere, honest and sympathetic, and will be fighters for justice for themselves and others. They will love to argue, and will have ready wit, and a fluent tongue. They will suffer from occasional fits of depression.

You have a very subtle and flexible mind, and are sharp and quick in the uptake. Yours is a slap-dash brilliancy which enables you to win many small prizes, but which will never carry you to the top of the ladder, or to the peaks in a profession. The big successes, which require dull, dogged concentration which refuses to be hurried or put off the job, never go to one of your temperament. Your butterfly methods of doing things, flitting quickly from one thing to another, in thought and action, enables you to cover a vast number of interests. You do not know what single-mindedness is—you seem to have a phenomenal capacity for being in several places at once. You have the capacity of enjoying life, and of cramming your days full of events and pleasures. Your nerves are seldom on edge, and you are indifferent to petty annoyances. You are fond of small talk, and your geniality assures you many friends. You trust other people almost too much, and you are willing to let anybody do your job who is willing to take it on. You can not be bothered about details, and you are not "fussy."

As a woman, you are a homemaker, if not a born housekeeper, and you will be a good pal to your husband and children. You entertain easily, and others feel at home in your house. As a man, you will always be popular among your business associates—a veritable peace maker.

Miss De Boe Appeals In New Trial's Denial

Los Angeles, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Daisy de Boe began her fight to escape a jail sentence for the theft of $825 from Clara Bow, film actress whom she served as secretary, by filing an appeal today from a decision denying her a new trial.

Miss de Boe, granted probation for five years on condition that she serve eighteen months in the county jail, alleged among other things her conviction by a jury was reached by "lot or chance."

The Life Story of Gen. Wood

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

CHAPTER XI.

"Every day's events are contributing to the irresistible strength of the Wood boom," wrote William Allen White in November, 1919. "Wood epitomizes safety from all the dangers that beset the land. He is incarnate law and order in a world drifting toward anarchy. 'Other refuge have we none. Hangs our helpless soul on thee' sing the country to Leonard Wood.

"Leonard Wood is the political man of the hour. More than any other American he represents the need of the times. He is the epitome of the need of America today."

Wherever Wood went, he was received with the enthusiasm with which a man in a bog receives the rescuer's hand.

"There seems to me to be a stronger popular desire to get the most competent man possible into the Presidency than I have ever seen before," Root wrote Wood. "This clearly makes in your favor."

The Republican politicians, it happened, did not share the popular fervor. They had no intention of nominating Wood or any one else whose mind and character diverged conspicuously from the political type. They had learned nothing and forgotten nothing; the war had passed over their heads like a summer storm. If they could have their way, the party would ignore the issues of reconstruction in 1920 as it had ignored the issues of the European conflict in 1916, and dust over the old hobgoblins, refurbish the old slogans. These men did not want Wood; they wanted Harding. "That's the program; the good old stuff of the good old days, to be taken care of by the good old boys." Inconceivable asked an astute political observer. Wait and see."

Harding Held Dangerous.

"Keep your eye on Harding," Henry L. Stimson wrote Wood. "The gossip I get here is that his candidacy is more dangerous than you evidently anticipated, and is being aimed directly at you."

While the reactionaries were maneuvering against Wood because they thought him too progressive, some of the Progressives were fighting him because they thought the reactionaries wanted him.

But he had devoted friends. His candidacy attracted everywhere the vigorous young men whom his preparedness gospel had first drawn together in the Plattsburgh movement, men of enthusiasm and wealth, college graduates in the main, successful business men, lawyers, writers, playwrights; most of them veterans of the war. It was a singularly high-minded group, but politically naive, being under the delusion that public opinion was of consequence in the nomination of a President.

They formed a Leonard Wood Non-partisan League, with headquarters in New York and Chicago and branches in all the States. They were convinced that Wood was the only man on the political horizon whose character and record seemed to indicate that he was capable of handling adequately the intricate problems of reconstruction, and set to work to prove their case with the same fervor with which they had pleaded for preparedness or sold Liberty bonds or organized their countrymen in behalf of the Red Cross. This was just another patriotic campaign; they had the technique at their finger tips; so much organization here, so much publicity there, committees everywhere. They knew so much and missed the one significant truth, that what Wood's candidacy needed was not the whirlwind, but wisdom's still, small voice.

King His Political Mentor.

Wood had, indeed, a political mentor, such as he was. John T. King, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, was a politician out of the story book, a bland, curly-headed Irishman who had achieved influence as garbage contractor of Bridgeport; and, as boss of its unsavory ruling class, was serviceable to the owners of the city's huge industrial plants, organizing committees of bruisers who met labor agitators at the railroad station and turned them back with expressive words. He had self-assurance, suavity and even charm of a sort; but if he had wit he concealed it, and his brown beady eyes did not seduce the wary. He dressed faultlessly and was always almost aggressively barbered and manicured.

Roosevelt had met King at a political rally in Bridgeport in 1916, and, having had his fill of political ideals in the preceding five or six years, had given him a gusty welcome as a kind of ambassador extraordinary from the courts of the unregenerate. He used him on political errands. He knew King's past and recognized its limitations. "I like John King," he had a way of saying. "We have a perfect working arrangement. John supplies the efficiency and I supply the morals."

The fact that King had been close to Roosevelt carried weight with Wood. Roosevelt's sister, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, gave him a word of warning. Roosevelt could handle King because, in the great game, King was a child compared to Roosevelt, and knew it. But with Wood King would attempt to be the guide, and in that situation would Wood be able to exercise the necessary control?

Wood, who in his own field could control men with his little finger, was certain that he could keep King on a leash. King, indeed, did useful work as a kind of scout on reconnaissance, but he revealed his limitations as the campaign entered a more complex stage. He opposed any organization whatsoever, insisting on playing a lone game and refusing to report, except in general terms, what results he was achieving. Here and there he pursued personal grudges. There were rumors that he was making large promises.

The lawyers and business men who were flocking to Wood's standard did not trust King, and remarked in tones of finality that their support remained contingent on the selection of a campaign manager whose probity could not be brought in question. "A man who was good enough for Roosevelt," Wood declared, "is good enough for me." But Root and Stimson and other powerful friends were insistent. King was useful, but, as Wood's representative before the public, impossible.

The name of William Cooper Procter, of Cincinnati, was suggested, a philanthropist whose donation of $500,000 to Princeton University for a graduate school had precipitated the controversy which had lifted Woodrow Wilson out of the presidency of Princeton and into the White House.

Proctor Pleads Inexperience.

Proctor demurred, conscious of his inexperience in the political field. Wood urged him to serve, declaring, possibly ironically, that he would not lack expert advice. Proctor detested Wilson, and found, possibly in the elevation of Wood, a prospect of poetic justice that was irresistible. At a conference with Wood in Chicago at which King was present, he declared that he would serve, but only on condition that he would be head, not only of the popular organization, but of the entire movement. Wood agreed and King acquiesced.

Friction developed almost instantly. Throughout the length and breadth of the land, it would have been difficult to have found a man who offered a sharper contrast to King than the high-minded, almost ascetic manufacturer. King had been educated in the rough-and-tumble of the world; Proctor was a college graduate who had led an admirable but sheltered life; a man of affairs whose relations to his fellows were those of an employer or an associate in large enterprises in which the brain governed, human nature played only an incidental part, and the emotions entered not at all. He was rigid and dogmatic where King was suave and insinuating. His fine, clean-cut features, his steady, cold eyes could not conceal what his upright soul thought of this product of the back alley who had, not impossibly, committed three-fourths of the cardinal sins, but under stood his fellow man. King had for Proctor not only the contempt of the expert for the tyro, but the scorn of the man who has lived in the seething center of life for the man who remains on the rim.

Stimson the Peacemaker.

On Stimson developed the perplexing duty of keeping peace between the idealist and the pragmatist. The differences between Proctor and King, indeed, went deeper than any question of conflicting temperaments. King was convinced that the way to "get results" was to round up delegates by a canvass practically confined to political managers in the various States, to be followed by back-room negotiations at the convention. Proctor, backed by the inexperienced but high-spirited group which had founded the Wood League, was determined to take the issue to the people. Wood, convinced that if he had an opportunity to submit himself and his record for scrutiny to the public, he would receive its support, decided, as the New York Tribune picturesquely put it, "in favor of open verdicts openly arrived at."

To Mrs. Robinson, who expressed the fear that the amateurs were running away with his campaign, Wood wrote:

"Frankly, we are not so much embarrassed by lack of men of experience as we are by lack of coordination of our experienced men on common lines of effort. Some of them have the characteristics of prima donnas. They do not want to appear together, work together, or do anything in which they do not play the leading role."

Proctor revised first of all the plan of publicity. Newspaper publicity was good so far as it went, he declared, "but we must go at this thing with a larger vision." There must be a great advertising campaign. Friends of Wood protested that Wood needed no advertising and that any such flamboyant presentation would do him more harm than good; and protested in vain. A corps of writers sent out highly-colored romances and countless photographs of Wood intended to make the public forget that this man was a soldier. The man they exhibited was always in civilian dress with all the signs of bitterness and struggle removed; the granite features softened to resemble some amiable small-town bank president. Wood writhed over the stories and the pictures.

Proctor built up an organization with branches in two-thirds of the States, giving lavishly of his own wealth to an enterprise which he regarded as a patriotic service. Everywhere young men came to his side, prepared to make up in enthusiasm what they lacked in political experience.

King Failed to Approve Plan.

But such collaboration was not to King's taste.

"These were stormy days," Wood wrote early in January. "On the 6th King gave us an ultimatum to the effect that he wanted all or nothing; that he could not go on unless he had full charge. He wouldn't stand for organization or sharing his knowledge with any other person. In other words, it was an impossible situation—a rather dangerous one.

"I regretted extremely to lose King, but I couldn't go on with any man who insisted on running the whole show to the exclusion of every one else."

Albert Brunker, a close friend of Wood, saw King on his way to the railroad station. The Irishman was bitter and vindictive. "Here goes your dear friend's Presidency higher than the moon."

King's defection, indeed, threw Wood's campaign into confusion. Politicians who had had dealings with King became restless, fearing that Wood might, if elected, prove too independent of "the organization." Senator Boise Penrose expressed to one of Wood's friends the lesson which the Old Guard had drawn from the dismissal of King. "We fellows here in the East aren't going to make the mistake we made in 1900. We're going to put in a man who will listen."

Guiding Your Child

BORN LIAR.

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

A girl of 8 dismays her family by fantastic and uncalled-for lying.

She can not be counted on to give a truthful account of the most ordinary happening. As for telling honestly of any occurrence which might bring blame or punishment, it is out of the question.

Her mother in despair tells her that she is simply a born liar, like an aunt to whom she bears a strong physical resemblance.

If there is one thing of which we may be perfectly sure it is that liars are not born. They are made. Lying is not an inherited trait, but an acquired one.

One of the surest ways to make a liar out of a child is to tell him that he is one. The force of suggestion, the discouraging influence of bad opinion, may fix permanently a response which would otherwise be only a passing phase in development.

Children are often quite definitely taught to lie through the example of adult behavior. Only a home which exemplifies high standards of truthfulness will develop a truthful child.

Children also are frequently led to lie in self-defense, because of the fear of harsh, excessive punishment. Such lying is only an evidence of an understandable wish to escape unbearable hardships.

A good deal of what the adult is apt to call lying is nothing of the sort. It is simply a confusion of fact and fantasy, of wish and actuality.

Such "lying" is evidence at once of a lively imagination and of intellectual immaturity. It has nothing to do with right and wrong as the child understands these things.

Finally, children often seem to us to be lying when they are merely using their imaginations in manufacturing stories like those which mother tells at bedtime.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sereysky

WHY FEBRUARY HAS ONLY 28 DAYS

WHEN JULIUS CAESAR REVISED THE CALENDAR HE GAVE FEBRUARY 29 DAYS. A FEW YEARS LATER WHEN AUGUSTUS WAS EMPEROR, HE DECIDED TO NAME THE EIGHTH MONTH AUGUST AFTER HIMSELF. THIS MONTH HAD ONLY 30 DAYS AND AUGUSTUS WANTED IT TO BE AS IMPORTANT AS JULY, NAMED AFTER JULIUS, WHICH HAS 31. SO HE TOOK A DAY OFF FEBRUARY AND ADDED IT TO AUGUST. LEAP YEAR QUADRENNIALLY HELPS FEBRUARY OUT.

BICYCLE SCORCHERS

IN THE EARLY DAYS OF BICYCLES, BEFORE THEY HAD RUBBER TIRES, THE WOODEN WHEELS OF THE OLD "BONESHAKERS" ACTUALLY SCORCHED AND SMOKED WHEN DRIVEN AT FURIOUS SPEED. THERE WAS MORE TRUTH THAN JEST IN THIS EXPRESSION, AS APPLIED TO THOSE WHO RODE NOT WISELY BUT TOO WELL.

GROUND HOG DAY

EARLY GERMAN SETTLERS BROUGHT TO THE UNITED STATES THE SUPERSTITION THAT IF A BADGER SEES HIS SHADOW ON CANDLEMAS DAY WINTER WILL LINGER A MONTH LONGER. SINCE GROUNDHOGS WERE MORE PLENTIFUL, AMERICAN FARMERS CHANGED THE ANIMAL AND CONTINUED THE SUPERSTITION.

Hollywood Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY.

Hollywood—One of the brightest of Broadway's younger feminine stars was brought to Hollywood nearly three years ago. She didn't like Hollywood, it's talkies or the people who make them.

UNA MERKEL

She was mediocre in six or eight leading roles, and her employers began to lose interest in her in large quantities. She was given a long rest cure; that is, she drew her salary regularly but got no assignments.

At first she blamed the studio. Then she began to wonder if she herself wasn't a failure. She cried, then got mad, but finally tucked her pride into her vanity case and asked for another chance. She was given a minor role supporting a girl who had never been seen on stage or screen.

She got mad again and was going to "walk out on her contract." But she changed her mind, played the part for all she was worth, grinned and pretended she was having the time of her life.

She has played two important roles since, and directors are clamoring for her services.

English Does Help.

Greta Nissen, the Norway blond, lost her chance at the leading feminine part in the talking version of "Hell's Angels" because of her pronounced Norwegian accent. She returned to New York, studied English diligently, mastered it and has been brought back to Hollywood because a director wanted a girl with a Scandinavian accent for the chief role in his new picture.

Those who have seen Una Merkel only as Ann Rutledge in "Abraham Lincoln" do not known her as she is. Una is a comedienne whose voice, like that of ZaSu Pitts, has a humorous quality. On account of it she won a long-term contract.

They say she "stole" nearly every scene in "Don't Bet on Women," in which she has a small comedy role.

Back to History.

Stories about historical figures like "Abraham Lincoln" and "Disraeli" having been so popular, George Ariiss will next do "Alexander Hamilton."

It is a play he helped write and in which he has appeared on the stage.

Edward G. Robinson, known as the outstanding "gangster" of the films, says he has never, to his knowledge, seen a gangster in the flesh. He must get his ideas from the movies.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

MAKE PINEAPPLE SAUCE FOR COTTAGE PUDDING.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

A new combination to many people is a cottage pudding with a hot pineapple sauce poured over it. Any preferred recipe for cottage pudding may be used. The baking should be timed so that the dessert will be just done when it is time to serve it. The sauce can be kept hot in the double boiler. As this sauce is made from canned pineapple, this is an excellent cold weather dessert. The Bureau of Home Economics has tested the proportions given below:

1 No. 2 can (about 2 cups) crushed pineapple.
¼ cup sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Drain and press the juice from the crushed pineapple. Mix the cornstarch and the sugar and add it to the juice. Cook this mixture in the upper part of a double boiler over the direct flame until the sauce thickens. Stir constantly. Place the upper part of the boiler over the lower part, cover and cook the sauce for ten minutes. Remove from the fire and add the butter, salt and pineapple, and mix well. Serve over cottage pudding.

Your Name
WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH.D.

It has frequently been observed that many family names have come down to us from more than one source. In such cases it is perfectly natural and human for the families which bear such names to claim descent from the more aristocratic source and to adopt the spelling which most clearly indicates such a source. There is evidence that the family name "Seymour" is frequently a shortened form of "St. Maur," and indicates a former residence in St. Maur-des-Bois, Normandy, France. The place-name "St. Maur-des-Bois" means "Saint Maur of the Woods." The French personal name "Maur" has come down to us, through the Latin "Maurus," from the Greek "Mauros," and means "the Moor," and "the one with the dark complexion." In early documents "St. Maur" and "Seymour" were frequently Latinized as "de Sancto Mauro." A certain Lawrence de Sancto Mauro and a Henry de Sancto Mauro are mentioned in the Hundred Rolls, a famous list of English names which was published in the year 1273. The above-mentioned source of "Seymour" can be proved in many cases, although it can also be clearly proved that the spelling "Seymour" has frequently been adopted by families which originally bore the name "Seamer." (The family name "Seamer" will be discussed in the next article of this series.)

The family name "Hofmann" (also spelled "Hoffmann") is the modern form of the old high German "hovaman." It may mean "the courtman" or "the farm-man." In the first case it was generally applied to a servant at the court of a prince. In the second case it may mean "the farm-bailiff" or simply "the farmer." Common low German forms of this name are "Hafemann" and "Havemann."

VETERANS' BUREAU CONSULTANT DIES

Dr. Elmond A. Burnham Was Attached to Division of Appeals.

NO SERVICES LOCALLY

Dr. Elmond A. Burnham, consultant in diseases of the chest, attached to the division of appeals, United States Veterans' Bureau, died yesterday at Garfield Hospital as a result of cerebral hemorrhage, sustained on February 3, and later complications.

He had resided for the past six years at Laurel, Md., coming here from Boston, Mass., where he was a member of the Federal Board for Vocational Education. During the period he was associated with the Veterans' Bureau he has been a frequent contributor to both medical and non-technical magazines on diseases falling under his special branch of medicine. He was a member of the American Medical Association, a Mason and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Burnham was born at Putney, Vt., in 1865, and was a graduate of Goddard Academy, class of 1886. He also took graduate work at Tufts College and at Harvard University, and later taught at Tufts. During the World War he served as war contract surgeon with the rank of major, serving during the entire period of the war.

No funeral services will be held in Washington. Interment will take place in the family plot at Putney.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Harriet Lee Burnham, and four sisters, Mrs. Charles Bristol, of New Hampshire; Mrs. Frank Hesseltine, of Vermont, and Miss Verona Burnham and Mrs. Stella V. Gates, of Warwick, Mass.

Maj. Wilson Rites To Be Held Today

Railway Officials Among Honorary Pallbearers to Attend Funeral.

Honorary pallbearers who have been named to attend the funeral of Maj. William J. Wilson, Pennsylvania Railway official, this morning at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Nativity, include many officials of the railway with which he was connected and friends from Chicago, Philadelphia, and this city.

The pallbearers named are: C. S. Krick, R. K. Rochester, N. S. Menaugh, Joseph Brown, R. B. Freeman, J. E. Burrell, Harry E. Gower, George E. Hamilton, sr., C. M. Harris, L. G. Julihn, John Rose, James E. Connally, Maj. C. E. Edwards, Richard W. Wheat, Matthew Horne, Michael Shaeffer, M. Haughey, C. L. Hamilton, James Fitzgerald, Thomas Thompson, James Keough, and Charles Brashear.

The American Legion, of which Maj. Wilson was a member, will supply active pall bearers and a guard of honor. At Arlington Cemetery, where interment will take place, full military honors will accompany the burial.

Maj. Wilson died Tuesday morning at his home, 1429 Madison street northwest, at the age of 64 years.

WILLIAM E. FOX RITES.

Funeral services for William E. Fox, retired chief carpenter's mate, U. S. Navy, who died Tuesday at the Naval Hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. A. Lindsey, of 723 Kennedy street northwest, at 1:30 o'clock. Interment, with military honors, will follow in Arlington Cemetery.

Mr. Fox, who was 58 years old, died after an illness of three weeks. He was a native of this city and had served twenty years in the naval service.

Survivors include a son, Leslie Fox, of Washington; two daughters, Mrs. Morris Heath, of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Robert Kimmel, of New York City; four sisters, Mrs. Lindsey, Mrs. Margaret Hoyle, Mrs. Millard Upperman, and Mrs. Florence Donaldson, all of Washington.

Income Tax Facts

NO. 11.

For income-tax purposes, there can be only one "head of a family."

A head of a family, as defined by income-tax regulations, is a "person who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him (or her) by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." Such person is granted the same personal exemption of $3,500 allowed a married person. Also, he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent, if the dependent is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective, but persons in ill health, or the aged. Thus, a single man who supports in his home an aged mother and two sisters 14 and 16 years of age is entitled to a total exemption and credit of $4,700. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to husband or wife, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

It should be remembered that every single person, whether or not the head of a family, is required to file an income-tax return if his or her net income for 1930 was $1,500 or more. The fact that the exemption may exceed the net income does not obviate this requirement.

Not infrequently returns are received from two or more members of a family, each claiming the exemption of $3,500 as the "head." The exemption can be granted only to one person and it can not be divided.

WASHINGTON: THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1931.

SCHOOL HEADS MEET TODAY, HEAR NEW CHARGES

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—In studying the news of the horse and dog tracks, and prize fight promotion in Miami, I am becoming aware of a social lobby, not unlike the one in Washington, D. C., which has the purpose of establishing Al Capone as a fine fellow who has had the misfortune to fall heir to all the miscellaneous blame that used to be laid on the kaiser, and, before him, to various "capitalists."

Mr. Capone, I read, is very hospitable and, in his social moments, a man of great charm and tact, with a special liking for the sports writers who go to Miami in the winter for their vacation or to cover the sporting events there.

Being newspaper reporters they do not wish to shut themselves off from contacts with interesting people, and as Mr. Capone is one of the most interesting Americans of his time, when he invites them to dine at his place on the island they go.

They go in the interest of journalism, no doubt, but when a journalist wishes to preserve a preconceived opinion of a public character it is unwise to meet the public character socially, as many Washington correspondents have learned.

ACCEPT BIDS AS PART OF DUTY

Last spring in Washington it was my experience to hear kind words spoken of the Rev. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, the prohibition fellow, by an otherwise normal journalist employed by a wet paper who at the time was standing at a table mixing himself a drink of raw alcohol and cleaning fluid, the wine of the country in Washington, D. C., and much too good, say I, for any one who would thus palter with prohibition. I looked about the room and met not disgust but approval in the expressions of others who had gone to Washington hating but had remained to pity and embrace.

"Oh, you would get that way, too, in Washington," he said. "How are you going to write about Wilson if you don't meet him? If you meet him, you like him."

The sports writer has carte blanche and a column or more of white paper in one or more newspapers at his disposal every day, and if he finds Al Capone to be a gentle and considerate host the contrast to his old conception is such that he splits a groove in the atmosphere to arrive at a typewriter and write an interpretion of Al Capone.

So Mr. Capone is serving as his own Ivy Lee this winter and by the end of the season, what with his cordiality and the influx of sports writers, I shall expect to find him revealed as another great, misunderstood American.

NO MENTION OF SINISTER SIDE

Just now, I am told, there is, in the forms of a large magazine, a kindly character study of Mr. Capone which entirely avoids mention of that which I hesitate to describe as his sinister side, and deals only with Al Capone the home-body, Al Capone the affectionate husband and father and Al Capone the friend of the poor and wretched.

So, through the intercession of the sports pages, Mr. Capone may arrive at that day when he may distribute souvenirs, say $5 gold pieces, to little children, railroad firemen and ferryboat captains. I have heard that he corrupted public officials, but there would have been no railroads in this country to this day if the pioneer lobbyists had not bribed the members of the various Legislatures to approve their franchises.

The Capone court in Miami seems to adhere to the social and diplomatic customs of the great capitals. In Washington last year there was a tiff between the President and Senator Borah and the senator was very ostentatiously omitted from the list of guests at the White House doings of some kind or other a few days later. When due note had been made of this, the omission was charged to an oversight and Mr. Borah was just as ostentatiously invited.

From Miami, lately, came a report that some friends of Mr. Capone were planning to take Jack Kearns, the prize fight manager, out in the palmettoes at night and break his leg. Wishing to repudiate any connection with such a plan with the utmost emphasis, Mr. Capone gave a state dinner to which Jack Kearns was bidden as the guest of honor.

As he increases his lineage on the sport pages to counteract the unsympathetic mention of himself in the news columns, Mr. Capone, I must

Peck Seeks Aid for Ferrell and Brown Next Season.

Left Side of Infield Also Is Problem for Cleveland.

(This is the third of a series of articles detailing the efforts of American League clubs to strengthen in preparation for the 1931 season.)

CLEVELAND.

MANAGER — Roger Peckinpaugh. Coach, Howard Shanks.

PITCHERS—Ferrell, Hudlin, Brown, Harder, Jablonowski, Bean, Lawson, *Thomas, *Craghead, *Hildebrand, right-handers; Miller, Shoffner, *Lee, southpaws.

CATCHERS — L. Sewell, Myatt, Sprink.

OUTFIELDERS — Averill, Falk, Jamieson, Porter, Seeds, *Vosmik.

*New men.

THE Cleveland Indians had the punch last year, but the left side of their infield was full of holes and the pitching staff was lopsided. Wes Ferrell and Clint Brown were able to win but, with the exception of Mel Harder, who was used largely as a relief pitcher, the other hurlers were disappointments.

As a result, Cleveland has centered its activities upon strengthening its aggregation of moundmen. Fay Thomas and Howard Craghead, both right-handers, have been purchased from the Pacific Coast League. Oral Hildebrand, another right-hander, but with little professional experience, was bought from Indianapolis, while Thornton Lee, a southpaw, was purchased from New Orleans. Both Hildebrand and Lee may need more minor league experience, but Thomas and Craghead should be able to take regular turns in the box.

Morgan's Threates Not Taken Seriously.

In addition to Ferrell, Brown and Harder, mentioned above, Cleveland has four other right-handers, Hudlin, Jablonowski, Lawson and Bean, and two other southpaws, Miller and Shoffner. Hudlin was an in-and-outer in 1930 and Lawson and Bean did not prove to be of much value but Jablonowski, acting in the relief role, saved several games for the Indians.

Ed Morgan, of course, will play first base again as his threats of quitting are not being taken seriously, while Johnny Hodapp is a fixture at second. Conditions as regards short and third base are a mess. General Manager Billy Evans would like to trade first baseman Lew Fonseca, who led the American League in batting in 1929, to Chicago for Third baseman Willie Kamm. Should such a trade fail, Johnny Burnett, who was crippled the last half of the season of '30, Winegarner, a rookie from the Cotton States League, and Detore recalled from New Orleans, will battle for the third base job while John Goldman, a crack fielder but weak sticker, Carl Lind, recalled from New Orleans, and Bill Hunnefield, drafted from Toledo, will compete for the shortfield berth.

Six Outfielders Seeking Positions.

Fonseca still is on the roster. He may be traded or sold or used as utility infielder, as he can play first or second or possibly third. He had a wrist broken in a collision with Art Shires last year and was out practically two-thirds of the season. He has been in Florida during the winter getting in shape.

Six outfielders are listed by Cleveland, Averill, Porter, Seeds, Jamieson, Falk and Vosmik. The first four are sure bets for retention but Falk may figure in a deal as while he has lost some of his erstwhile speed, he still can hit.

Cleveland will take the field with the same catching staff, Luke Sewell, Glenn Myatt and Joe Sprinz.

With an improved pitching staff and the breaches in the infield repaired, Cleveland is sure to be a factor.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE well-known robin redbreast is an English bird—not American. It is smaller than an English sparrow and the red breast is much more brilliant than that of the American bird.

The American "robin" belongs to a group of famous singers, the thrushes, but the real robin is not a thrush at all. There is no more relation between the two birds than there is between redbirds and canaries.

Early settlers named the American robin because it reminded them of the bird they had known so long at home, although this new bird was twice as large.

English people think it strange when they hear of the redbreasted songster that heralds the coming of spring and hops about eating earthworms, robbing cherry trees, and singing even in the rain, for these are things that real robins never do.

Old Line Five Bows, 33-32, On Foul

Johnson, Washington College, Sinks Ball Amid Bedlam.

Player Fouled as Gun Ends Playing Time; 12,000 Present.

STANDING in a screaming circle of 1,200 fans at Ritchie gym last night, Dick Johnson, who was once a Freshman at Maryland, sank a foul shot which never touched the rim as it hissed through the cords and boosted Washington College of Chestertown, Md. one fatal point above the Old Liners, 33 to 32, ending a game which ran the gamut of all the thrills possible in a basket ball contest.

It was a fitting lid to place on the second half drive staged by the Chestertown boys who went into the session on the briefer end of a 17-toll score, which stood 12 to 4 when the game had barely gotten under way. Maryland's first inning success came from the gifted hands of Chalmers and Berger who nicked the enemy's basket for points apiece.

Dick Johnson put in an appearance at the start of the second half's activities, never to step out of the picture. Playing an important role in the twin parts of team player and individual star, Johnson led his club into a 23-23 tie with the Terps after seven minutes of the second inning had ticked away, but Berger and Norris did not countenance such a position and they sent Maryland soaring ahead once more. Play was nip and tuck until Stevens put Washington into the lead for the first time, 32-30, with two minutes to play.

May tied the score at 32-32 immediately and the game resorted to man-for-man play of the most spectacular sort. Simultaneously, the gun sounded and Bozey Berger inadvertantly fouled Johnson. The crowd streamed on the floor thinking that an extra period would be forthcoming, and it took the officials several minutes to clear the floor.

Then Johnson supplied the finishing touches.

LOUGHRAN DATE DROPPED.

Chicago, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Failing to obtain a suitable opponent for Tommy Loughran or to close other attractive matches, the Chicago Stadium today decided to pass up its proposed fight program for February 20.

GEORGETOWN A. C. COPS.

Georgetown A. C. dribblers disposed of the "Y" Flashes last night, 33 to 23, in a game in which they led all the way.

Nau and K. Trundle, with 9 and 8 points, respectively, led the winners, although Wolverton, of the Flashes, was high scorer of the game.

LA BARBA BOUT OFF.

New York, Feb 11 (A.P.).—Fidel La Barba, California featherweight, reported to Madison Square Garden today that he is ill and will be unable to meet Kid Francis, of Italy, in a feature bout here February 20.

No decision has yet been made on a substitute.

Eastern and Central May Be Involved in New Charges.

Coach Boyd to Testify; Play-Off Is Voted Down.

UNTIL further notice, which is expected today, the interhigh school basket bal series has been declared a tie between Eastern and Central by the high school board o fprincipals which yesterday settled the question of the eligibility of Everett Johnson, Tech guard, by forfeiting to Central the game in which he played against the latter.

Thus detracting one victory from Tech and adding the game to the Central record, the principals created the new tie for the championship and dignified their action by declaring that under no consideration would a play-off of the tie be permitted. The team standings yesterday showed Eastern and Tech tied at the top.

But the board of principals, while clarifying the situation in one instance, found itself confronted with counter charges that have necessitated a further conference today that threatens to involve other teams, perhaps the two leaders, Eastern Central, in ineligibility tangles that may cause a reconsideration of yesterday's action and throw the entire standings of the teams into a turmoil.

Coach Boyd to Testify.

At least one coach, Artie Boyd, of Tech, is expected to testify before the principals today that other schools were guilty of violations of the series rules. Whether coaches of other schools will appear before the board has not ben ascertained.

It is reported that charges will be made that players of the Central team competed in outside games during the progress of the series, in violation of the series code, while a charge that an Eastern player participated in an independent game under an assumed name also has been intimated.

The charge that Central players competed in games outside the series is believed to center about the participation of two players in games on outdoor municipal playgrounds which are located near the homes of the accused players and which are most informal in character. In the playground games the boys are never in uniform and on many occasions are mere passers-by who are invited to compete.

Principals to Act. Today.

Whether such competition constitutes a violation of the rules will be the basis of the action of the principals today. The reported charge against the Eastern player is expected to be of more serious import, inasmuch as the game was played in a gymnasium.

The upholding of the charges against Eastern and Central would result in the forfeiture of so many games and so seriously disrupt the series standings that it is unlikely that any champion would be recognized this season in view of the unwillingness of the principals to permit a play-off.

Precedent for the refusal to permit a play-off is found in the series of 1926, when Eastern and Central were tied for the championship and a play-off game resulted in a near-riot which nullified the contest. Another play-off game was not sanctioned.

Phils Sign Watt, Former Capital Star, for Trial

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Frank H. Watt, Washington, D. C. right-hander, has been added to the Phillies pitching staff, having been signed as a free agent by the club, and will receive a trial in spring training.

Watt is 6 feet 1 inch tall, and weighs 200 pounds and is 27 years old. He worked out with the Phils here last summer.

Watt was regarded as a good pitching prospect in 1925 and 1926, when with San Antonio, in the Texas League.

He was purchased by Detroit, but developed arm trouble and was sent to Forth Worth in 1927. The next two years his arm continued to trouble him and he did little work.

Frank Watt, one of the Watt brothers of local sandlot fame, began his baseball career here as a third baseman for the Metropolitan A. C. He later became a pitcher and hurled for the Mohawks and Dreadnaughts among other clubs in this section. He made his professional debut with Norfolk, in the old Virginia League, going from that club to San Antonio.

Anita Peabody Foals Colt by Reigh Count

Chicago, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Reigh Count, winner of the 1928 Kentucky Derby and enough other races to make him one of the turf's immortals, and Anita Peabody, winner of the Futurity at Belmont Park in 1927, and rated as one of the greatest of fillies, are the parents of a strapping son.

The colt, a sorrel which bears great resemblance to his sire, was foaled Monday, but announcement was withheld until tonight.

U. S. Davis Cup Stars In New York Net Play

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Two members of the 1930 American Davis Cup Team and two of the leading candidates for this year's team are to compete in the annual invitation tennis tournament of the Brooklyn Heights Casino, beginning tomorrow George M. Lott, jr., and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, represented the United States last year. Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., was a substitute on that team, and with Frank Shields, runner up for the 1930 national championship, is among the leading candidates for 1931.

Retiring Net Official Urges Open Tourney

Philadelphia, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Joseph W. Wear, retiring chairman of the United States Davis Cup committee, favors an open tennis championship in this counttry.

"The United States," Mr. Wear said today, "should have an open tennis championship, the same as golf, and it should be held under the auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. I heartily indorse the necessity of a strong professional association, so that we can clearly define the difference between an amateur and a professional. Tennis players can then take their choice if they wish to earn money by using their net ability as a means."

William-Mary Wins From Bridgewater

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 11.—William and Mary nosed out Bridgewater, 30 to 27, here tonight in their annual Virginia Conference court clash in the Harrisonburg High Gymnasium. The Eagles led until the last few minutes of play when their defense collapsed.

Bridgewater carried the fight all the way through the first half and led, 14 to 12, when the whistle blew. The Eagles continued to set a fast pace until the waning moments of play when baskets by M. Mozeleski and Sykes and four free tosses by Sundin, put the Indians ahead.

Sunday School League Leaders Facing Tests

The Eldbrooke and Mount Vernon Basket Ball Teams must turn back two respective foes tonight at the Y. M. C. A. to maintain their jointly held first-place tie in the Sunday School League.

The Mounts seem to have the easier time of it tonight, being scheduled to meet the Wallace Memorial five, holder of next to last place in the ratings, while the Eldbrookes will tackle Calvary M. E., one of the middle-region teams.

In tonight's remaining game Calvary Drakes and United Brethren mix matters in what should be a close game.

Washington-Lee Tank Team Defeats Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Feb. 11.—Sweeping the last two events, the 200-yard breast stroke and 100-yard free style, Washington and Lee's varsity swimmer's today closed their dual meet season, beating Virginia, 40-26. It was the third triumph from the Generals in three starts and it gave them the State title. The Washington and Lee Relay Team—Rivers, Moreland, Nichols and Stapleton—shattered the 200-yard relay mark by 3 3-5 seconds, swimimng the distance in 1:37 2-5. "Shorty" Weinstein, Generals' breast-stroke star, established a new mark of 2:49 2-5 for the 200-yard breast stroke. In navigating this distance Weinstein was clocked at 2:04 for 150 yards, bettering the record for that distance by 54 seconds. Rudes, W. and L., followed Weinstein home. Stapleton and Rivers, sprinters, coasted into first and second place in the century in the fast time of 55 seconds. Virginia excelled in the 440-yard free style and in the diving. Eddie Stapleton, with two firsts and anchor on the relay, led the point gatherers.

200-YARD RELAY—Won by Washington and Lee (Rivers, Moreland, Nichols, Stapleton). Time, 1:37 2-5 (new record).

DIVING—Won by McMurty (Va.); second, Walker (W. and L.); third, Rivers (W. and L.). Winner's points, 90.9.

150-YARD BACK STROKE—Won by Nichols (W. and L.); second, Capt. Hatch (Va.); third, Zachary (W. and L.). Time, 1:54.

440-YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Sayre (Va.); second, Tarley (Va.); third, Harris (W. and L.). Time, 5:54.

50-YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Stapleton (W. and L.); second, Lampton (Va.); third, Evans (Va.). Time, 0:24 2-5.

200-YARD BACK STROKE—Won by Weinstein (W. and L.); second, Rudes (W. and L.); third, Hatch (Va.). Time, 2:49 2-5 (new record).

100-YARD FREE STYLE — Won by Stapleton (W. and L.); second, Rivers (W. and L.); third, Lampton (Va.). Time, 0:55.

Alexandria High Five Beaten by Gonzaga

Gonzaga High scored one of its most satisfying victories this year yesterday afternon at the Eye Street Bandbox Gym when Alexandria High was beaten by the score, 26-18, after Gonzaga had gone into the second half on the least heavy end of a 15-4 count.

It was as scintillating a second half drive as the local boards have seen this year. Jack Hester, center, put in his best account for the year, starting the Gonzaga rally shortly after the half and capturing high-scoring honors before he was through.

Columbia Forfeits Sally League Berth

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The Columbia Sally League franchise was forfeited today by W. G. Bramham, president of the circut, when Columbia fans and organizations failed to take action to save the baseball club for the Capital City.

President Bramham did not reply to the chamber of commerce's proposal that the league operate the club for one month and that local citizens would take it over from then on.

"I have not submitted this to the directors," Mr. Bramham said in Durham, N. C., today, "and will not until I am definitely advised by the Columbia operators that they have given up the franchise."

Bethesda-C. C. High Winsto Tie County Lead

The largest crowd ever to witness a Montgomery County high school basket ball game crowded into Takoma-Silver Spring Gym yesterday 500 strong to see Bethesda-Chevy Chase sprint itno a first place tie with Takoma-Silver Spring in the deciding game of the county series by winning, 19 to 11.

In the preliminary, the Takoma-Silver Spring girls won the county championship by wresting a 22-21 victory from the Bethesda-Chevy Chase sextet.

The boys produced the finest play of the series in their last scheduled game. Play was nip and tuck from start to finish, the scoring standing 10 to 10 with but 4 minutes to play.

The championship will be decided Friday when the two teams engage in a playoff game at a yet to be named location.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 11.—Tonight's victory over Virginia Military Institute, 25 to 22, gives Virginia a 50-50 standing in the Southern Conference race. To cop tonight's contest, the Cavaliers had to overcome a 5-point lead enjoyed by the Cadets midway the second half. Coach Tebell shot in three substitutes to check the rally and the visitors were able to register but one point in the last five minutes of play. In the meanwhile, Hudson got the range of the basket and rang up 8 points in a row to clinch the contest.

The first half was marked by close guarding on the part of both quints. The Cadets took an early lead, which was increased to 4 at half time. Near the close, baskets by Capt. Manley and Mayo put the Cavaliers in front, but just before the whistle sounded R. Brown's field goal knotted the count, 12-12.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACKMEN IN PHILLY

Eastern, Central and Tech Athletes to Compete.

TRACK athletes of Eastern, Central and Tech entrain this morning fro Philadelphia, where they will participate in the Meadowbrook games to be held this afternoon and night at the arena. The local entourage is comprised of fourteen trackmen, six of whom will wear Central's colors; five, Eastern's, and the remaining three, Tech's.

Eastern is taking a group of veterans to the scene of the activities in Tony Palmer, 45-yard dash; Bob Slye and Grover Everett, 45-yard high hurdles; George Shorb, half-mile, and Joe Lynch, 1 mile.

Coach Mike Kelley, however, looks to his hurdlers as the only reasonably certain point gainers for the Lincoln Park school. Slye and Everett, in the opinion of Kelley, are the equals of any high school hurdlers in the country, and the superior of many. This is the first year in the history of the meet that a 45-yard high hurdle has been on the program.

Seasoned Group of Central Runners.

Central has a seasoned, but not spectacular group in Waller, Naylor and Price, 45-yard dash; Deitzler, Price and Naylor, 300-yard dash; Drake, half mile, and Capt. St. John, mile.

Both Eastern and Central are due to appear only in the scholastic events to take place this afternoon. But Coach Hap Hardell, of Tech, is authority that one or more of his team of three is likely to appear at night in the open events, under handicap, and perhaps in the afternoon events, too.

Hardell is taking along his ace half-miler, Al Reichman, who won the scholastic half mile last year in 2:09; George Sachs, captain-elect of the grid team, and Tunis Thorne, who are entered in the 45-yard sprint.

Reichman is entered in the half mile in the afternoon's scholastic events and also in the 1,000-yard handicap at night. If handicaps suit Hardell, Reichman will appear only in the night event; if not, then he will participate in the race he won last year. It is also Hardell's intention to shift Sachs and Thorne to the night events, if the switching warrants it.

The current records are 5.2 for the 45-yard dash; no mark for the hurdles; 2:09 for the half mile, and 4:37 2-5 for the mile.

Staunton Cadets Bow To Little Generals

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Feb. 11.—Coming from behind with a basket-scoring rush, Washington and Lee's freshman basket ball players won their second straight tonight, defeating Staunton Military Academy, 45 to 27. At the half Staunton led, 18 to 16, and for nine minutes of the third period but few points separated the teams, but Steinberg, Joey Sawyers and Billy Wilson were uncanny in their shots to put the Little Generals far in front. Sawyers continued his spree of basket shooting, tossing in seven field goals and seven from the foul line for 21 points. Layman played an aggressive game at center for Staunton, getting 9 points. Campbell Prefers 245-Mile Pace to Washington Traffic

THE sensation of rocketing 4 miles a minute in an automobile on the sands of Daytona Beach is vastly more delightful than the process of threading his way through five blocks of Washington motor traffic in 20 minutes, Capt. Malcolm Campbell was of the opinion after one of the experiences that marked his brief visit to the Capital yesterday.

The slim, almost diminutive Briton who established the world automobile speed record of 245 miles an hour at Daytona Beach last week, successfully circumvented the maze of Washington traffic, however, to reach the White House, where he was formally congratulated by President Hoover and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador.

Campbell, himself built on almost streamline proportions, reiterated his belief that man has failed by far to produce the highest speed capable in a motor car and freely predicted that he would break the record he set whenever he chose to build a better car. He discounted the human element in the test, declaring that all he demanded was a safe car and a perfect beach.

"Speed has no terrors for me," said Campbell, who is the only living man who has exceeded 200 miles an hour in an automobile. Fatal accidents befell the three other men who bettered this mark.

5 LOCAL COLLEGE TEAMS PERFORM AWAY TONIGHT

G.U. and C.U. Send Relays To Meet

Meadowbrook Games Share Spotlight With Basket Ball.

Hoyas Play West Va.; American Meets Carnegie.

CAPITAL college athletes today enter a busy week-end of competition, the schedules in three parts calling for a total of fourteen engagements and bringing into action the representatives of all six of the major local institutions.

Much interest centers on the invasion of Philadelphia tonight by trackmen of Georgetown and Catholic Universities, who will show their wares (particularly their heels, they hope) in the annual Meadowbrook games, one of the yearly track and field fixtures in the East.

Georgetown will send its 1 and 2 mile teams, fresh from creditable performances at Newark, N. J., Monday night, and Bernard Bonniwell, high jumper, and Al Kelly, sprinter, while Catholic will be represented by a 1-mile team and Johnny Lyons, sprinter.

Better Conditions for Two-Mile Team.

The Georgetown 2-mile team, which won against New York U. and Notre Dame at Newark, is composed of Capt. Vic Burke, Jack Mara, Jim Kelly and John Downing. This quartet was timed in 8 minutes, 9 7-10 seconds the other night on an unbanked track on which spiked shoes were not permitted. Tonight conditions will be better and the Hilltoppers are expected to cut down the time correspondingly.

Burke, Mara, Briggs and Carlin will handle the baton for Georgetown in the mile relay. They finished second to N. Y. U. at Newark. Bonniwell, who is capable of 6 feet 4 in the high jump, will be making his initial appearance of the season, and Kelly gets his second chance, having gained third place in the sprint series of the recent Brooklyn college games.

Catholic's mile team, entered in a different race than Georgetown's, is made up of Vincent Fraatz, Felix Faris, John Hickey and Gayle McGuigan. Thus far the Cardinals have not had any competition.

Basket Ball Teams Travel.

Three basket ball games also call local athletes away tonight. American University's five begins a three-day jaunt in Pittsburgh in a game with Carnegie Tech, while Georgetown meets West Virginia U. at Morgantown in the opener of another three-day journey and Catholic winds up a trip to Pennsylvania in a clash at Beaver Falls with Geneva College. In earlier battles played here, Georgetown bowed to West Virginia, 35-29 and Catholic yielded to Geneva College, 24-23.

Locally, the basket ball program is barren tonight, but tomorrow night offers a real attraction in the Maryland-Virginia game at College Park. This is certain to develop heated competition as Maryland seeks revenge for a 34-31 defeat suffered at Virginia's hands last week at Charlottesville. That loss is the only blemish on Maryland's Southern Conference record which also sports seven victories.

Virginia and Catholic Clash Saturday.

Hagerstown May Land Mid-Atlantic Berth

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 11.—President Elmer M. Daily, of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, today in calling a meeting of the club representatives for next Sunday afternoon at the Hotel Henry, Pittsburgh, stressed not only the necessity of action at this time of acting on the applications of Hagerstown, Md., and Huntington, Charleston and Beckley, W. Va., for berths, but asks that any present member of the league which is not in position to say definitely that it will be able to carry on this season, advise the league of its status at this meeting. It is thought Hagerstown may be represented at Sunday's meeting by J. C. Cambria, president of the club.

How to Torture Your Wife —By H. T. Webster

Boots and Saddles
(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)
—Miami Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS

THE Lincoln Claiming Handicap, a test over the six-furlong sprint distance, has received nine entries for the overnight feature event of the holiday card at Miami this afternoon. The attraction, fashioned for 3-year-olds and upward, brings together an evenly matched field of speeders which will contest the $1,200 purse.

OKAYBEE, a fleet mare owned by Mrs. G. W. Carroll, has displayed remarkable speed in sprint races and, nicely weighted with 113 pounds, is favored for the major portion of the purse. DR. PARRISH, from the R. Wingfield Stable, turned in a winning effort last start over a heavy track. GUN ROYAL, carrying the M. Stern silks, may falter under the 120-pound assignment, but should last long enough to gain the minor award.

FIRST RACE—QUACKER, a consistent plater from the H. C. Phipps Stable, has raced with better company and figures to lead this field to the wire. IMAGERY was practically left at the post last outing and closed considerable ground to finish inside the money. With an energetic rider, the West Stable's entrant should save the place. FOURTH WARD has shown improvement in recent efforts and is given the show call.

SECOND RACE—JALPUR was beaten a length in his previous start by Don Red but showed a good effort and should graduate here. PORT DEN weakened in his initial race after forcing the pace and must be accorded the place call. DARK CELELT, a highly regarded youngster in the J. Whyte string, has trained briskly and should get into the picture.

THIRD RACE—NURSERY RHYMES broke sluggishly in his last effort, but finished second in a 6-furlong dash. The Mullrick Stable color bearer will appreciate the added distance and figures to annex the purse. STRONG TACKLE is a fair sort and may prove dangerous in this company. WOODGAIN is preferred over the others.

FOURTH RACE—WACKET is dropping down a notch here and should turn in a winning effort. BIRDIE WRACK, a bad post actor, has shown a return to form and with an experienced rider may prove troublesome. BOGAN, winner of his last start at this distance, is given the call for the minor share of the purse.

SIXTH RACE—FERVID turned in a brilliant performance the other day and appears ready for a winning effort. The Mrs. J. M. Black 3-year-old is favored by the conditions and should lead from start to finish. MUFF surprised with a victory last outing and should furnish the opposition to the top one. SAN PRESTO is an inconsistent plater, but is selected for the minor award.

SEVENTH RACE—FETISH, from the M. Lowenstein Stable, ran a disappointing race last start, but that effort can be overlooked. DODSON has trained well and should force the pace. CANDY PIG is on the improve and figures to save the show.

SILVERDALE WINS AT MIAMI

Shows Way in Feature; Carreaud Stable Scores Double.

HIALEAH RACE TRACK, Fla., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—E. B. McLean's Silverdale, carrying 125 pounds, ran the mile in 1:38 4-5, to win the Magic City Handicap, feature here today. He went to the front early and set a fast pace, but was driving hard at the end. Raccoon was second and William T. third.

Peto, who has run some fast races here and well played at a short price, failed to finish in the picture, pulling up next to last. Silverdale has been running in sprint races and finishing second, but was heavily played to win the 8-furlong event.

Raccoon Extends Winner In Stretch Drive.

Ambrose, who had the mount, got the McLean colt away on his toes and the chestnut son of The Porter was sent to the front early to lead Peto by a length or more to the turn into the stretch.

At this point he was joined by Raccoon, who closed very fast, but failed to get up, Silverdale winning by a neck. Raccoon saved the place by a length over William T.

Armee Navee made it double for the Mrs. A. Carreaud Stable when he led home a good field in the sixth event. Its other winner was Port Harlem, and Jack Howard, the former jockey and now trainer, had a very profitable day, as both horses paid a long price. Port Harlem paid $19.10 and Armee Navee $16.40.

Wallace Quintet, Victim Of 1930 Thriller, Returns To Action in Post Tourney

HOPING to experience better luck this year, the Wallace Memorial cagers have announced their intentions of entering The Post's 1931 Basket Ball Tournament, which will start at Tech High School next March 9.

Wallace Memorial, it will be remembered, was the courageous quintet which was eliminated in the first round of The Post's 1930 Tournament, but which went down only after dropping a heart-breaking 35-to-32 decision to the Calvary Drakes in one of the feature contests of the event requiring two extra periods before a decision could be reached.

Six of Eight 1930 Players.

Six of the eight players on the Wallace Memorial squad have performed with the team since it was organized four years ago. These men are Lynn Woodward, guard; Harry Hancock, forward; Alvin Corbin, center; Dick Sargeant, guard; William Pigg, forward, and Harry Fine, guard. The other two players, Russell Livermore and James Beck, joined the team this season.

Woodward last year played with Central High School and after that performed with the Commercial National Bank Team long enough to clinch high-scoring honors for that circuit. Livermore formerly starred with the Viola High School quintet, of Viola, Ill., one of the best known high school teams in that State. The other players are more or less well-known in amateur basketball circles here.

Wallace Has Won Majority of Games.

The Wallaces have won a majority of their contests so far this season. They also defeated the Strayer Business College Team, an entrant in the Washington Collegiate Conference, in a practice game.

Many of the employes of the Government Printing Office will follow the progress of the Wallaces in the tournament with a great deal of interest, for four of the first-string players, Livermore, Hancock, Corbin, and Sargeant are employed there.

NAVY BEATEN BY W. VA., 41 TO 36

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 11.—A fast-cutting West Virginia University cage team took advantage of every scoring opportunity here today to defeat the Naval Academy cage outfit, 41 to 36. The visiting Mountaineers attained a 28-to-15 margin in the first half and stood off a last-minute rush by the Middies.

The West Virginians showed the best form of any team that has appeared here this year in the first period. The Navy attack was stopped practically cold and the Middies resorted to long-range shooting for their 15 points. On the other hand, the invaders flashed a versatile running attack, featuring every member of the team that was well-nigh perfect in execution.

Mountaineers Waste Few Shots.

Few shots were wasted by the Mountaineers, whose height aided materially in their numerous close-range shots. West Virginia's fast pivoting and ability to follow the ball kept Navy continually on the defense in the initial period.

In the second period, Navy outscored the West Virginians and the visitors became a bit panicky at the finish as Navy closed fast. Play became overzealous, with Loughlin, of Navy, being fouled repeatedly. He made good on all eight foul tries in the period to help Navy's cause. Near the close Loughlin was put out of the game for fouling and two West Virginia players, Plaster and Bartrug, also were banished.

Paris, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Panama Al Brown, lanky Negro boxer, who is generally recognized as world bantamweight champion, gave an artistic display of boxing tonight to defeat Nick Bensa, French featherweight, in a ten-round bout.

The fight caused a storm of protest because it was held in the Salle Pleyel, a hall hithreto devoted to music.

TECH BEATEN BY OLD LINE CUBS, 48-27

Vincent, Chase Lead Maryland Frosh to Victory.

THE undefeated Maryland Freshman basket ball team turned in its eighth straight victory today, defeating the Tech High quintet, 48 to 27. The victory gives the Old Line Cubs decisions over all of the Public High teams.

Tech never was able to cope with the brand of basket ball displayed by the Yearlings. The Freshmen stepped out to a 15-to-8 lead at the end of the first quarter, drew away to a 27-to-12 count at the half and had a 42-to-17 margin at the end of the third period.

Rufus Vincent and Spencer Chase did the bulk of the scoring for the Yearlings with Reichardt, Beach and Johnson in the heavy coring roles for Tech. Russell, Tech star forward, was effectively checked, being held to one field goal.

say, becomes less a legend and more a person of recognizable form. This is quite easy to understand because the news page reporters are concerned only with the who, what, when, where and how-come of the news, whereas on our side of the paper we are allowed to be sentimental and trivial.

CHARM WIN SCRIBES TO HIS SIDE

Perhaps it is bad social form, but even though I have not yet received an invitation to dine with Al Capone, I am wondering if his charm would break me down, too. It is a risky business, for these hard people are nigh on to irresistible when they wish to be winsome, and whenever I meet one socially in my infrequent visits to the night clubs I come away wondering if there shouldn't be some law to make the news pages quit running them down. Their manners are nice, they are never bores, they always rise when ladies approach or leave the table, and they do not use coarse language.

Far it be from me to lend aid or comfort to the Nation's most sinister character, but if Mr. Capone has now definitely decided like all the great nations to let bygones be bygones and forget the times when his soldiers tied Indian mutineers to the mouths of guns to execute them, a quicker way than the sports pages into the hearts of the people would be over the air. For $5,000 he could buy up the national broadcast at a big prize fight, and certainly no other American could command half so much attention as he.

But then I suppose his radio presence would not be as persuasive as his physical presence. It would be impossible, even for Al Capone, to see that each member of his radio audience had a full glass throughout his broadcast. That would be important. Journalists are not prigs about prohibition, and when they see him through the bottom of a wineglass at Miami, warmly and sympathetically, they are seeing him for their readers, too.

I wonder how the myth ever began that newspaper men are cynics.

PREP BOXING SITE TO BE SHIFTED

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 11.—The South Atlantic prep school boxing tournament, usually held at the University of Virginia, will be staged this year at Augusta Military Academy, Fort Defiance, Va., according to announcement by university officials.

Change in place was made necessary by the fact that the fifth Southern Conference boxing tournament, to be held at the University of Virginia Friday and Saturday, February 27 and 28, will attract some fifteen teams and that all of the two days will be required to run off the various bouts. To run off the prep school tourney would require two additional days.

Best Prep Schools of Vicinity To Enter Teams.

The prep school tournament will be held either just before or just after the Southern Conference tournament here, and invitations already have been forwarded to leading preparatory schools in Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia and Maryland.

Staunton Military Academy, Greenbrier Military School, Fishburne Military School, Blackstone Military Academy and, of course, Augusta, have already accepted invitations and will have their mitt teams on hand when the tournament opens.

Capt. O. L. Denton, formerly an instructor at A. M. A. and now coach of Augusta mitt and wrestling teams, will have entire charge of the tournament.

A raised ring will be constructed in the new gymnasium at A. M. A. and every preparation made to entertain a large crowd during the tournament. Capt. C. M. A. Rogers, of A. M. A., will aid Capt. Denton in preparing for the tournament.

Oak Ridge School, of North Carolina, famed for its clever boxing teams, will probably enter the meet. There also will be teams from Maryland schools.

In addition to the boxing tournament, Augusta Military Academy has sent out invitations to a South Atlantic prep school swimming tournament, to be held at Fort Defiance the first week in March. Capt. Herbert E. Deane, A. M. A. instructor, and coach of swimming and football, will have charge of this tournament.

Gallant Fox's Owner Has 2 Derby Hopefuls

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—William Woodward, who won the Kentucky Derby with Gallant Fox last year, again will rely on the offspring of the famous sire, Sir Gallahad III, to carry his silks to victory. He has nominated Sir Ashley and Ormesby, both of which were only mediocre 2-year-olds. The Woodward pair is in charge of Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who also is training the Wheatley Stable's Blenheim for the Blue Grass classic.

Burgoo, Choice, Wins Fair Grounds Feature

New Orleans, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Burgoo, a consistent 3-year-old, from E. R. Bradley's Stable, came through with an easy victory in the U. S. S. Wyoming purse at the Fair Grounds today.

Breaking fast under the alert W. Cannon, the Bradley color bearer showed the way to the finish line to beat J. Bulluing's Civollag by one and a half lengths. The time for the six furlongs was 1:13. Third went to Miss Blanche Watson's Our Johnny, the outsider, in the six-horse race.

Burgoo was the hot favorite, being played almost to the exclusion of the remainder of the field and paid $3.20 for $2.

Baltimore Accounts For Havana Feature

Havana, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Stepping up a notch in competition, F. Eaton's Baltimore easily defeated a field of high class claimers in the Corral Nuevo Purse at Oriental Park today.

J. H. Loucheim's Maybe set a slow pace for the greater part of the mile and one-sixteenth, and then finished a distant second, with third going to Evening Sky, from the Paradise Stock Farm.

The race was run over a track fetlock deep in mud—the worst condition the strip has been in during the meeeting. As the result, Baltimore's time was 1:57 4-5.

Episcopal High Five Beats St. John's, 27-22

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 11.—Episcopal High's Basket Ball Team, after racing abreast of St. John's Cadets from Washington for two periods, sprinted ahead of the invaders in the stretch and received a 27-32 verdict this afternoon in one of the fastest games the Episcopal High Gym has seen this season.

Mostly through the fine play of Gene Augusterfer, captain and forward, the Cadets went into the second half with a lead, if slight, of 12-11. The locals came through strongly in the second half, leading 24-16 at the third period whistle.

STOCK PRICES GAIN IN SPECULATIVE DAY

AUBURN AUTO IS DOWN 7

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Speculation for the rise occupied most of the stock market's time today, but late selling, mostly profit-taking, rather nullified the results of the earlier enthusiasm.

Coppers and utilities provided the leverage for the advance, which started after a quiet and irregular first half hour. Specialties needed little persuasion, once the rally got under way, nor did the pivotal industrials require much prodding to record new highs for the movement. Rails, however, refused to be converted. Best prices of the day in the general market represented net advances of 2 to 9 points, but when the average was struck after the close the gain of 90 stocks had dwindled to about half a point and the rail group was lower.

Although activity in the first four hours exceeded yesterday's, the reversal of trend in the last 50 minutes was accompanied by small volume and total sales of approximately 4,700,000 shares fell 100,000 below yesterday's.

Bonus Outlook Darkens.

The reaction was coincident with Undersecretary Mills' statement here in which he said that the bonus outlook was perhaps not as favorable as Wall street had been hoping. It was rather significant that United States Government securities, in the bond market, were liquidated after Mr. Mills' speech had been circulated.

The advance in stocks was under strong leadership. American Telephone crossed 196 for a gain of more than 4; U. S. Steel got above 148, up more than 2; Westinghouse gave the shorts something to worry about, and American Water Works soared 5. American Smelting, Anaconda and Kennecott were strong. However, final gains in the stocks mentioned ranged from a fraction to 2 points. Selling of the rails depressed Atchison, New York Central and Southern Railway 1 to 2 net. Allied Chemical, Union Carbide and Du Pont also closed lower, while Auburn Auto, heavy all day, dropped 7 net.

J. I. Case and Columbian Carbon, the day's special features, soared 9 points and then lost nearly half their rise. Macy, Industrial Rayon, Gillette and several less active stocks held up more successfully.

Copper Shows Strength.

A glance at the day's business news failed to disclose items of a particularly bullish nature. There was a fractional firming of copper prices and a report on January stocks of the refined metal, which showed a small decline, thereby continuing the favorable recession inaugurated in December, after a year of steady increases. Freight loadings for the week ended January 31 were 20 per cent lower than in the corresponding week of 1930, the largest drop, with one exception, since early in October, so that any improvement in productive activity is not being reflected in traffic, now the lowest in about ten years.

The steel reviews reported a 2 per cent gain in operations, but said demand remained spotty. The Iron Age prices were unchanged, although that publication found there was some evidence of weakness in quotations on finished steel and pig iron. "Steel" characterized current sentiment in the industry as heavy.

Grains encountered realizing, wheat closing unchanged to 2⅜ lower, while corn lost 1½ to 2 cents. Evaporation of the Russian revolution rumors prompted selling of the former commodity. Cotton was quieter than yesterday, showing net gains of 9 to 12 points.

The rallies in bar silver here and in London strengthened Far Eastern exchanges, but European rates were mixed. The Spanish peseta weakened.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Confronted by evidence that Russia's reported revolution had been altogether a myth, grain markets lost their effervescence today. Despite occasional rallies, prices showed a general downward trend, and wheat dropped much of the 7-cent gain scored over last week's bottom level. Increased pressure to dispose of wheat from all export countries outside of North America acted as a weight on values.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 2⅜ cents lower; corn, 1½@2 cents down; oats, ¾@⅞ cent off, and provisions varying from 32 cents decline to 10 cents advance.

Reversal of wheat market advances came as soon as trading began. The reports of a Russian revolution had been thoroughly discredited overnight, and sellers were in a majority. Considerable buying developed at times afterward, however, owing to official announcement that the domestic winter wheat belt continued in urgent need of rain from Missouri eastward. There were also reports that high winds southwest appeared likely to cause soil deterioration.

Indications of rain tomorrow in domestic drought territory, however, tended to dissipate hopes of friends of higher prices for wheat. Rallies based on stock market upturns proved also unlasting, and relative weakness of the Winnipeg wheat market acted as a drag on prices here. Spread trading in which wheat was sold at Winnipeg against simultaneous equal purchases in Chicago was apparently under way. There was also considerable readjustment of holdings here to prepare for a holiday tomorrow on all United States exchanges, whereas Winnipeg and Liverpool will be open as usual.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness, and were also bearishly influenced by talk of a probable larger movement of corn soon from the interior.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to action of hog values.

Live Distributor Wanted

We are looking for a financially responsible distributor of our products in this territory and are prepared to grant an exclusive franchise to either an individual or a firm possessing the ability and financial means to insure results.

We are one of the oldest and financially strongest manufacturers of reliable oil burning equipment and are recognized as leaders of the industry. With a new low-priced burner, which set the whole country talking about its wonderful performance and put new profits into the dealers' pockets, we offer an exceptional opportunity to the proper party.

Our merchandising program is a very comprehensive one and its merits will readily be recognized by merchandisers of the type we are seeking.

Address all communications to Box 223, care of The Washington Post.

BOND MARKET IS HIT BY SELLING ORDERS

Long-Term Treasury Issues React in Final Hour on Bonus Rumor.

FOREIGNS MOVE HIGHER

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Liquidation was resumed in United States Governments in the final hour today and long-term Treasury issues reacted from 3-32ds to ⅜th of a point.

Selling orders poured into the market at a rapid rate in the last half hour, when virtually all of the day's trading was done. The turnover was the largest of the week, amounting to approximately $2,184,000, which is comparatively large for Government securities on the stock exchange.

The wave of selling followed a speech by Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, before the Bond Club, in which he predicted news concerning the soldiers bonus within the next 48 hours that "would not be as favorable as you may have anticipated." The day's reports from Washington also indicated that while a congressional committee has rejected extreme proposals it is still considering two, which, in the opinion of Treasury officials, would necessitate additional financing.

Treasury Bonds Sold.

Since the decline which followed the original bonus proposals was halted February 2, Governments have moved upward, but were dormant most of the day. In the final hour more than $1,000,000 long-term Treasury bonds were sold. The 4¼s sagged ⅜, 4s lost ⅛ and Treasury 3¾s dipped ¼. Treasury 3⅜s sagged 7-32, Liberty, fourth, 4¼s, which was firm in the early trading reacted ⅛ to close 3-32 net lower in the largest turnover of the group—$862,000.

Until the outbreak in Governments the market had simmered as stocks boiled. Also contributing to the dullness was the approach of a holiday. Home corporate issues were sluggish and closing prices were within a fraction of the previous day. Convertibles made their customary swing with stocks and closed strong and some of the second grade issues moved up a point or so.

Foreign bonds were irregularly higher. However, the reaction in Australian bonds which have been adversely affected by reports of additional loans, and the setback suffered by German governments, apparently on profit taking, stood out. Australian government bonds declined from 1 to 1¾ points. The previous day's advance by German 5½s was canceled on a 1 point decline, and the 7s sold off ½.

Municipal Section Busy.

It was a very busy day in the municipal bond market with several large issues sold to syndicates. Public offering probably will follow soon the awarding of City of Chicago 4 per cent bonds amounting to $12,525,000 and $14,800,000 Chicago school district 4s; also $15,000,000 Louisiana highway bonds in a series of several maturities bearing interest ranging from 4 to 4.50 per cent.

New York City made private arrangements with several banking houses for short term loans totaling $25,000,000 in the form of revenue bills, corporate stock notes and special revenue bonds.

PHONES IN VIRGINIA TO GET $14,000,000

Chesapeake & Potomac Will Spend Sum for Added Plants, Facilities.

AMOUNT COVERS 3 YEARS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

An expansion budget providing expenditure of approximately $14,000,000 in Virginia during the next three years for plant additions, betterments and replacements was announced yesterday following the annual meeting of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Virginia at Richmond. This year, $3,927,000 of this amount will be spent.

The company's plans provide for 28,800 additional telephones in the next three years and with this increase the State will be served by 177,500 telephones. During the present year, it is estimated 8,900 telephones will be added to the 149,120 in service January 1, making approximately 158,000 telephones in use at the end of 1931.

The company's construction program last year involved gross expenditures of $5,600,544, the major projects being land and buildings, $457,865; central office equipment, $2,129,881; station equipment on the subscribers' premises, $1,316,275; exchange and toll lines, $1,504,505. The construction projects covered all sections of the State. At the close of 1930, the total plant investment in Virginia amounted to $29,359,508, an increase for the year of 10 per cent.

Revenue Up in 1930.

Telephone operating revenues during 1930 were $8,173,272, an increase of 6.8 per cent over the previous year. Telephone expenses including depreciation, uncollectible, taxes, rent and miscellaneous deductions totaled $6,410,950, a gain of 7.4 per cent. Net telephone revenues were $1,762,322. Other net income amounted to $130,264, making total net earnings of $1,892,586 available for interest and dividends. One of the large items of expense was operating taxes, which for the year amounted to $724,125. For 1930 operating taxes required approximately 9 per cent of the gross revenues.

Directors of the company reelected included John S. Eggleston and William T. Reed, Richmond; Junius P. Fishburn, Roanoke; Homer L. Ferguson, Newport News; Goldsborough Serpell, Norfolk; Lloyd B. Wilson, Walter B. Clarkson, Philip O. Coffin, and Marshal D. Sedan, Washington; Walter S. Gifford and Eugene S. Wilson, New York.

The second bank management conference of central Atlantic States, to be held here February 26 and 27, under the auspices of the bank management commission, American Bankers Association, and the bankers associations of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia, will cover in its four sessions the topics of "The Sound Bank," "The Protected Bank," "The Profitable Bank," and "The Practical Bank."

Bankers to Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the safe deposit section, District of Columbia Bankers Association, will be held at 8 p. m., February 19, at the Hamilton Hotel.

The Pennsylvania State Safe Deposit Association will be represented at the meeting by L. A. Wirt, a well known figure in safe deposit circles and the Maryland State safe deposit section, by Charles O. Kieffner, its president; W. P. Duvall and George M. Belt, officers of the association. Considerable interest is being shown in this meeting as the messages of the guests from out of town sections will doubtless be interesting and helpful.

Clarence F. Norment has been elected chairman of the executive committee, American Security & Trust Co., succeeding the late B. F. Saul.

U. S. Banks Will Finance Cuban Sugar Mill Bonds

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Arrangements have been completed whereby a group of American banks will finance some $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 of sugar bonds in the hands of some Cuban mills, at 80 per cent of the face value of the bonds.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the Cuban-American sugar stabilization committee, said that the bonds, part of the $42,000,000 provided in the stabilization plan, were held by weak mills which were unable to start grinding operations until the financing could be arranged. The identity of the banking group was not disclosed.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 11 (A.P.).—A further advance at the opening in cotton here today was promoted by relatively firm Liverpool cables, but met increased offerings which included some Southern selling as well as preholiday realizing. May contracts sold off from 11.19 to 11.08, but offerings were well taken and there were rallies later. May closed at 11.17 or within 2 points of the best price for the day and movement, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 9 to 12 points.

The opening was steady, 9 to 14 points higher, with March selling up to 10.94, and October to 11.72 on a continuation of the recent buying movement which appeared to be promoted by firmness in Liverpool, an advance in bar silver, and reports of an increased business in print cloths in the local goods market yesterday. The initial demand was supplied by some Southern selling, which was coupled with preholiday realizing and probably some selling for a reaction.

This eased prices off during the middle of the day, with March declining to 10.81 and October to 11.61, and with active months generally selling back within a point or two of Tuesday's closing quotations. The offerings were readily enough taken by further trade buying and covering to give the market a generally steady undertone, however, and most of the loss was recovered in the late trading. Spot houses were credited with selling near months and there was a slight widening of the differences, with March closing 100 points under December, compared with 97 points at the close of the previous day.

The New York cotton exchange service estimated domestic consumption for January at 456,000 bales, or at the rate of 19,000 bales per working day compared with 17,700 in December and 23,500 in January last year. Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay buying supplied by realizing at the advance in that market and reported fair cloth sales for the British home trade and shipment to South America.

Exports today, 26,390, making 4,712,336 so far this season. Port receipts, 16,309; U. S. port stocks, 4,023,399.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

PARKWAY PROJECT TOPIC IN FAIRFAX

DAIRY FIGURES RELEASED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The monthly meeting of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce was held in the Town Hall at Vienna. Again the discussion centered around the Capper-Cramton Act, which provides for the George Washington Memorial Parkway, extending from Great Falls to Mount Vernon.

Several persons addressed the chamber stating that northern Virginia's failure to appoint a park and planning commission to deal with the Federal Government in qusetions of mutual interest was largely responsible for the present chaotic condition in the attempted development of this section. Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax, stated that it now appears the Ball measure is unworkable, as it has several sections which do not appear to be equitable to the divisions which would be under its jurisdiction. Speakers were unanimous in voicing the need for an official representative to deal with the Federal Park and Planning Commission. This representative would be appointed by various boards of supervisors of the counties of northern Virginia.

Martin T. Webb, of Anandale, claimed that the attitude of Fairfax County is costing her millions of dollars, and the problem should be considered from an angle that wuold be for the best interests of the State and county. He declared that the people should be cautious in relinquishing the county riparian and water power development rights by transferring control of all water frontage to the Federal Government.

Leon L. Freeman, Fairfax County's delegate to the Legislature, prophesied that the State will never appropriate $3,500,000 for northern Virginia's share of the costs of the parkway, but he believed that the Federal Government will itself contribute this sum in order to obtain the parkway if the counties affected show any willingness to cooperate.

The chamber already has gone on record in favor of the appointment of a Fairfax County commission to confer with the Federal Government, but inasmuch as Representative-elect Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, has called a meeting in the George Mason Hotel at Alexandria, soon, of the boards of supervisors of Fairfax and Arlington Counties and the City Council of Alexandria to discuss the best manner of handling this proposition, the chamber voted to delay any further action until after this conference.

Another question discussed was a continuation of the Arlington-Fairfax Railway facilities from the northern section of the county into downtown Washington.

Thomas R. Keith, of Fairfax, second vice president of the railway company, outlined the status of the railroad's negotiations with F. L. May, owner of the Alexandria line, and with the Federal and District authorities. He pledged to the chamber that the road will continue to operate either through the Rosslyn Terminal or with the aid of buses from the south end of Highway Bridge. It appears that the District Park and Planning Commission is opposed to giving the Virginia railway a terminal near Pennsylvania avenue. Several persons at the chamber's session stated that apparently the Federal authorities were of a selfish nature, inasmuch as they wanted to deny the Virginians railway facilities in Washington, but yet they wanted to come into Fairfax County and take valuable property for parkway purposes, that the tourists and Washingtonians would receive the greater portion of the benefits, and then ask the people of Virginia to contribute one-half of the costs of building the parkway.

Secretary C. C. Carr reported that word has been received from Wilbur Hall, of Leesburg, that bus service between Leesburg and Washington along the Leesburg pike, through Fairfax County, would be started between March 1 and 15.

Capt. Thurlow White, of Baileys Cross Roads, was appointed a member of the special committee to confer with F. A. Wilcox, of Vienna, in an endeavor to have the proposed new United States Veterans' Hospital, which is to be built in Virginia, located in Fairfax County. County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr outlined the requirements for receiving Federal aid from the drought relief and sea drones.

The board of directors of the chamber held a short special meeting preceding the regular session and decided to hold a get-together booster dinner March 18. The committee appointed to take charge of this event includes Mrs. G. Ashley Money, of Colvin Run, chairman; Capt. Thurlow White, in charge of programs, and E. C. Gibbs, William J. Cleveland and Mrs. E. D. Vosbury, publicity committee. Chairman of Finance Committee Martin T. Webb urged all members to cooperate with the directors in getting new members and in financing the chamber in preparation for the George Washington Bicentennial celebration in 1932.

A resolution was adopted calling on the State Motor Vehicle Commission and local county authorities for stricter enforcement of the State automobile headlight laws.

The total production of the Fairfax County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, No. 2, for January was 650,769 pounds of milk and 26,053.1 pounds of butter fat, according to a report compiled by C. F. Muddiman, official tester of the association. The average for the 907 cows tested was 717 pounds of milk and 28.72 pounds of butter fat. The honor roll for the month lists 66 cows producing over 40 pounds of butter fat.

The highest herd average was made by the sixteen grade Guernseys owned by Arthur M. Schuerman. The cows averaged 924.6 pounds of milk and 40.96 pounds of butter fat. The highest individual cow record for the month was made by "Elizabeth," owned by Jenkins & Wilson. This cow won honors many times last year, her record for twice a day milking was 2,244 pounds of milk and 87.5 pounds of fat.

The other cows on the honor roll were owned by the following: Sunset Hill Dairy, 12; Jenkins & Wilson, 7; B. F. Salsbury, 6; Wheeler & Crippen, 5; O. K. Miller, J. S. Barbour and W. M. McCarthy, 4 each; Kenilworth Farm and J. A. Wheeler, 3 each; T. B. Mason, Mrs. Sidney Uhlfelder, R. B. Farr, A. M. Schuerman, G. Wallace Carper, 2 each; Joseph L. Bristow, A. C. Ritchie, C. T. Rice, Preston Rogers, Oscar Hileman, H. L. Oliver, O. T. Wright, Kidwell Brothers, 1 each.

Division Superintendent of Schools Wilbert T. Woodson has announced that Miss Edna E. Wright, of Orange, Va., has been employed by the school board as teacher of the seventh grade in the Fairfax School, in the place of Miss Nell Eaton, as announced last week.

County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr announced yesterday that his office in Fairfax will be closed next Wednesday and Thursday, as he plans to attend the northern Virginia agricultural outlook meeting, which is to be held in Harrisonburg on those dates. He states that the Wednesday meeting will be open to the public for a discussion of thte agricultural possibilities for the State during the coming year, and he has been asked by the State authorities to bring a number of leading farmers and bankers to this meeting, and asks that those who wish to go notify him as soon as possible, so that reservations can be made for the luncheons.

Divisional Superintendent W. T. Woodson, of the Fairfax County schools, has been notified by D. W. Peters, State supervisor of high school education, and Sidney B. Hall, State superintendent of public instruction, that the high schools in Fairfax County have again been placed on the accredited list. Comments accompanying the accrediting certificates point out that several of the classes in the high schools are overcrowded and others do not have the proper number. The high school at Herndon was the only one which received its certificate without criticism from the State officials.

E. D. Vosbury was elected president of the Fairfax County Poultrymen's Association. W. N. Miller, of Lincolnia, was elected vice president, and H. B. Derr, of Fairfax, was elected secretary. Prof. W. Kilpatrick, field secretary of the State Poultrymen's Federation, at Richmond, asked the Fairfax poultrymen if they were ready to join with the State organization in the grading and cooperative marketing of products. The Fairfax County Poultrymen were of the opinion that in view of the ready market in Washington for their produce that at the present time their greatest need was an educational campaign in the breeding and grading of fowls and eggs, and other phases of poultry keeping instead of marketing. Representatives of the State Agricultural Association planned to visit the county and assist the local poultrymen's organization in this educational campaign.

The regular Boy Scout anniversary week-day program will be celebrated this evening by the Annandale Troop in the auditorium of the Annandale Schoolhouse. The public has been invited to attend this celebration.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Crossman Methodist Church at Falls Church will hold its meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Shorey.

The Columbia Street Citizens Association at Falls Church has reelected Jacob Von Gunten as president; E. L. Pinkard as vice president, and Miss Florence Phillips secretary and treasurer.

The first degree will be conferred on a class of candidates for the I. O. O. F. Lodge at Falls Church this evening by members of the Sarepta of Alexandria. The Falls Church Lodge has recommended that Clark Crossman be appointed as district bandmaster of the Twenty-eighth district for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1931.

MAN CRITICALLY HURT AS AUTO HITS GUARD RAIL

Apple Fund Turns Man to Thieving

New Yorker Spends Firm's Cash, Steals Taxi and Car; Gets 2 Years.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 11.—Harold V. Makely, who came here last fall from New York State ostensibly to buy apples for a Northern firm, began a two-year sentence today after pleading guilty to theft of a taxicab and an automobile. He said he had been sent to Virginia with a large amount of money to buy apples, but had spent the money before he arrived.

He came in a taxicab owned and driven by Howard W. Stoddard, Hagerstown, Md., giving the taximan a check to get cashed. While Stoddard was in a bank, Makely admitted, he drove off with the taxicab, which was found ditched near Gore, 12 miles from here.

Makely had expected relatives to come from New York to get him out of trouble, but they did not arrive.

2 Washingtonians Put On W. & L. Honor List

Lexington, Va., Feb. 10.—E. H. Hill and C. A. LaVarre, of Washington, received recognition for their work of the first semester at Washington and Lee University by being placed on the dean's list.

This honor comes to students who make a "B" average or better and have no grade below "C." Men on the dean's list have the privilege of unlimited cuts.

VIRGINIAN IS INJURED AS CAR HITS BRIDGE

AUTO IS TOTAL WRECK

Daniel W. Leary, 42, of Virginia avenue, Aurora Heights, Va., was critically injured yesterday morning when the car he was driving left the highway and impaled itself on the concrete guard rail of the bridge over Holmes Run at the corporation limits of the town of Falls Church, cn the Lee Highway. Strangely the accident happened in front of Mr. Leary's place of business, Tripps Quarry, which is being run by the Lee Boulevard Development Corporation of which he is the manager.

Persons who were the first to arrive at the scene were unable to explain how Leary drove into the railing. They stated that the car was traveling about 45 miles an hour when it struck crushing him in the seat. The Guard rail of the bridge pierced the radiator of the car, finally stoping just in front of the dash. The motor was completely demolished and shoved to one side.

Mr. Leary was taken from the wreck unconsious by passing motorists and removed to the Georgetown Hospital by Attorney Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County.

Sergeons at the hospital amputated the left leg at the knee. His right leg was broken and his chest crushed. Doctors at the hospital stated that he was holding his own last night. The accident was investigated by Fairfax County Policeman A. W. Mills and Falls Church Town Sergt. Walter Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell states that when Mr. Leary recovered conciousness in the afternoon he was questioned about the accident and all he could remember was looking toward the quarry.

Mr. Leary is a prominent business man of Arlington and Fairfax Counties and has been connected with affairs of Falls Church for many years. He had been on business connected with the quarry in Fairfax and was returning to Falls Church when the accident happened.

Hungry School Pupils Are Found in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Feb. 11.—Rumors that numbers of children in Augusta County High Schools report for class work daily without breakfast have been investigated by school authorities, and Superintendent Frank M. Somerville asserts the condition is not as alarming as first reported.

There are some instances of children coming to school breakfastless because there is little or no food at home; but in such cases community and school leagues, or other organizations, having learned of the condition, are supplying food. These children did not bring any lunch, either. So this, too, is being supplied.

20 Are Indicted By Grand Jury

Dry Law Cases Predominate in Bills Returned at Loudoun.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Feb. 11.—Twenty indictments, prohibition cases predominating, were returned by the grand jury at the opening of the February term of the Circuit Court in Loudoun, with Judge J. R. H. Friends Aid Alien Who Fled His Ship

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Feb. 11.—Friends here have provided $500 bail for Frederic Johann Feltrup, 20, a native of Germany, who was arrested ten days ago on a charge of violating the immigration law by entering this country without passport. He now is at liberty here and effort is to be made by new-found friends to have the charge dismissed.

Feltrup readily admitted he was here without passport, but insists he did not know he was violating a law when he deserted a ship crew at Charleston, S. C., in trying to earn more money ashore for his family in Germany. His father is a shell-shocked World War veteran and a brother was killed at Verdun.

Effort will be made to induce the Government to permit Feltrup to become naturalized, but if this is denied then to permit him to go to a country other than Germany, for at home he would face a two-year term for violating the Federal immigration laws.

ARLINGTON WILL GET LADDER TRUCK MAY 1

Fire Service Apparatus, to Cost $9,100, Will Be Kept at Clarendon.

CURFEW FOR THREE BOYS

BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 309. Clarendon, Va.

Approval of the request of Chief Herbert Smith of the Clarendon Fire Department by the county board of supervisors has resulted in equipping the department with a ladder service truck. This will be delivered about May 1.

The equipment, Directing Engineer C. L. Kinnier says, cost $9,100. It will have short ladders and 50-foot ladders, which will make it possible for the firemen hereafter to reach the second story.

The equipment will be placed in the Clarendon firehouse, but is for use in the entire county.

The board is considering also the purchase of a combination squad and rescue squad truck. The request for this purchase comes from the Jefferson District Fire Department, and if purchased it will be housed by that department.

"Curfew" rang at the courthouse yesterday for three boys, ranging from 9 to 12, when they were haled before Judge Harry R. Thomas, of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, on a charge of taking money from the poor box at St. Charles Catholic Church, at Clarendon.

Judge Thomas warned the boys that the course they were pursuing led to the penitentiary.

He sentenced each to the State Board of Public Welfare, the sentence to be suspended during good behavior. He warned the boys' parents they had to have the boys in the house by 9 o'clock; that they must attend school daily and go to church on Sunday. Violation of any of these provisos would result in the boys' being sent to Richmond, where they would be compelled to behave. Judge Thomas told the police in court that if any one of the three or all were found on the streets alone after 9 o'clock to bring them into court.

Keith A. Brumback was reelected president of the Brumback Realty Co. at a meeting of the board of directors in the company's offices at Clarendon last night. Other officers are: E. P. Sharp, vice president, and Maj. F. H. Goff, secretary-treasurer. William S. Hoge 3d and N. B. Ames were elected to membership on the board.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will meet today at 12 o'clock at the Ashton Heights Woman's clubhouse on Clarendon avenue, Ashton Heights.

Fellowship Council, No. 49, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will hold its monthly meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

The Men's Club of St. George's Episcopal Church at Clarendon will meet tonight in the parish hall. H. H. McKinney, of the Department of Agriculture, will speak.

At the Clarendon firemen's ball, the women's auxiliary made plans for a benefit dinner to be given in Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon this month. The membership committee reported 40 new members. Two hundred are set as the goal.

There will be a meeting of the Clarendon Fire Department tomorrow night at the firehouse.

For operating an automobile not having the proper tag, Charles Burley was fined $14.25 in police court by Judge Thomas.

William C. Curtis, accused of desertion and nonsupport, was ordered by Judge Thomas to pay $15 on the 1st and 15th of every month to the superintendent of public welfare. The judge said he did not consider a case of desertion had been proved, but the minor children had to be supported.

Curtis was ordered to appear again in court March 11. He was represented by Attorney Thomas W. Phillips. Attorney Homer Randolph Thomas appeared for Mrs. Curtis.

Laurel Woman on Trial In Embezzlement Count

Dora L. Davis, of Laurel, Md., went on trial yesterday before a District Supreme Court jury and Justice Peyton Gordon on charges of embezzlement and falsification of records. The woman was a former teller of the Second National Bank.

The woman is represented by Attorneys R. H. Yeatman and George D. Horning, jr., who reserved a statement of the defense until after the Government had concluded its testimony. Assistant United States Attorney Irving Goldstein is prosecuting.

Charles Town, W. Va., Feb. 11 (Special).—Dr. Howard Osburn, 77, a widely known doctor of Rippon, died suddenly late yesterday. Surviving are four children and his widow, Mrs. Lilly Singleton Thomas Osburn. Funeral services will take place Sunday afternoon.

Miss Nannie Duvall Dies.

Danville Plans Industrial Aid.

Danville, Va., Feb. 11 (Special).—The city council has under consideration an ordinance under the terms of which any new industry coming to Danville and not being in competition with any existing enterprise would be exempt from taxes for five years.

W. Henry Appel Dead.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

MR. STALIN CALLS FOR A LITTLE ENERGY.

TELL me not in mournful numbers,
Life is but an empty span!
Minimize your need of slumbers,
Toil for Stalin's Five-Year Plan!

Life is real! Life is earnest!
Life is Russia! Life is me!
Life is Moscow at its sternest!
Life is labor by decree!

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow
Is our destined end or way,
But to slave that each tomorrow
May be just another day.

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime
If the Soviet leaders find us
Always working overtime.

Let us then be up and doing
With a very fervent yen
For a hundred years of hewing
To be done by us in ten!

JOSEPH STALIN, head man of the Russian Soviet, is out with a warning to Russia's millions of dazed peasants that if they want to get anywhere they have got to accomplish in ten years what it has taken 100 years for other countries to accomplish.

* * * * *

"Always remember," he practically says, "that no matter how hard you work for the next ten years I am strong enough to stand it without hardships!"

* * * *

Hard as the Russians have been driven under the Five-Year Plan, Stalin now cries, "Faster! I've had enough of this loafing!"

* * * *

Stalin calls for a 45 per cent increase in production by the workers between now and the end of the year.

* * * *

If the people will only regard hard labor as a pleasure the Five-Year Plan can be accomplished in four, he tells them, but this will mean that they will have to do about fifteen or twenty years' work per year.

This makes the outlook so tough that a Russian peasant now speaks of Siberia as a resort people go to for a rest.

* * * *

NEVERTHELESS, the leader's call for hard work and more of it was greeted with cheers from the workers. Why shouldn't they cheer him? That's the only occasion when they can stop work for a few minutes.

* * * *

As a matter of fact, at the present moment Americans would cheer any American leader who could call for work and tell them where to get it.

* * * *

What the future holds for Russia nobody knows. About the best thing in its favor just now is that its people have not been hit by the golf craze, normal or Tom Thumb size.

* * * *

Take golf out of the lives of a people and you've got to admit they have a big chance to accomplish something important.

* * * *

AND WITHOUT PILLOWS.

Stock exchange seats are now selling at $235,000. This strikes us as a lot of money to pay for a place to sleep.

CAPT. CAMPBELL has driven an auto 245 miles an hour at Daytona Beach. This is a new world's record, exclusive of marks set by college students motoring home from a dance.

BUT NOT AS A STEADY THING, OBVIOUSLY.

(From a bank inquiry in New York.)

Mr. Steur—But even a lawyer should know what he is talking about, shouldn't he.

Mr. Kresel—At times, yes.

A young man was set free by a jury in New York the other day despite the testimony of half a dozen witnesses that they had seen him kill a fellow roomer. The accused, as well as the witnesses, admitted drinking, so possibly the jury held the killing due to the fact the prisoner didn't know he was loaded.

PIEDMONT MILLERS TO MEET IN VIRGINIA

Is Only Organization of Its Kind in South to Discuss Crop Situation.

GRAIN MEN ON PROGRAM

Harrisonburg, Va., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—The Piedmont Millers Association will hold its annual Valley meeting here Friday. In the membership are millers of flour and feed in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Kentucky. It is the only association of flour millers in the South.

Representatives of the Farmers National Grain Corporation and the Millers National Federation are expected to give their views on conditions pertaining to the last half of the current crop year.

Officers of the association are: C. B. Fretwell, Spartanburg, S. C., president; M. F. Ring, first vice president; J. C. Guire, Lenoir, N. C., second vice president. Edwin C. Fockler, Richmond; A. J. Representatives of allied industries, calling themselves the Piedmont Allied Association, will give a luncheon for the millers.

Tractor Caisson Is Bridal "Auto"

Special to The Washington Post.

Fort Eustis, Va., Feb. 11.—The first mechanized welcome to a bride and bridegroom upon arrival at a United States Army post took place this afternoon, when Capt. William J. Egan and his bride, formerly Miss Bessie Bertschey, of Phoebus, Va., were met at the entrance of Fort Eustis by mechanical vehicles from the mechanized force, which is the Army's newest fighting unit.

Newlyweds have always been "given a ride" by the various services on vehicles peculiar to the particular arm. But not until today was a bride and bridegroom met with a mechanized unit.

A fleet of solo motorcycles, ridden by officers, and a squadron of armored cars "scouted" for the couple, who were known to be coming from Washington. A caisson drawn by a caterpillar "twenty" and decorated with evergreens, placards and kitchen utensils, was used as a vehicle for transportation of the couple, while armored cars, tank carriers and half a hundred private automobiles joined in the parade through the post.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bertschey, of Phoebus, Va., and the sister of Capt. Stanton Bertschey, of the Field Artillery, now stationed in Los Angeles.

Unveiling of Bust Is Set for April 11

Date Is Chosen Because of Nearness to Birthday of Jefferson.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Gov. John Garland Pollard said today that April 11 has been tentatively set for the unveiling of the Jefferson bust in its niche under the dome of the capitol.

The bust is now being fashioned by the Piccilleri brothers. New York artists, who have submitted pictures of their work for the approval of the Virginia art commission.

Gov. Pollard set April 11 for the unveiling because of its nearness to April 13, Jefferson's birthday. April 11 comes on a Saturday, and there is expected to be a birthday program at Monticello on the following Monday. Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, founded by Jefferson, will be the speaker of the unveiling services. Following closely, busts of all Virginia-born Presidents of the United States will be unveiled.

WOMAN IS CHARGED AS FATHER'S SLAYER

Self-Defense Is Claimed as Cause of Fatal Shooting Near Wilson, Md.

YOUNG WIFE IS JAILED

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 11.—Charged with slaying her father, Aaron Moyer, 59 years old, Mrs. Letti Anthony, 23, wife of Peter Anthony, a miner, of Bayard, W. Va., is in jail at Oakland, Md. The tragedy, to which there was no witness, occurred late yesterday afternoon in the Moyer home in the southern section of Garrett County, near Wilson, on the Potomac River. Authorities say Mrs. Anthony gave herself up and said the act was one of self-defense.

Mrs. Anthony told the authorities her father had been drinking heavily and she had called on him two days in succession. He told her, she says, that he was going out to "beat up" a neighbor, a business man of Wilson. She advised him to stay home saying he would get into trouble.

He was about to go out of the front door, she stated, but turned when she warned him, and said, "I might as well kill you first." As he advanced, she said, he reached for his pocketknife, and she picked up a shotgun. He told her to go ahead and shoot, she claims, declaring there was no shell in the gun. She did pull the trigger when he was within ten feet of her and the charge tore off the top of his head, she stated.

Search of the man's clothing disclosed the knife, the blade of which opens when a spring is pressed, but the blade was closed, authorities said.

Moyer and his wife have been separated and Mrs. Moyer, who had been living at her former home at Punxutawney, Pa., left for Oakland to be with her daughter. The Moyers have a young son, who has been living with his father and who had been looked after by his sister, Mrs. Anthony.

Red Cross Plans Relief in Danville

Answer From Union Awaited Regarding Ability to Feed Idle.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 11.—The American Red Cross is awaiting word tonight from the president of the local textile union as to whether it wishes the organization to take over the full relief work in the mill village, where there is suffering following the four-month strike.

Buford Nash, union president, is expected to reply tomorrow to a question by Langhorne Jones, chairman of the Pittsylvania Red Cross unit, asking if the union was prepared to turn over the relief question to the organization. Hitherto, Jones says, the Red Cross has been told that the union commissaries would continue to feed the idle. As though anticipating an affirmative answer, a vacant store at Schoolfield was being prepared this evening as a Red Cross depot for supplies.

H. R. Fitzgerald, mill president, today informed Jones that all families represented by workers in the mills may secure relief by applying to their overseers, and that the company's survey showed about 300 families who can not expect to receive employment and may be in need. Jones said there is no reason why the Red Cross should not provide relief in Schoolfield. While this might have raised a question while the strike continued, he said, there is no longer a question, since the problem now is one of unemployment.

Ornithology Society Will Meet Tomorrow

Richmond, Va., Feb. 11 (A.P.).—Herbert K. Job, director of educational work with the Virginia commission of game and inland fisheries, will be the principal speaker before the first annual meeting of the Virginia Society of Ornithology, to be held here Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Job's lecture will be illustrated. He is considered as an authority on the photography of bird life. Among the other entertainment features planned for the meeting will be a field trip to Curles Neck Farm, where wild Canada geese winter.

COUNTY RED CROSS UNIT PASSES QUOTA

Drive for Drought Relief In Prince Georges Is Finished in Week.

REPORTS NOT COMPLETE

One of the quickest and most effective campaigns in the history of the Red Cross in Prince Georges County carried the county over the top yesterday in one week, in the drive for drought relief.

The county's quota of $3,000 has already been raised, according to J. Enos Ray, chairman of the drive. Several towns and organizations which have not reported are known to have other funds, and their additions will probably raise the total to about $5,000.

The county school system has gathered about $900, and has not yet finished its collection. The total from this agency will be between $1,000 and $1,500, it is expected.

Among communities which have not yet officially reported, Mount Rainier is expected to turn in $500; Laurel, $300; Seat Pleasant, $320; Decatur Heights, $100; Cheverly, $60. Oxon Hill has also raised $80 in addition to a previous contribution.

Paul Huffman, of Brentwood, charged by his wife with having tried to put their small child in a stove, was fined $25 yesterday in Hyattsville police court for being drunk and disorderly. He was not charged with the other offense. This was Huffman's second appearance before Judge J. Chew Sheriff within two weeks.

One of the several persons sentenced for possession of liquor, Tom Lee, a Chinaman who gave a Baltimore address, paid $50 for possession of four gallons of rice whisky.

John H. Rosner, of Mount Rainier, was tried on two counts, having been arrested while on bond for a former offense. He was fined $150 for the first offense, and $100 for the second. Possession charges against his wife, Mary, who was arrested with him the second time, were dismissed.

Patrick J. Titrick was fined $150 for possession of 54 gallons of contraband, and $5 for speeding. He was arrested after a chase of several miles on the Defense highway.

Orie M. Jacobs, of F street northeast, near Seventh street, was fined $101 for driving while drunk and reckless driving. He was arrested by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage.

Kurbie Rickard, of Beltsville, was fined $100 for driving while drunk, $25 for reckless driving, and $5 for failing to make a report of an accident. He is alleged to have struck two trucks on the Baltimore boulevard near Hyattsville early in the week.

A fine of $150 for the possession of nine pints of liquor was placed against Reinhold Ruhleman, of Bladensburg, after a raid made by County Policemen Frank Prince and L. E. Dutrow. Charles Ditaman and his son, Charles Ditaman, jr., were each fined $5 for assault on Constable Andrew Gasch. They attacked Gasch when he attempted to serve some civil papers on them, according to the complaint. Judge Sheriff said he would have imposed higher fines except for the hard times now current.

The charge of assault against Solomon Rosenberg was dismissed, but he was fined $5 for reckless driving, in connection with an accident. The man, who gave his address as Fifth street northwest near P street, was arrested after his car is alleged to have struck Merle Johnson.

Sam Ayres, colored, was fined $50 for keeping a disorderly house. He appealed the sentence and bond was set at $200. Failing to make bond, he was committed to jail. Bernard Coine, of Colmar Manor, paid the customary $101 for driving while drunk and reckless driving.

To handle relief work in the Laurel section of Prince Georges County, a Welfare Association has been formed in that town, along the lines of the county association.

Gen. E. E. Hatch is president of the group, with Mrs. Louise Sussman as secretary and Mrs. Elizabeth H. S. Boss as treasurer. These three, with L. B. Howland, Dr. Robert McCeney, Mrs. Mona G. Cockey and Harry W. Chaney, will meet to draw up a constitution.

The association will strive to prevent overlapping in relief work and will investigate all applicants for aid. It is planned to put a basket in stores in the town in which patrons will be asked to place extra cans and packages of food for distribution to the needy.

Riverdale's new traffic light on the Baltimore boulevard at the corner of Madison avenue will be officially turned on today at 5:30. Max Vollberg, mayor of the town, will throw the switch, assisted by Councilmen H. H. Peck, A. R. Bowers, A. J. Kracke, jr., D. W. Thompson, and W. A. Carson.

Others who have been invited are Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Inspector Robert J. Headley, and representatives of the State Roads Commission, the Exchange Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

Albemarle County Budget $665,490

Education Gets $222,120 of Estimates That Run $4,000 Less 1930-31.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 11.—During the fiscal year beginning July 1 Albemarle County proposes to expend $665,490, according to budget estimates approved by the county board of supervisors.

Education—salaries of teachers and supreintendents and general administrative expenses—will account for $222,120. General county expenses will require $163,570; interest and sinking funds, $159,500, and bridges and buildings, $120,300.

The budget calls for $4,000 less than the appropriation for this year and is $2,000 less than was expended during the previous year.
